

U. S. REFUSE GREAT BRITAIN'S DEBT PAYMENT IF ANTI-REFUGEE CONDITIONS ARE ATTACHED TO BELLERY

BRITAIN PROPOSES PAYMENT AS FINAL UNDER OLD STATUS

Sweeping Reservations
Also Expected To Be Attached to Money From France; U. S. Officials Study British Note.

FRENCH VETERANS PROTEST PAYMENT

Former Service Men Parade in Paris Streets Shouting, "Not One Sou!
Down With Debits."

Text of British Note Appears in Page 3.

LONDON, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Great Britain notified the United States government today that it will pay in gold the $55,000,000 due next Thursday but that the money was not to be regarded as the resumption of payments on the scale used before President Hoover's moratorium.

Instead, the new note, dispatched to Washington this evening, says the resumption is to be treated as "a capital payment of which account should be taken in any final settlement."

The decision to pay in gold was taken, it was stated, since "under the circumstances this would be the least prejudicial of methods now open."

In its first paragraph the document expresses the pleasure of the British government that "the United States government welcomes the suggestion for close examination of the war debts problem."

Further, the note urges "the importance of an early exchange of views with the object of concluding the proposed discussion before June 15 next in order to obviate the risk of a general breakdown of existing intergovernmental agreements."

Today's note was never passed upon formally by the cabinet in full session, but its contents were decided upon a week or so ago when account was taken of the position which would arise if America insisted upon full payments.

All Approve.
The memorandum itself has been considered by all the ministers, however, and all have approved it.

In making the note public tonight, officials in high circles stressed the point that payment was not to come out of revenue, at least at present, and therefore the question of taxation increases to raise the amount of the payment does not yet arise.

The actual means of transferring gold to Washington account will be going into during the strategy also, with the probability that it will be earmarked for the account of some American bank, which will, in turn, pay actual gold into Washington coffers.

(The French cabinet today unanimously resolved to pay the $200,000,000 installment due from France next Thursday. This measure, however, is to be ratified by the French chamber of deputies.)

The note makes no attempt to answer figures for argument set forth by Secretary of State Stimson's note of last Thursday.

Rather, it merely states that these points will be answered when the proposals get together and Great Britain's demand for scaling down war debts is presented.

Expect Acceptance.
High governmental circles, asked if they had considered that they might be willing to accept payment if accompanied by the stipulations of the character outlined in today's note, answered that they did not believe that the situation would arise.

Considerable satisfaction was expressed in the London Sunday newspapers that the general acceptance of the installment of payment to America, sterling made a 10 per cent gain last week, that there was no prospect of immediate supplementary taxation to meet the payment, and that markets generally have been somewhat better in the last few days since the decision to pay was reached.

Some newspapers, however, recognize there is danger that America will interpret these signs as an indication that the British government was "bluffing" when it stressed the hardship of payment.

Today's note sets forth that a close examination of the debt problem by the two governments, as outlined in the British note of December 1, will be met with satisfaction.

It was pointed out that "the present communication will deal only with

Firemen Called to Quell Test of 'Extinguisher'

A fire extinguisher salesman threw his best samples on a demonstration fire in a shed behind the Decatur city hall and officials of that little city had to call out the fire department to stop the blaze.

City Manager Roy Abernathy told the story. He agreed to the salesman's request to set fire to the shed to show how good his stuff was. The first sample failed to stop the fire.

Desperate, the salesman hurried to his automobile for another bottle of sure-fire extinguisher, and dangled it behind the blaze. The fire waxed hotter.

The Decatur firemen finished the job, but the salesman wasn't there when they arrived. He left when they arrived.

Trubble Identified as Ansley Park Drugstore Robber; Two Victims Recognize Suspects at Station.

Fred Trubble, ex-soldier bandit slain by Patrolman E. Hale Sunday night during an attempted holdup, was identified Sunday by O. B. Cawthon, proprietor of the Ansley Park pharmacy, 1437 Piedmont avenue, as one of two men who held him up last Thursday night and robbed him of $40 while two confederates waited outside, according to police reports Sunday.

Trubble was shot by Patrolman Hale when the bandit attempted to hold up an L. W. Rogers grocery store at 809 Pryor street. Hale was on duty as a volunteer officer and killed the ex-soldier after the latter, seeing him hiding behind a barrel, opened fire.

On the same night the Ansley Park pharmacy was held up, police said, a group of men answering the general description of Trubble and confederates held up two pedestrians, one on Hemphill avenue and another on Peachtree street, near the High Museum of Art, and robbed each of a small amount of cash.

Bandits Pursued.
After cutting a swath through the Ansley Park section, the bandits were pursued by a police car but the chase was abandoned when the pursuing car struck a slippery street.

When Trubble and his confederate held up the Ansley Park pharmacy, they took a pocket fold belonging to Cawthon. The proprietor, explaining that it contained only papers of value to him and to no one else, asked that it be returned. Trubble agreed to the request but his companion insisted on taking the pocket fold.

Identification of Trubble, whose body was removed to the undertaking parlors of J. Austin Dillon Company, as the Ansley Park pharmacy bandit followed positive identification by two other holdup victims of the Jones, negro, and of Charlie Harris, another negro, as the man who held up a grocery store at Scotfield and Hilliard streets several days ago.

Jones and his brother, Joe Jones, arrested last Thursday night after the robbery of a house on Thurmond street previously had been positively identified by Norwood Hedge, coal dealer, at 289 Decatur street, as two of the bandits.

Others to See De Larm.
Members of the Carmas' "crew" of men and women adventure seekers also will be seen today at the morgue, where the theory he might have been Guy near the yacht at or about the time of the shooting, police said.

The officers said later they were trying to "eliminate De Larm from the murder scene if possible."

Authorities also began an inquiry into Guy's claim that he is in this country illegally, a reason he gave for going into hiding after Wanderwell was killed.

In this connection, police tonight wired a description of Guy to a man of the same name in Nampa, Idaho, who had telegraphed a request for a check was started also on records, including births, of San Mateo and San Francisco, where he resided, they believe Guy and De Larm formerly lived and worked together.

Theory of Police.
The police theory is that Guy, nursing an admitted hatred for Wanderwell, killed the adventurer because the latter placed him in chains off South.

Continued in Page 4, Column 5.

Amy Johnson Lands After Longest Hop

MOSSMEDES, Southwest Africa, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Amy Johnson, Mollison, seeking a record on her return flight from Cape Town to England, landed here today at 3:45 p. m. (10:45 a. m., E. S. T.), after more than five hours before taking off at 9 p. m. (4 p. m., E. S. T.) on a projected non-stop flight to Dualla, Cameroons. She said she was well ahead of her schedule.

As she landed here Miss Johnson put behind her the longest jump in the world, a 1,350 mile hop from Cape Town to Mossamedes, 1,350 miles. She made the trip from Cape Town to here in 10 hours and 45 minutes, averaging slightly more than 110 miles an hour.

If she keeps up that speed on the leg between here and Dualla she should arrive at her second stopping place at 12 o'clock tomorrow morning (2 a. m., E. S. T.).

OTHER ROBBERIES TRACED TO BANDIT SLAIN BY OFFICER

Trubble Identified as An-
sley Park Drugstore Robber; Two Victims Recognize Suspects at Station.

Fred Trubble, ex-soldier bandit slain by Patrolman E. Hale Sunday night during an attempted holdup, was identified Sunday by O. B. Cawthon, proprietor of the Ansley Park pharmacy, 1437 Piedmont avenue, as one of two men who held him up last Thursday night and robbed him of $40 while two confederates waited outside, according to police reports Sunday.

Trubble was shot by Patrolman Hale when the bandit attempted to hold up an L. W. Rogers grocery store at 809 Pryor street. Hale was on duty as a volunteer officer and killed the ex-soldier after the latter, seeing him hiding behind a barrel, opened fire.

On the same night the Ansley Park pharmacy was held up, police said, a group of men answering the general description of Trubble and confederates held up two pedestrians, one on Hemphill avenue and another on Peachtree street, near the High Museum of Art, and robbed each of a small amount of cash.

Bandits Pursued.
After cutting a swath through the Ansley Park section, the bandits were pursued by a police car but the chase was abandoned when the pursuing car struck a slippery street.

When Trubble and his confederate held up the Ansley Park pharmacy, they took a pocket fold belonging to Cawthon. The proprietor, explaining that it contained only papers of value to him and to no one else, asked that it be returned. Trubble agreed to the request but his companion insisted on taking the pocket fold.

Identification of Trubble, whose body was removed to the undertaking parlors of J. Austin Dillon Company, as the Ansley Park pharmacy bandit followed positive identification by two other holdup victims of the Jones, negro, and of Charlie Harris, another negro, as the man who held up a grocery store at Scotfield and Hilliard streets several days ago.

Jones and his brother, Joe Jones, arrested last Thursday night after the robbery of a house on Thurmond street previously had been positively identified by Norwood Hedge, coal dealer, at 289 Decatur street, as two of the bandits.

Others to See De Larm.
Members of the Carmas' "crew" of men and women adventure seekers also will be seen today at the morgue, where the theory he might have been Guy near the yacht at or about the time of the shooting, police said.

The officers said later they were trying to "eliminate De Larm from the murder scene if possible."

Authorities also began an inquiry into Guy's claim that he is in this country illegally, a reason he gave for going into hiding after Wanderwell was killed.

In this connection, police tonight wired a description of Guy to a man of the same name in Nampa, Idaho, who had telegraphed a request for a check was started also on records, including births, of San Mateo and San Francisco, where he resided, they believe Guy and De Larm formerly lived and worked together.

Theory of Police.
The police theory is that Guy, nursing an admitted hatred for Wanderwell, killed the adventurer because the latter placed him in chains off South.

Continued in Page 4, Column 5.

Grady, Editor and Humanitarian, Is Honored at Memorial Service

A tribute to Henry W. Grady, described as Georgia's "greatest constructive citizen," at a special service at the Peachtree Christian church Sunday morning, was coupled by Willis A. Sutton, city superintendent of civic interest, with an appeal for a greater civic interest in the city.

Sutton delivered the sermon at the morning service.

Members of the administrative staff, including a number of city councilmen, and a group of Grady nurses attended the special service. Honorary guests were members of the Grady and Howell families.

Saying that between 55,000 and 65,000 Atlantans are admitted to Grady annually, Mr. Sutton asserted that the continuation of the institution was keeping with the spirit Henry Grady showed to suffering mankind.

"As a boy," Mr. Sutton said, "he had a strong desire to aid the underprivileged. He often wrote his mother

Drys Will Attempt to Check Beer Tide in House Today

Senate Judiciary Committee Will Take Up Repeal Plan as Brew Foes Give Their Views.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Dry organizations will throw their full strength tomorrow against the house move to legalize beer while the senate judiciary committee breaks into the explosive question of repealing the eighteenth amendment.

Two full days have been given by Chairman Collier for the organized prohibitionists to present their arguments against the house measure before the senate judiciary committee breaks into the explosive question of repealing the eighteenth amendment.

Widely divided on the question of banning the saloon but generally agreed on a proposal to provide protection for dry states, a group of lawyers will tackle tomorrow behind closed doors the problem of drafting a repeal resolution.

A prolonged controversy over the saloon issue is imminent. Despite the rejection by the house of Speaker Garner's outright repeal proposal, senate leaders are still in a matter for negotiation. A move towards substantial and immediate reduction and limitation.

The American said, however, that he is satisfied today's pronouncement of co-operation is a move towards substantial and immediate reduction and limitation.

The biggest step in the agreement so far, Mr. Davis pointed out, is that Germany has signified her willingness to resume her place in the conference.

The disarmament conference, thanks to Germany's return thereto, and the Franco-German understanding on equality and security, now has a fighting chance to succeed, principal signers of today's declaration agreed.

While they admitted that merely the principle of equality and security had been accepted, and that the application thereof is still a matter for negotiation, it is expected another five-power meeting will be conducted probably in London the middle of January.

The American delegates said they

Continued in Page 4, Column 4.

PASTOR, DAUGHTER BURNED TO DEATH WIDOW OF KOKER HELD FOR MURDER

ASHBURN, Ga., Dec. 11.—(AP)—A man and a woman were held in jail here and at Fitzgerald tonight on charges of murder in connection with the finding of a skeleton near Worth, Ga., September 27, believed by officers to have been that of the woman's husband.

The woman, Mrs. Walter Koker, was arrested by Sheriff Alex Story on a murder warrant but her arrest was not announced here until Sheriff G. E. Ball, of Ben Hill county, today charged the woman with the murder of her husband.

Koker disappeared several months ago and after the skeleton was found his mother and officer, they believed it was that of the missing man. A search was immediately started for White and he was arrested in Florida.

The skeleton, Sheriff Story said, was of a small man. He said Walter Koker, the man whom White and Mrs. Koker are accused of slaying, was 5 feet 4 inches tall, weighed 125 pounds and wore a No. 14 collar.

The collar found with the clothing of the skeleton was No. 14, the sheriff said. He said the man's skull had been crushed and the jaw bone broken.

Some women fishing in a stream, 40 feet off the national highway, four miles north of Ashburn, discovered the body. It had been placed there, the sheriff said, and was partly covered by brush. High water had uncovered it. The skeleton was clothed with blue denim trousers and there was a handkerchief marked FH-10, which the sheriff said had been unable to trace.

Continued in Page 4, Column 3.

City's 'Forgotten Families' Are Your Ten Opportunities

BY ROY ROBERT.
"For the forgotten man."

Only a few weeks ago that phrase rang in the ears of millions as they hurried to the polls to vote for a new and humanitarian administration which would lead the people of the United States back to prosperity.

With victory assured, there was a new note of hope for the millions of "forgotten men."

Yet with all the promise of the future, a local problem exists and will continue to exist even beyond the return of prosperity unless the more fortunate citizens lend a hand of aid.

The forgotten family is the problem, localized and dependent upon others for support. There is not a national problem and their condition would be no whit better were prosperity to return tomorrow, in most cases.

For three years of privation and cold of undernourishment and hunger have so weakened them that suffering might be removed, distress relieved and poverty overcome.

Mr. Sutton traced the early history of Grady at Athens, at the University of Georgia and Virginia, as a struggling newspaperman in New York and later as an editor in Atlanta through his famous speeches delivered in behalf of peace at Boston and New York. In connection with the great journalist's peace efforts, Mr.

Continued in Page 3, Column 2.

AMERICA PLEDGES SUPPORT TO MOVE FOR DISARMAMENT

Through Geneva Spokesman, U. S. Declares Resolve To Co-Operate To Fullest Extent.

GENEVA, Dec. 11.—(AP)—The United States, in a document the chief disarmament spokesman, Norman H. Davis, signed today, declared her resolve to co-operate in the disarmament conference. With a view to seeking substantial armament reductions.

The United States, and four other nations, the statement reads, hopes "without delay to work out a convention which shall effect a substantial reduction and a limitation of armaments with the provision for further revision with a view to further reduction."

With America in this determination to co-operate in the disarmament conference, Britain, France, Germany and Italy.

Although this is not entirely what Mr. Davis said he hoped for, the head of the American delegation said he considers that other peoples now feel there is a moral commitment to resume the task of disarmament after the Christmas holidays "in real earnest."

To Capitalize Gains.
Davis' ideal was a convention capitalizing disarmament gains already made and definite disarmament plans ready to be presented to the world before Christmas.

The American said, however, that he is satisfied today's pronouncement of co-operation is a move towards substantial and immediate reduction and limitation.

The biggest step in the agreement so far, Mr. Davis pointed out, is that Germany has signified her willingness to resume her place in the conference.

The disarmament conference, thanks to Germany's return thereto, and the Franco-German understanding on equality and security, now has a fighting chance to succeed, principal signers of today's declaration agreed.

While they admitted that merely the principle of equality and security had been accepted, and that the application thereof is still a matter for negotiation, it is expected another five-power meeting will be conducted probably in London the middle of January.

The American delegates said they

RHODES ASPIRANTS FACE BOARD TODAY

Twelve candidates for four Rhodes scholarships will appear before the southeastern regional committee here today to compete for appointments.

They were selected after examinations in six southeastern states—Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida and Tennessee. Each state selected two candidates and four scholarships will be awarded to successful candidates in today's competition.

Virginia, Florida, North Carolina and Georgia selected their two candidates Saturday. Tennessee and South Carolina selected their representatives today.

The "sixth district" or regional committee, headed by Major Clark Howell Jr., of Atlanta, as the non-competitive member, and the following former Rhodes scholars: E. W. Moise, Atlanta, secretary; Carroll A. Wilson, New York, Guggenheim attorney; United States Judge J. Lyles Glenn, of Chester, S. C., and Dean W. C. Davidson, of Duke University.

Sessions of the committee for selecting the four scholars from the 12 candidates will begin at the Atlanta Biltmore this morning and are expected to continue through Tuesday.

The 12 candidates are: North Carolina—Duncan D. McBryde, of Davidson College, and Mer-

Continued in Page 5, Column 4.

Depression Descends On Guests in City Jail

Old Man Depression hit police headquarters between midnight Saturday and the same hour Sunday. Station Lieutenant "Buck" Weaver, in charge of the exit and entrance of prisoners, reported.

Ordinarily, Lieutenant Weaver and other watch officers receive between $250 and $300 over the counter in a 24-hour period starting Saturday midnight. At midnight Sunday not a sou had been tendered for fines or costs.

COTTON LEADERS DEMAND SOLUTION OF DEBT PROBLEM

Clayton and Ousley Declare South's Prosperity Depends Directly on Settlement of Puzzle.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Restoration of prosperity to the cotton belt and a revival of the buying power of the southern states were described in statements by Will L. Clayton and Clarence Ousley, cotton authorities, today, as resting directly upon a solution of the war debts problem.

Clayton, who is a Houston (Texas) cotton dealer, declared Europe was the cotton farmers' best customer and urged revision of intergovernmental debts downward to a point where they will not interfere with Europe's capacity to buy the cotton he said it needs.

Ousley, who was assistant secretary of agriculture in the Wilson administration, said "the sale of 1,000,000 bales of cotton more a year would mean to the south more than the annual installment of interest and sinking fund on the entire foreign debt."

Their statements were made possible by the committee for the consideration of intergovernmental debts, of which Alfred P. Sloan Jr. is chairman.

Declaring cotton was "far more dependent" upon foreign markets than any other major commodity, Clayton said that for every five bales sold in the United States, at least six bales must be marketed abroad.

Since the foreign market was dried up by a combination of three factors, the Smoot-Hawley tariff, the decline of foreign security purchases and the war debts problem, he said, the south's cotton crop has shrunk two-thirds in value, or from $1,400,000,000 in 1929 to $500,000,000 today.

"This enormous shrinkage in the cotton farmers' income," he said, "has destroyed his buying power, causing industries which serve the cotton industry to go bankrupt, or close altogether, throwing many hundreds of thousands of men out of employment, thus in turn destroying their buying power. This vicious process goes on and on and ends nobody knows exactly where."

The prosperity of the cotton farmers," he said, "waits on a restoration of the buying power of their foreign customers, and this in turn waits on

Volstead's Secretary Shoots Self to Death

CHICAGO, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Spencer T. Rudd, 40, said by his mother-in-law to have been secretary to former Congressman Andrew J. Volstead, of Minnesota, killed himself today.

His body was found under a heap of snow on the archery court in Lincoln park when a dog attracted its owner's attention by uncovering it. A 22-caliber revolver was found still clutched in Rudd's right hand, and in his pocket was a note reading:

"To the Coroner: Do not in any way hold my wife or mother-in-law responsible for my death. I am a failure. My head buzzing all the time, so I can't hope to be a support to my wife. I must not be a burden."

Dr. Hartig said the former Vernon Thomas, well-known artist and painter, whom Rudd married four years ago. Her mother, Mrs. Evelyn Thomas, said Rudd lost his secretarial post when Volstead was defeated for reelection; he had since been renting an apartment for a large Lake Shore drive apartment.

Machine Forces Sap From Woods And Replaces With Color Desired

FAIRFAX, S. C., Dec. 11.—(AP)—The operator, at a word from the perfection of a pressure machine, which forces sap from common wood, including the resin from pines, and supplies it with any color or color-bination of colors before the whole log is cut into lumber, was announced here by Dr. Joseph A. Hartig, M. D., chemical engineer and furniture manufacturer.

Dr. Hartig, who came here several months ago from Jacksonville, Fla., is associated with C. W. Brewer, local lumber company owner, in development of his process, which, he claims, will revolutionize the furniture and building trades. He is a native of Rome, Ga.

In a demonstration staged for lumber and newspapermen, Dr. Hartig placed a six-foot beech log, thirteen and one-half inches in diameter, in the other, he placed a 20-gallon wood

REFUSAL TO TAKE GOLD IS CAUSED BY RESERVATIONS

Executive Branch Not Empowered To Amend or Alter Established Agreement, Stimson Tells British.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—(UP)—Secretary of State Stimson tonight informed the British government that the Hoover administration had no authority to accept its payment of $55,000,000 December 15 debt installment unless it paid under the established debt agreement.

The secretary reminded London that congress alone had power to alter the debt agreements. He said the executive branch of the government "has no power to amend or alter the agreement either directly or by implied amendment."

"The sum as received," Stimson said, "must be credited to principal and interest" as provided in the present debt treaty.

Stimson, therefore, expressed the hope that the British note was merely a statement of London's views regarding future re-examination of the debts rather than a condition of meeting the current payment.

The note left no doubt, however, that the United States would decline to accept any payment without congressional approval, unless it applied on the British debt funded in 1923.

Delivery of the American reply to the British note ended an afternoon of hectic activity. Unexpectedly at 2 p. m. Sir Ronald Lindsay, British ambassador, called at Stimson's sylvan estate, Woodley, and delivered the note from London.

Prominent Stimson, assistant secretary of Treasury Mills, Assistant

The Weather

WASHINGTON.—Forecast:
Georgia—Rain Monday; Tuesday cloudy, slightly cooler.
North Carolina and South Carolina—Rain Monday; Tuesday cloudy, slightly cooler.

Mississippi—Cloudy with rain Monday; Tuesday partly cloudy, followed by rain in extreme north portion Monday afternoon or night; Tuesday partly cloudy, slightly cooler in extreme north portion.

Tennessee—Cloudy, preceded by rain in east portion Monday; Tuesday cloudy, followed by rain in south and east portions Monday and Tuesday night with somewhat colder; Tuesday unsettled.

Alabama—Rain Monday; Tuesday unsettled, probably rain in south portion, somewhat cooler Monday in central and north portions. Tuesday unsettled, probably rain in southeast portion.

Extreme Northwest Florida—Cloudy Monday and Tuesday with probable showers.

Arkansas—Cloudy and continued cold Monday and Monday night; Tuesday unsettled, not quite so cold in north portion.

Oklahoma—Partly cloudy to unsettled, not quite so cold in west portion Monday, followed by snow flurries and not quite so cold by Monday night or Tuesday.

East Texas—Mostly cloudy Monday, possibly rain and slightly cooler in south and central portions; Tuesday unsettled, not so cold in northwest portion.

West Texas—Cloudy with probable snow flurries in north and light rain in south portion Monday; somewhat cooler in south and east portions and slightly warmer in Panhandle; Tuesday partly cloudy, slightly warmer in north portion.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Weather bureau reports and forecasts for the principal cotton-growing areas and elsewhere:

Station	Yesterday	Low	High
Asheville	40	18	42
Atlanta	52	42	174
Birmingham	60	30	1.74
Chattanooga	60	30	1.74
Cincinnati	32	22	10
Denver	6	8	102
El Paso	34	28	100
Fort Worth	34	28	100
Indianapolis	34	28	100
Little Rock	34	28	100
Los Angeles	34	28	100
Memphis	34	28	100
Meriden	34	28	100
Miami	34	28	100
Mobile	34	28	100
New Orleans	34	28	100
New York	34	28	100
Northfield	34	28	100
Richmond	34	28	100
St. Louis	34	28	100
San Antonio	34	28	100
San Francisco	34	28	100

DR. BUTLER FETES CARNEGIE HEADS AT ANNUAL DINNER

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University and of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, entertained the trustees of the endowment at a dinner tonight. They are here for their semi-annual meeting tomorrow.

Those announced as attending included Daniel C. Catlin, of Missouri; John W. Davis, of New York; Frederick A. Delano, of the state department; and Lawson B. Evans, Augustus (G.A.) educator; Alanson R. Hougham, former ambassador to Great Britain; Representative Andrew J. Montague, of Virginia; and former Governor Alfred E. Smith.

MRS. D. B. ST. JOHN DIES EARLY SUNDAY

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., Dec. 11.—Mrs. D. B. St. John, 49, died here early Sunday. She had been in poor health for some months. Funeral services will be held Tuesday at Lithonia. She was a resident of Athens and a native of Lithonia, Ga.

She is survived by her husband and the following children: D. L. St. John and T. F. St. John, of Atlanta, and A. E. St. John, M. L. St. John, Spencer St. John, Louise St. John and Aubrey St. John, of Athens. She is also survived by four sisters and two brothers, Miss Ruby Hill, Mrs. Otis Newton, Mrs. George Everett, Mrs. H. C. Grant, Sam Hill and S. L. Hill, all of Atlanta.

ECONOMY FOR STATE CULPEPPER PLATFORM

Senator From 36th Chiefly Interested in Fiscal Problems.

GREENVILLE, Ga., Dec. 11.—(AP)—N. F. Culpepper, senator from the 36th district, and well-known figure in Georgia legislative halls, says he favors "economy and reduction of expense in all departments of the state government."

The senator, who has shown a keen interest in the fiscal affairs of the state, comes to the state capitol as the representative for Coweta and Meriwether counties.

He was born and reared in Meriwether county and lives here. He is a son of J. F. and Ellen Nall Culpepper, both deceased. His father was a Confederate veteran and served as tax collector Meriwether and afterward for 26 years as clerk of the superior court of this county.

Mr. Culpepper, an attorney, is a graduate of Emory College at Oxford. He served as solicitor of the Greenville city court for seven years and represented Meriwether county in the state legislature from 1913-19. He married Miss Martha Park, of Greenville, daughter of the late Major John W. Park and sister of Orville Park, prominent Macon Methodist minister.

The senator has been practicing law here for 35 years.

Georgia News Told in Brief

Port News.
SAVANNAH, Ga., Dec. 11.—(AP)—Arrived: Constance Chandler, Jacksonville; barge Schom, New York. Sailed: Constance Chandler, Norfolk.

City Commissioner.
CORDELE, Ga., Dec. 11.—A. E. Walton was elected city commissioner for the term beginning January 1 at the regular election held Wednesday at the city hall. He succeeds the late W. H. Westbrook.

On Capital Force.
DAWSON, Ga., Dec. 11.—W. B. Davis, a deputy in the office of Sheriff J. A. Turner, of Terrell county for the past four years, has accepted a position on the capital police force in Washington, D. C., and will report for duty there on December 15.

Summer Cotton Crop.
AMERICUS, Ga., Dec. 11.—Summer county's cotton crop for the current season, as shown by the final ginning report just released by A. D. Gatewood, resident agent at Americus, was 17,825 bales, which compares with 17,825 bales ginned the same date last year, is the shortest in the history of cotton production in the county.

Wins Loving Cup.
WAYCROSS, Ga., Dec. 11.—James B. Harley, prominent young businessman and member of the firm of the P. N. Harley Hardware Company, is the 1932 winner of the Baynard Knight loving cup for being the member of the Waycross Kiwanis Club who has rendered the most outstanding service to his community this year.

District Governor.
SAVANNAH, Ga., Dec. 11.—Nicholas Mamalakis, local Grecian youth, has been appointed district governor of the Sons of Pericles, junior organization of the Alpha, a Greek-American organization. He is to head the district composed of four states, Georgia, South and North Carolina and Florida.

GEORGIA WOMEN HIGH IN NATIONAL CONTEST

Martha Berry, Ellen Axson Wilson Get Many Votes in Honor Race.

MOUNT BERRY, Ga., Dec. 11.—Two Rome women, Martha Berry, founder and director of the Berry schools, and the late Ellen Axson Wilson, wife of President Wilson, are among those high on the list being selected as representative American women of the past century in a contest being conducted by the National Council of Women.

Votes in the contest will be counted by editors of the Ladies' Home Journal, of Philadelphia, in whose hands votes must be before Thursday night, December 15.

Winners' portraits are to be painted and exhibited in the woman's section of the World's Fair in Chicago next summer.

There are a number of southern women and several other Georgians who are in the competition, including Corra Harris, of Cartersville; Helen Keller, of Alabama; Ruth Bryan Owen, Florida congresswoman; Rebecca Felton, first woman senator, of Cartersville; Ellen Glasgow, Virginia author; Mrs. Percy V. Penypacker, of Texas, leader of many women's organizations of the country. Other women in the contest are Jane Addams, Clara Barton, Susan B. Anthony, Carrie Chapman Catt, Ida Tarbell, Mary Woolley, Clara Ford, Edna St. Vincent Millay, Evangeline Booth and Amelia Earhart Putnam. Motion picture actresses are also polling many votes.

Friends of Miss Berry and Mrs. Wilson have been campaigning for their favorite candidates and urge Georgians to send in a list of 12 names to the woman's leadership editor of the Ladies' Home Journal, in Philadelphia, heading the list with the names of their favorites. All ballots are thrown out unless 12 are voted upon.

PROMINENT SPEAKERS FOR HIGHWAY MEETING

RICHLAND, Ga., Dec. 11.—Speakers who will address the meeting of the Dixie Gulf Coast Highway Association, to be held here Thursday, include W. G. Brinsdine, president of the association, of Port Valley; John B. Guerry, of Montezuma; W. T. Anderson, former member of the Georgia state highway board and editor of the Macon Telegraph; R. W. Simmons, of Opa, Ala.; T. G. Fritchett, of Arton, Ala.; Judge J. A. Carnley, of Enterprise, Ala.; Max O. King, of Arton, Ala.; Mallie Martin, editor of the Ocala News Journal, and Clyde Webb, of Crestview, Fla.; William Koats, of Andersonville, Ga.; and H. V. Davis and M. B. Brown, of Richland.

It is not certain that General A. C. Dalton, former chairman of the United States shipping board, who is the honorary president of the association, will be present at the Richland meeting. If he is he will discuss the Port Dixie terminal of the highway on the gulf coast, and tell of his activities looking to the extension of the highway up the Hudson river to the mouth of the St. Lawrence river.

BUSINESS GAIN SHOWN BY BECK AND GREGG

SAVANNAH, Ga., Dec. 11.—Representatives of the Beck & Gregg Hardware Company, of Savannah and Atlanta, were here Sunday to attend a sales conference. There was a dinner at the DeSoto hotel Saturday following the business conference. Reports from the various sections of the state indicated an increase in business during the past year.

Notations From Barnesville

BY EVELYN G. BUSH.
BARNESVILLE, Ga., Dec. 11.—Rev. C. L. Middlebrooks, new pastor of the Baptist church, of Barnesville, was formally welcomed Sunday evening at a union meeting held in his church. Pastors of the Baptist and Presbyterian churches, and other citizens, participated in the service.

The Sunday school of the First Baptist church of Barnesville observed orphans' home day on Sunday. Contributions were made for the deficit of the city hall, of the Barnesville orphans' home, which amounts to $32,000, according to reports.

The Augusta Landin P. T. A. of Gordon Grammar school is sponsoring the sale of anti-tuberculosis seals in Barnesville this year. Mrs. Durward Collier, president, and Miss Helton, treasurer, of the association, are managing the sale.

"Uncle George Sherman," Lamar county's walking veteran, was in Barnesville this week following recovery from a stroke of paralysis, suffered last winter. "Uncle George," 76 years of age, is known throughout the country, and has been the subject of numerous feature stories because of the fact he has walked thousands of miles to Confederate veterans' reunions.

Justices of the peace and their constables for the six districts of Lamar county were chosen this week, with little interest on the part of voters manifested. The officers are as follows: Barnesville district, G. W. Langford, justice of the peace; E. A. Moore, constable; Chappell district, J. W. Darden, justice of the peace; D. A. English, P. F. Mann, constables; Johnstonville district, Ralph Bush, justice of the peace; J. H. Johnson, constable; Milner district, T. C. Beckham, justice of the peace; J. N. Crawley, E. F. Caffit, constables; Redbone district, R. N. Means, justice of the peace; E. D. Driskell, J. R. Aiken, constables.

A competitive drill by units of the Gordon roader battalion will be held on Sunday's field Thursday afternoon. Features will be squad drill, platoon drill, company drill and individual knock-out drill in manual of arms, to decide the best in each unit. A battalion parade will follow the drill. In the evening a turkey dinner will be given at the dormitory and a dance at the college armory.

Activities in Gainesville

BY MARGARET CASTLEBERRY.
GAINESVILLE, Ga., Dec. 11.—Guy M. Barrett and John S. Rogers were presented with the silver award, the highest honor that can be conferred upon volunteer Scout workers by a local council, at a banquet of Gainesville Scouts on Thursday evening, held at the Princeton hotel. The presentations were made by Eagle Scouts Leo Harbig Jr. and James Merritt Jr.

Stanley Hix of New York, national Scout executive, was guest speaker for the occasion. Ed Kenyon acted as master of ceremonies.

Mrs. Albert S. Hardy was re-elected president of the Woman's Missionary Union of the First Baptist church for 1933 at the annual business meeting.

A Christmas pageant was presented by the Brenau School of Speech and Dramatic Art, in the Brenau auditorium, at 8 p.m. on Sunday evening. The production was directed by Maude Eiska LaFleur, co-educator of the dramatic school. Music was furnished under the supervision of Emil B. Michaelis, dean of the conservatory.

Mrs. George M. Acree was named 1933 president of the Woman's Missionary Society of the First Methodist church.

W. Guy Martin was re-elected chairman of the board of stewards of Saint Paul Methodist church at their annual business meeting held on Friday night. J. E. Garrett is vice chairman; C. E. Smith, secretary, and J. E. Gaudelock, treasurer.

SAVANNAHANAWARDED SCHOLARSHIP AT YALE

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 11.—(AP)—Authorities of Yale University today announced the awarding of the Charles Boughton Wood scholarship to George Arthur Gordon Jr., of Savannah, Ga.

The following justices of the peace were elected in the regular election in Baldwin county this week: Roger Stembright, Milton Webb, R. C. Ward, P. L. Layfield and P. M. Wood. The elections were held under the supervision of Ordinary Bertie Stembright.

State Deaths And Funerals

BENNETT RELL.
RAINBOW, Ga., Dec. 11.—Bennett Rell, 60, prominent farmer living in Rainbow, died early Sunday morning. He is survived by his wife and nine children. Funeral services will be held Monday.

JOHN A. AULTMAN.
CORDELE, Ga., Dec. 11.—John A. Aultman, 73, pioneer citizen of Worth county, died at his home near Warwick Tuesday night. He had been a resident of this section all of his life.

Sartorius was his wife, five sons, two daughters, one brother and three sisters. Funeral services were conducted Wednesday afternoon from Providence church. Interment was in the church cemetery.

MRS. ROSA CHAPMAN.
SAVANNAH, Ga., Dec. 11.—Mrs. Rosa Chapman, former Savannahian who died in Miami on Thursday, was brought to Savannah today for interment. She was buried in Hill Crest Memorial Park. Mrs. Chapman was the widow of the late George W. Chapman. They came to Savannah from Atlanta.

JOHN POPE GUNTER.
LAWRENCEVILLE, Ga., Dec. 11.—John Pope Gunter, 81, died early this morning at his home here. Mr. Gunter was the son of John James B. and Emma Catherine Gunter.

Funeral services will be held from the Methodist church, of which he was a member, Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. W. C. Cox and Rev. E. Collins officiating. Burial will be in Shadow Lake.

He is survived by four children, T. C. E. M. and Mrs. L. Hagood, of Lawrenceville, and Mrs. L. E. Gunter, of Greenville, and two sons, M. B. Gunter, of Macon, and W. L. Gunter, of Pittsboro, N. C. Mrs. Gunter, of Windsor, and Mrs. Zedie Cooper, of Graham.

Happenings in Milledgeville

BY MRS. C. B. McCULLAR.
MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., Dec. 11.—County schools will close December 16 for a 17-day holiday, resuming on January 2 for the spring term. This is one of the longest Christmas holidays ever taken by the county schools here. The Georgia State College for Women will close December 21, the students leaving on that day for their homes and returning January 2 for the opening of school on January 4. The Georgia Military College will close December 16, as the county schools do, resuming work on January 2.

The full membership of the state board of control will meet in Milledgeville December 15 for the transaction of much important business. Bids for various supplies will be opened by Mrs. Boyce Picklen Jr., secretary.

J. R. Smith has tendered his resignation as a member of the city council. His successor has not yet been named. He has been a councilman for the past several years and has headed several important committees of the city government.

The board of regents will come to Milledgeville Saturday, December 17, to attend the dedication services of the new Dillard Russell library at the Georgia State College for Women. The program will be under the direction of Chairman Hughes Spaulding. Judge and Mrs. Dick Russell will attend the dedication and be the guests at a luncheon at the mansion, tendered by President and Mrs. J. L. Reason. John T. Rouffelle will deliver the dedication address. Governor Russell has been invited to attend.

The Milledgeville Junior Order has elected the following officers for the coming year: Councilor, John A. Smith; vice councilor, L. H. Brown; assistant recording secretary, H. H. Norwood; conductor, W. P. Martin; wardens, E. L. Grant; inside sentinel, L. L. Grimes; outside sentinel, J. A. Torrance; chaplain, J. W. Butts; E. E. Croome; trustee; Julian Marx, representative to state council; G. M. Layfield, alternate; Stewart Barnes, recording secretary; S. S. Vincent, financial secretary, and J. A. Mayfield, treasurer.

Walker Green, a white man tried here in superior court for the murder seven years ago of Lorenzo Walker, negro, at a sawmill, near here, was acquitted by a Baldwin county grand jury. Immediately after the death of the negro, Green left Baldwin county, and was brought back early last year. He was first tried in July and the case resulted in a mistrial.

E. E. Bell, prominent Milledgeville businessman, has again been elected chairman of the Methodist board of stewards. R. H. Wooten was named vice chairman; Dr. W. T. Wynn, secretary, and A. I. Butts, treasurer.

The following justices of the peace were elected in the regular election in Baldwin county this week: Roger Stembright, Milton Webb, R. C. Ward, P. L. Layfield and P. M. Wood. The elections were held under the supervision of Ordinary Bertie Stembright.

THOMASVILLE OFFICER FACES COUNCIL TRIAL

THOMASVILLE, Ga., Dec. 11.—Special Police Officer Dick Rhoden, of this city, will be brought to trial before city council Monday evening, December 19, on charges preferred against him in connection with the arrest of a young lad at the municipal stadium last Thursday night. The officer is alleged to have struck the lad with his hand or fist, claiming the boy, Roy Hurst, was provocative and cursed him.

Two warrants have been sworn out for Officer Rhoden by T. E. Hurst, father of Roy, one charging assault and battery and the other for striking a minor illegally. Rhoden was placed in custody of the sheriff today pending making of bond, which was accomplished in a short time. Meanwhile the special officer has been formally suspended by the mayor and a committee from council which heard the preliminary charges preferred against the officer.

Taxless Mississippi Town Determines To Remain So

INDEPENDENCE, Miss., Dec. 11.—(AP)—Independence is a village which has no program of economy because it has no taxes nor tax problem.

This village, the oldest settlement in Tate county, in spite of reported hard times refused to break its 75-year-old record of being a tax free community.

Independence is one of the few municipalities in the United States that has remained tax-free and the township officials have just decided that it is to stay that way, any needs to the contrary notwithstanding.

Not a cent in taxes has ever been imposed in Independence as a municipal expense. Its officers serve without pay.

The village postmaster is the only office-holder in the town that draws a salary and he is paid by the federal government.

The largest consolidated school in the county is located here. Its support is derived from a county and district tax.

At A & P Meat Markets

COPELAND'S

Country Style—Pure Pork

Sausage
LB. 25c

Round or Loin
Veal Cutlets LB. 23c
Rib or Loin
Lamb Chops LB. 21c
Fancy
Beef Liver LB. 15c
Rib or Brisket
Stew Meat LB. 10c

A & P
FOOD STORES
Fruits & Vegetables
For Monday and Tuesday

Yellow Crockneck

Squash LB. 10c

Texas Green
Cabbage POUND 3c
Fresh, Green Top
Turnips BUNCH 5c
Old-Fashioned Winesap
Apples DOZEN 15c
Large, Firm, Ripe

Tomatoes LB. 10c

Gelatin Dessert SPARKLE
In 6 Pure Fruit Flavors
BOX 5c

Encore Plain

Olives QT. JAR 25c

Oleomargarine

Nucoa LB. 15c

Brew

Budweiser BOT. 10c

1-6P—Lea and Perrin

Sauce BOTTLE 29c

Borden's Chateau

Cheese 4-LB. PKG. 15c

Baking Powder

Rumford's 4-OZ. CAN 9c

Grandmother's Sliced

Bread 16-OZ. LOAF 5c

GRANDMOTHER'S

Fruit Cake

Grandmother's Cakes are made from the finest ingredients obtainable and even compare in quality to home-baked cakes.

1-LB. EACH

39c

2-LBS. EACH

75c

ROGERS
QUALITY FOOD SHOPS

CARROLL'S
(The Dutch Oven Bakers)

FRUIT CAKE

2-LB. SIZE 79c
1-LB. SIZE 40c

HOLIDAY Fruit Cake
2-LB. SIZE 59c
1-LB. SIZE 30c

FRUIT CAKE MATERIALS AND HOLIDAY FOODS

Glaze, New Crop	39c	Soft Shell	21c
NEW CROP		ALMONDS	21c
LEMON PEEL	27c	Diamond Shelled	22c
NEW CROP		WALNUTS	22c
ORANGE PEEL	27c	Fancy
Fancy Tortili		Brazil Nuts	12 1/2c
CITRON	27c	Temple Garden—Pure Vanilla
Glaze, New Crop		EXTRACT	25c
CHERRIES	45c	Old-Fashioned Brown
Seeded or Seedless—Sun Maid		SUGAR	8c
RAISINS	10c	Aunt Dinah—Black
Dromedary		MOLASSES	14c
DATES	20c	Fancy
Camel		Mixed Nuts	12 1/2c
DATES	12 1/2c	Fresh Bulk
Calif. Baby—English		Mince Meat	19c
WALNUTS	15c	Shelled
Calif. English—Emerald No. 1		ALMONDS	49c
WALNUTS	21c	Fancy New Crop
Calif. Budded Diamond, Large English		CURRENTS	12 1/2c
WALNUTS	27c	Valley Brand
Gold Medal		RAISINS	5c
PECANS	19c	White
		RAISINS	10c

XMAS TREES!

Your nearest Rogers store will this year, as usual, have a nice assortment of Washington Fir Christmas trees at popular prices. The manager of your nearest store will be glad to take your order for one now and save it for you.

Chocolate Covered CHERRIES LB. BOX 25c

Chocolate Bon Bons LB. 15c

Chocolate Drops LB. 10c

Dixie Mixed Candies LB. 15c

Sou. Mixed Candies LB. 10c

Cocoanut Bon Bons LB. 15c

Crystallized Jellies LB. 12 1/2c

Stick Candy 2-LB. BOX 25c

Peanut Clusters CHOCOLATE COVERED LB. 15c

Xmas Stockings CANDY FILLED EA. 15c

Stick Candy 3 FOR 10c

Rogers Markets

PORK LOIN

Roast LB. 10c

PORK SHOULDER STEAK LB. 10c

Boston Style PORK BUTTS LB. 10c

BEEF SHORT RIBS LB. 10c

SMOKED LINK SAUSAGE LB. 10c

LONG HORN CHEESE 1/4-LB. 10c

UNCLE BUD'S SAUSAGE LB. 23c

LEAN PORK

Chops LB. 10c

PIGGLY WIGGLY

PRICES EFFECTIVE MONDAY AND TUESDAY

TOILET SOAP Reg. Octagon 3 FOR 13c

COMET RICE 12-OZ. PKGS. 5c

VELVO COFFEE LB. 19c

NAVY BEANS 2 LBS. 5c

JEWEL LARD 4-LB. CARTON 23c

BLACK PEPPER 3 Boxes 10c

TABLE SALT 11-LB. PKGS. 5c

OCTAGON SOAP SMALL SIZE 5 FOR 10c

GINGER ALE 12-OZ. FULCHER'S EA. 5c

Kraft Velveeta 4-LB. PKG. 15c

LEMONS USE LEMONS TO COMBAT THE FLU 19c

WHITE or YELLOW ONIONS LB. 2c

GREEN CABBAGE MED. SIZE LB. 2 1/2c

ORANGES SWEET JUICY DOZ. 12 1/2c

RED BLISS POTATOES LB. 3 1/2c

WE RESERVE THE RIGHT TO LIMIT QUANTITIES

CITRON PEEL LB. 27c

ORANGE or LEMON PEEL LB. 27c

GLACE PINEAPPLE LB. 39c

GLACE CHERRIES LB. 45c

IRIS RAISINS 15-OZ. PKG. 2 FOR 15c

Dromedary DATES 10-OZ. PKG. EA. 20c

IN OUR QUALITY MARKETS

ROUND STEAK TENDER JUICY LB. 20c

LOIN or CLUB STEAK LB. 18c

PIG PORK 12c

HAMS LB. 12c

PURE PORK PAN 12c

SAUSAGE LB. 15c

Pork Steak LB. 12 1/2c

CHOPS LB. 12c

SLICED SHOULDER 12c

PAGE THREE WAR THREAT LOOMS
IN PERSIAN OIL ROW

British Newspaper Sees Peril of Armed Intervention By England.

LONDON, Dec. 11.—(UP)—Threat of war as a result of the controversy between Great Britain and Persia over the Anglo-Persian oil concession was being widely discussed in London today as the nation entered a fateful week in diplomatic relations. Next Thursday is the day on which, under the ultimatum delivered to Persia last week, the cancellation of the oil concession must be withdrawn. It is the same day on which Britain will meet its war debt payment to the United States.

Reynolds Weekly today carried a banner-line article declaring that the Persian dispute may lead to war "because the British navy's fuel supply is imperiled."

Persia is expected to reply before Thursday to the British ultimatum suggesting a resumption of negotiations. If Persia ignores the ultimatum, however, Great Britain undoubtedly will refer the controversy to the permanent court of international justice.

The Reynolds article declared that well-informed persons consider incitement for cancellation comes from the interests of the Standard Oil Company as part of a concerted attempt to raise world oil prices.

"An incident" and they are so called, "which is a direct interference by Persian malcontents with British nationals in Persia would easily afford the pretext for armed intervention," the newspaper said, adding that airplanes could be rushed swiftly from India, India, Palestine and Egypt.

Talk of the possibility of a revolution being heard in Moscow, according to reports reaching London today. The British ambassador in Moscow is to be dispatched to London, declared that the Persian government is "resolved to maintain its territorial integrity and is determined to appropriate property in Britain from making mischief and threatening the whole world. It is a matter of time before it will be able to start a world war with different consequences than the last had."

TROOPS CALLED OUT IN JERUSALEM
JERUSALEM, Dec. 11.—(UP)—
Troops were summoned to disperse a mob attacking the offices of the Anglo-Persian Oil Company at Abadan, according to newspaper dispatches received here today.

SCHEDULE CHANGES
Effective December 15, The Southland leaves Atlanta 8:45 p. m. instead of 9:10 p. m.; arrive Jacksonville

8:00 a. m., arrive Tampa 11:15 a. m.; arrive St. Petersburg 12:15 p. m.
Corresponding intermediate changes.
No change northbound.

(adv.)

L

ITY"

YEARS

ECOME VALUE

1

ONES

100 al

America

THE POTENTIAL

AS THE LENGTH OF GALTAR

IN FORCE

NTA
Dent.

Building Building

THE CONSTITUTION

CLARK HOWELL
Editor and General Manager
Clark Howell, Jr., Business Manager

Entered at the Postoffice at Atlanta as second-class matter.

Telephone WA. 5953.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES:

By Carrier or Mail
Daily... $2.50
Sunday... $1.00
Single Copies... 10c

By Mail... $1.00
Daily... $2.50
Sunday... $1.00
Single Copies... 10c

KELLY-SMITH COMPANY, national newspaper publishers, New York, Chicago, Detroit, Boston, Philadelphia, Atlanta.

The Constitution is not responsible for advertisements placed in its columns. It is not responsible for the circulation of its copies. It is not responsible for the circulation of its copies.

Member of The Associated Press. The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to use for publication of all news dispatches credited to it or to any other source published herein.

ATLANTA, GA., DEC. 12, 1932.

THE ALLOTMENT PLAN THREAT.

The cotton mill interests of the South are warned by the American Cotton Manufacturers' Association of the danger to the textile industry of the so-called "domestic allotment plan" of farm relief. This principle was contained in the Norbeck bill, killed in the closing days of the last congress, and the cotton association fears that, in modified form and masquerading under a different name, it will be introduced in this session.

The plan provides for a tax of five cents a pound on short-staple cotton, this tax to be paid by the mill, and to be returned by the government as a bonus to the producer.

The domestic allotment is designed, under some of the proposed plans, "to make the average return to the producer, on that part of such commodity domestically consumed, including tariff benefits, as nearly as possible equal to the cost of production." Under other plans it is sought to "make the average return to the producer equal to the pre-war purchasing power."

In the last analysis, the basic idea of all the allotment plans is to guarantee to the producer that if the market price when he sells his crop is below the cost of production, he will later receive an additional amount per pound in the shape of a bonus from the government, made possible as a result of the tax levied at the mills.

Leading southern economists have objected to the plan on the ground that the "revenue derived would be distributed not only to a special class of citizens but to a certain group of that class who are willing to enter into contracts with the government covering their production activities."

Further objection is voiced because the plan proposes that the bonus will be provided "upon the petition of 60 per cent of those who would enjoy its benefits, regardless of the wishes or financial circumstances at the time of the people of the country."

The contemplated bonus is predicated upon the ability of the government to ascertain the cost of production of agricultural commodities in this country, or the determination of the pre-war purchasing power of commodities. It is highly improbable that an accurate basis could be set up in either case.

The fact that the plans call for advance estimates of the domestic consumption of cotton textiles, leads to further danger of serious miscalculations.

In a confidential letter to textile manufacturers, an outstanding southern economist points out that—

A very startling innovation is shown in the fact that this proposed bonus accruing, as we have noted, to special groups of a special class, is to be assessed against processors of these products and paid by them into the treasury of the United States. These processors, it should be noted, would be subjected to very great uncertainties as to their ability to recoup these monetary advances. On the proportion of the processed product sold in this country, they are supposed to recover their advances through the increased price at which the processed commodity could be sold. On that part of the processed products which is exported, they will get back from the treasury amounts of money supposed to represent the cost of the raw material that went into the processed products exported; and it is provided that the secretary of the treasury shall establish conversion factors for use in determining the amount of this refund. In this case the matter is taken entirely out of the hands of the manufacturer who made the advance, and in the case of domestic sales, he is, to some extent, perhaps a very large extent, at the mercy of the consumer.

In the event of a consumer strike, such as we had in 1920, when the country was treated to the famous "overall parades," it is very doubtful whether the manufacturer would ever get back the entire advance. Certainly any delays in doing so would

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN.

Caruso's Voice.

Gloria Caruso, the 13-year-old daughter of the famous tenor, heard for the first time her father's voice as it was in his prime, when she was presented in Paris with the first copy of a record of Caruso singing "Vesti la Giubba," made by a new secret process. Engineers of the Gramophone Company have experimented for six years to develop a process whereby a record of the voice of the world's greatest tenor could be remade in order to sound as clear as it was recorded by up-to-date methods. By passing the weak sound waves from the original His Master's Voice gramophone through electrical filter circuits and amplifiers, removing the old accompaniment, and grafting on to it the playing of a living orchestra, they have produced a record which is amazing in its realism. If Caruso were alive to record today he could not have made a better record.

Ever present under the operation of the allotment plans would be the danger of forced recourse to minor stabilization operations—the rock upon which the efforts of the farm board to bring relief to the farmer have come to grief. If we have learned any one lesson during the past three years, it is that stabilization, with its defiance of the laws of supply and demand, is economically unsound and impracticable.

Stabilization operations have failed in every country in which they have been attempted. Certainly, the United States has had enough of plans seeking to benefit the farmer by artificial stimulation of prices.

Any such tax at the mills as is proposed under the allotment plans would force an increase in textile prices which would cripple the industry in its competition with fabrics made of other materials. In the opinion of the American Cotton Manufacturers' Association, the industry "has never been confronted with a more dangerous and far-reaching legislation," and it urges active opposition by southern representatives in congress should efforts be made to bring about farm relief in this manner.

Unquestionably, the allotment plan is too complicated, involves too much direct governmental interference with the conduct of the business of both the farmer and the manufacturer, to offer reasonable assurance of sound farm relief. It is a principle that should be actively and energetically opposed by the senators and representatives from the cotton-growing and manufacturing states.

BEATING THE DEPRESSION.

Only catastrophe can be expected from a "watchful waiting" attitude towards the depression. Warren O. Young in an address delivered in New York.

Holding that we must "fight this thing," Mr. Young says:

Perhaps from the point of view of the pure economist it might be said that the sooner we let this disease run its course, the more rapid the deflation, the more extreme the purging of weak institutions—yes, even the more severe the human suffering, the quicker will come the sound bottom and the reconstruction.

With all respect to the economist, that we cannot do. Even if it is right, we cannot do it. Our political institutions cannot stand the strain. Our social organizations cannot face such a catastrophe. Our churches will be only voices without action in a wilderness of despair. Our charitable institutions will break with the added load of men's hearts will break, too.

We must mobilize our forces and resources and fight this thing. None is too small and none too great to take up the burden. He who avails is traitor to all the rest.

Not only is a fighting spirit on the part of business, finance and industry the sure way to hasten the return of normalcy, but those concerns putting up a fighting front are the ones which will emerge from the depression in the best condition.

Certainly, this is no time for a merchant or manufacturer to sit back and wait to see what is going to happen. It is a time when our commercial interests must rally their complete reserves of ingenuity and progressive policies for the double purpose of stimulating lagging trade and attracting it to their way.

Belgian statesmen describe America's desire for payment as "Shylock's colossal egotism." Et tu Brute?

It sounds cruel, but one way to get even with racketeers is to surrender the whole business at once and let them run it.

"Man leaps from window after quarrel with wife." How unsatisfactory! You can't slam a window.

The harshest criticism of the world's leaders is just a simple description of the mess we're in.

This will be the first congress, however, in which the lame ducks make the biggest splash.

No wonder Germany wants equal armament. It's such a nice alibi for inability to pay.

How times change! Old-fashioned boys yearned to raid treasure ships instead of the public treasury.

Charm is like ignorance. The more perfect it is, the less you realize that you have it.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN.

Caruso's Voice.

Gloria Caruso, the 13-year-old daughter of the famous tenor, heard for the first time her father's voice as it was in his prime, when she was presented in Paris with the first copy of a record of Caruso singing "Vesti la Giubba," made by a new secret process. Engineers of the Gramophone Company have experimented for six years to develop a process whereby a record of the voice of the world's greatest tenor could be remade in order to sound as clear as it was recorded by up-to-date methods. By passing the weak sound waves from the original His Master's Voice gramophone through electrical filter circuits and amplifiers, removing the old accompaniment, and grafting on to it the playing of a living orchestra, they have produced a record which is amazing in its realism. If Caruso were alive to record today he could not have made a better record.

Ever present under the operation of the allotment plans would be the danger of forced recourse to minor stabilization operations—the rock upon which the efforts of the farm board to bring relief to the farmer have come to grief. If we have learned any one lesson during the past three years, it is that stabilization, with its defiance of the laws of supply and demand, is economically unsound and impracticable.

Stabilization operations have failed in every country in which they have been attempted. Certainly, the United States has had enough of plans seeking to benefit the farmer by artificial stimulation of prices.

Any such tax at the mills as is proposed under the allotment plans would force an increase in textile prices which would cripple the industry in its competition with fabrics made of other materials. In the opinion of the American Cotton Manufacturers' Association, the industry "has never been confronted with a more dangerous and far-reaching legislation," and it urges active opposition by southern representatives in congress should efforts be made to bring about farm relief in this manner.

Unquestionably, the allotment plan is too complicated, involves too much direct governmental interference with the conduct of the business of both the farmer and the manufacturer, to offer reasonable assurance of sound farm relief. It is a principle that should be actively and energetically opposed by the senators and representatives from the cotton-growing and manufacturing states.

BEATING THE DEPRESSION.

Only catastrophe can be expected from a "watchful waiting" attitude towards the depression. Warren O. Young in an address delivered in New York.

Holding that we must "fight this thing," Mr. Young says:

Perhaps from the point of view of the pure economist it might be said that the sooner we let this disease run its course, the more rapid the deflation, the more extreme the purging of weak institutions—yes, even the more severe the human suffering, the quicker will come the sound bottom and the reconstruction.

With all respect to the economist, that we cannot do. Even if it is right, we cannot do it. Our political institutions cannot stand the strain. Our social organizations cannot face such a catastrophe. Our churches will be only voices without action in a wilderness of despair. Our charitable institutions will break with the added load of men's hearts will break, too.

We must mobilize our forces and resources and fight this thing. None is too small and none too great to take up the burden. He who avails is traitor to all the rest.

Not only is a fighting spirit on the part of business, finance and industry the sure way to hasten the return of normalcy, but those concerns putting up a fighting front are the ones which will emerge from the depression in the best condition.

Certainly, this is no time for a merchant or manufacturer to sit back and wait to see what is going to happen. It is a time when our commercial interests must rally their complete reserves of ingenuity and progressive policies for the double purpose of stimulating lagging trade and attracting it to their way.

Belgian statesmen describe America's desire for payment as "Shylock's colossal egotism." Et tu Brute?

It sounds cruel, but one way to get even with racketeers is to surrender the whole business at once and let them run it.

"Man leaps from window after quarrel with wife." How unsatisfactory! You can't slam a window.

The harshest criticism of the world's leaders is just a simple description of the mess we're in.

This will be the first congress, however, in which the lame ducks make the biggest splash.

No wonder Germany wants equal armament. It's such a nice alibi for inability to pay.

How times change! Old-fashioned boys yearned to raid treasure ships instead of the public treasury.

Charm is like ignorance. The more perfect it is, the less you realize that you have it.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN.

Caruso's Voice.

Gloria Caruso, the 13-year-old daughter of the famous tenor, heard for the first time her father's voice as it was in his prime, when she was presented in Paris with the first copy of a record of Caruso singing "Vesti la Giubba," made by a new secret process. Engineers of the Gramophone Company have experimented for six years to develop a process whereby a record of the voice of the world's greatest tenor could be remade in order to sound as clear as it was recorded by up-to-date methods. By passing the weak sound waves from the original His Master's Voice gramophone through electrical filter circuits and amplifiers, removing the old accompaniment, and grafting on to it the playing of a living orchestra, they have produced a record which is amazing in its realism. If Caruso were alive to record today he could not have made a better record.

Ever present under the operation of the allotment plans would be the danger of forced recourse to minor stabilization operations—the rock upon which the efforts of the farm board to bring relief to the farmer have come to grief. If we have learned any one lesson during the past three years, it is that stabilization, with its defiance of the laws of supply and demand, is economically unsound and impracticable.

Stabilization operations have failed in every country in which they have been attempted. Certainly, the United States has had enough of plans seeking to benefit the farmer by artificial stimulation of prices.

Any such tax at the mills as is proposed under the allotment plans would force an increase in textile prices which would cripple the industry in its competition with fabrics made of other materials. In the opinion of the American Cotton Manufacturers' Association, the industry "has never been confronted with a more dangerous and far-reaching legislation," and it urges active opposition by southern representatives in congress should efforts be made to bring about farm relief in this manner.

Unquestionably, the allotment plan is too complicated, involves too much direct governmental interference with the conduct of the business of both the farmer and the manufacturer, to offer reasonable assurance of sound farm relief. It is a principle that should be actively and energetically opposed by the senators and representatives from the cotton-growing and manufacturing states.

BEATING THE DEPRESSION.

Only catastrophe can be expected from a "watchful waiting" attitude towards the depression. Warren O. Young in an address delivered in New York.

Holding that we must "fight this thing," Mr. Young says:

Perhaps from the point of view of the pure economist it might be said that the sooner we let this disease run its course, the more rapid the deflation, the more extreme the purging of weak institutions—yes, even the more severe the human suffering, the quicker will come the sound bottom and the reconstruction.

With all respect to the economist, that we cannot do. Even if it is right, we cannot do it. Our political institutions cannot stand the strain. Our social organizations cannot face such a catastrophe. Our churches will be only voices without action in a wilderness of despair. Our charitable institutions will break with the added load of men's hearts will break, too.

We must mobilize our forces and resources and fight this thing. None is too small and none too great to take up the burden. He who avails is traitor to all the rest.

Not only is a fighting spirit on the part of business, finance and industry the sure way to hasten the return of normalcy, but those concerns putting up a fighting front are the ones which will emerge from the depression in the best condition.

Certainly, this is no time for a merchant or manufacturer to sit back and wait to see what is going to happen. It is a time when our commercial interests must rally their complete reserves of ingenuity and progressive policies for the double purpose of stimulating lagging trade and attracting it to their way.

Belgian statesmen describe America's desire for payment as "Shylock's colossal egotism." Et tu Brute?

It sounds cruel, but one way to get even with racketeers is to surrender the whole business at once and let them run it.

"Man leaps from window after quarrel with wife." How unsatisfactory! You can't slam a window.

The harshest criticism of the world's leaders is just a simple description of the mess we're in.

This will be the first congress, however, in which the lame ducks make the biggest splash.

No wonder Germany wants equal armament. It's such a nice alibi for inability to pay.

How times change! Old-fashioned boys yearned to raid treasure ships instead of the public treasury.

Charm is like ignorance. The more perfect it is, the less you realize that you have it.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN.

Caruso's Voice.

Gloria Caruso, the 13-year-old daughter of the famous tenor, heard for the first time her father's voice as it was in his prime, when she was presented in Paris with the first copy of a record of Caruso singing "Vesti la Giubba," made by a new secret process. Engineers of the Gramophone Company have experimented for six years to develop a process whereby a record of the voice of the world's greatest tenor could be remade in order to sound as clear as it was recorded by up-to-date methods. By passing the weak sound waves from the original His Master's Voice gramophone through electrical filter circuits and amplifiers, removing the old accompaniment, and grafting on to it the playing of a living orchestra, they have produced a record which is amazing in its realism. If Caruso were alive to record today he could not have made a better record.

Ever present under the operation of the allotment plans would be the danger of forced recourse to minor stabilization operations—the rock upon which the efforts of the farm board to bring relief to the farmer have come to grief. If we have learned any one lesson during the past three years, it is that stabilization, with its defiance of the laws of supply and demand, is economically unsound and impracticable.

Stabilization operations have failed in every country in which they have been attempted. Certainly, the United States has had enough of plans seeking to benefit the farmer by artificial stimulation of prices.

Any such tax at the mills as is proposed under the allotment plans would force an increase in textile prices which would cripple the industry in its competition with fabrics made of other materials. In the opinion of the American Cotton Manufacturers' Association, the industry "has never been confronted with a more dangerous and far-reaching legislation," and it urges active opposition by southern representatives in congress should efforts be made to bring about farm relief in this manner.

Unquestionably, the allotment plan is too complicated, involves too much direct governmental interference with the conduct of the business of both the farmer and the manufacturer, to offer reasonable assurance of sound farm relief. It is a principle that should be actively and energetically opposed by the senators and representatives from the cotton-growing and manufacturing states.

BEATING THE DEPRESSION.

Only catastrophe can be expected from a "watchful waiting" attitude towards the depression. Warren O. Young in an address delivered in New York.

Holding that we must "fight this thing," Mr. Young says:

Perhaps from the point of view of the pure economist it might be said that the sooner we let this disease run its course, the more rapid the deflation, the more extreme the purging of weak institutions—yes, even the more severe the human suffering, the quicker will come the sound bottom and the reconstruction.

With all respect to the economist, that we cannot do. Even if it is right, we cannot do it. Our political institutions cannot stand the strain. Our social organizations cannot face such a catastrophe. Our churches will be only voices without action in a wilderness of despair. Our charitable institutions will break with the added load of men's hearts will break, too.

We must mobilize our forces and resources and fight this thing. None is too small and none too great to take up the burden. He who avails is traitor to all the rest.

Not only is a fighting spirit on the part of business, finance and industry the sure way to hasten the return of normalcy, but those concerns putting up a fighting front are the ones which will emerge from the depression in the best condition.

Certainly, this is no time for a merchant or manufacturer to sit back and wait to see what is going to happen. It is a time when our commercial interests must rally their complete reserves of ingenuity and progressive policies for the double purpose of stimulating lagging trade and attracting it to their way.

Belgian statesmen describe America's desire for payment as "Shylock's colossal egotism." Et tu Brute?

It sounds cruel, but one way to get even with racketeers is to surrender the whole business at once and let them run it.

"Man leaps from window after quarrel with wife." How unsatisfactory! You can't slam a window.

The harshest criticism of the world's leaders is just a simple description of the mess we're in.

This will be the first congress, however, in which the lame ducks make the biggest splash.

No wonder Germany wants equal armament. It's such a nice alibi for inability to pay.

How times change! Old-fashioned boys yearned to raid treasure ships instead of the public treasury.

Charm is like ignorance. The more perfect it is, the less you realize that you have it.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN.

Caruso's Voice.

Gloria Caruso, the 13-year-old daughter of the famous tenor, heard for the first time her father's voice as it was in his prime, when she was presented in Paris with the first copy of a record of Caruso singing "Vesti la Giubba," made by a new secret process. Engineers of the Gramophone Company have experimented for six years to develop a process whereby a record of the voice of the world's greatest tenor could be remade in order to sound as clear as it was recorded by up-to-date methods. By passing the weak sound waves from the original His Master's Voice gramophone through electrical filter circuits and amplifiers, removing the old accompaniment, and grafting on to it the playing of a living orchestra, they have produced a record which is amazing in its realism. If Caruso were alive to record today he could not have made a better record.

Ever present under the operation of the allotment plans would be the danger of forced recourse to minor stabilization operations—the rock upon which the efforts of the farm board to bring relief to the farmer have come to grief. If we have learned any one lesson during the past three years, it is that stabilization, with its defiance of the laws of supply and demand, is economically unsound and impracticable.

Stabilization operations have failed in every country in which they have been attempted. Certainly, the United States has had enough of plans seeking to benefit the farmer by artificial stimulation of prices.

Any such tax at the mills as is proposed under the allotment plans would force an increase in textile prices which would cripple the industry in its competition with fabrics made of other materials. In the opinion of the American Cotton Manufacturers' Association, the industry "has never been confronted with a more dangerous and far-reaching legislation," and it urges active opposition by southern representatives in congress should efforts be made to bring about farm relief in this manner.

Unquestionably, the allotment plan is too complicated, involves too much direct governmental interference with the conduct of the business of both the farmer and the manufacturer, to offer reasonable assurance of sound farm relief. It is a principle that should be actively and energetically opposed by the senators and representatives from the cotton-growing and manufacturing states.

BEATING THE DEPRESSION.

Only catastrophe can be expected from a "watchful waiting" attitude towards the depression. Warren O. Young in an address delivered in New York.

Holding that we must "fight this thing," Mr. Young says:

Perhaps from the point of view of the pure economist it might be said that the sooner we let this disease run its course, the more rapid the deflation, the more extreme the purging of weak institutions—yes, even the more severe the human suffering, the quicker will come the sound bottom and the reconstruction.

With all respect to the economist, that we cannot do. Even if it is right, we cannot do it. Our political institutions cannot stand the strain. Our social organizations cannot face such a catastrophe. Our churches will be only voices without action in a wilderness of despair. Our charitable institutions will break with the added load of men's hearts will break, too.

We must mobilize our forces and resources and fight this thing. None is too small and none too great to take up the burden. He who avails is traitor to all the rest.

Not only is a fighting spirit on the part of business, finance and industry the sure way to hasten the return of normalcy, but those concerns putting up a fighting front are the ones which will emerge from the depression in the best condition.

Certainly, this is no time for a merchant or manufacturer to sit back and wait to see what is going to happen. It is a time when our commercial interests must rally their complete reserves of ingenuity and progressive policies for the double purpose of stimulating lagging trade and attracting it to their way.

Belgian statesmen describe America's desire for payment as "Shylock's colossal egotism." Et tu Brute?

It sounds cruel, but one way to get even with racketeers is to surrender the whole business at once and let them run it.

"Man leaps from window after quarrel with wife." How unsatisfactory! You can't slam a window.

The harshest criticism of the world's leaders is just a simple description of the mess we're in.

This will be the first congress, however, in which the lame ducks make the biggest splash.

No wonder Germany wants equal armament. It's such a nice alibi for inability to pay.

How times change! Old-fashioned boys yearned to raid treasure ships instead of the public treasury.

Charm is like ignorance. The more perfect it is, the less you realize that you have it.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN.

Caruso's Voice.

Gloria Caruso, the 13-year-old daughter of the famous tenor, heard for the first time her father's voice as it was in his prime, when she was presented in Paris with the first copy of a record of Caruso singing "Vesti la Giubba," made by a new secret process. Engineers of the Gramophone Company have experimented for six years to develop a process whereby a record of the voice of the world's greatest tenor could be remade in order to sound as clear as it was recorded by up-to-date methods. By passing the weak sound waves from the original His Master's Voice gramophone through electrical filter circuits and amplifiers, removing the old accompaniment, and grafting on to it the playing of a living orchestra, they have produced a record which is amazing in its realism. If Caruso were alive to record today he could not have made a better record.

Ever present under the operation of the allotment plans would be the danger of forced recourse to minor stabilization operations—the rock upon which the efforts of the farm board to bring relief to the farmer have come to grief. If we have learned any one lesson during the past three years, it is that stabilization, with its defiance of the laws of supply and demand, is economically unsound and impracticable.

Stabilization operations have failed in every country in which they have been attempted. Certainly, the United States has had enough of plans seeking to benefit the farmer by artificial stimulation of prices.

Any such tax at the mills as is proposed under the allotment plans would force an increase in textile prices which would cripple the industry in its competition with fabrics made of other materials. In the opinion of the American Cotton Manufacturers' Association, the industry "has never been confronted with a more dangerous and far-reaching legislation," and it urges active opposition by southern representatives in congress should efforts be made to bring about farm relief in this manner.

Unquestionably, the allotment plan is too complicated, involves too much direct governmental interference with the conduct of the business of both the farmer and the manufacturer, to offer reasonable assurance of sound farm relief. It is a principle that should be actively and energetically opposed by the senators and representatives from the cotton-growing and manufacturing states.

BEATING THE DEPRESSION.

Only catastrophe can be expected from a "watchful waiting" attitude towards the depression. Warren O. Young in an address delivered in New York.

Holding that we must "fight this thing," Mr. Young says:

Perhaps from the point of view of the pure economist it might be said that the sooner we let this disease run its course, the more rapid the deflation, the more extreme the purging of weak institutions—yes, even the more severe the human suffering, the quicker will come the sound bottom and the reconstruction.

With all respect to the economist, that we cannot do. Even if it is right, we cannot do it. Our political institutions cannot stand the strain. Our social organizations cannot face such a catastrophe. Our churches will be only voices without action in a wilderness of despair. Our charitable institutions will break with the added load of men's hearts will break, too.

We must mobilize our forces and resources and fight this thing. None is too small and none too great to take up the burden. He who avails is traitor to all the rest.

Not only is a fighting spirit on the part of business, finance and industry the sure way to hasten the return of normalcy, but those concerns putting up a fighting front are the ones which will emerge from the depression in the best condition.

Certainly, this is no time for a merchant or manufacturer to sit back and wait to see what is going to happen. It is a time when our commercial interests must rally their complete reserves of ingenuity and progressive policies for the double purpose of stimulating lagging trade and attracting it to their way.

Belgian statesmen describe America's desire for payment as "Shylock's colossal egotism." Et tu Brute?

COLD WAVE GRIPS MAJORITY OF U. S.

South Experiences Drenching Rains; Ten Deaths Laid to Weather.

By the Associated Press.

Snow billowed over most of the nation Sunday in a preview of traditional Christmas weather as temperatures moderated to give relief from the winter's first general sub-zero attack.

A surprised California, however, went out of step with the rest of the nation and San Francisco saw its coldest weather in 62 years—a reading of 27 degrees. Snow tumbled over an astonished citizenry on the northern California coast and the San Joaquin valley.

Nevada reported the lowest reading—24 below—as most areas optically watched a climbing mercury. The Rocky Mountain region still shivered in below-zero weather, but the 75-hour cold wave, the longest on record at Denver, was breaking up.

The south and southeast had rain, mist and rain turning to snow in some sections. Snow flurries, however, were reported at Amarillo, Texas, where the temperature veered from 5 to 7 degrees above, the lowest reading in nearly three years. North Texas had near-freezing weather.

The middle west, the east and the New England sections had snow but obtained relief from the cold wave as the thermometer showed moderate readings.

Traffic deaths increased Sunday as slippery streets and highways contributed to accidents. About 10 persons were reported killed.

New York shelters were overtaxed to care for the unemployed as snow drove them off the streets. A two-inch blanket in the metropolis gave the youngsters the first shuddering weather of the year. The storm prevented President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt from attending church services at a village near his Hyde Park estate.

Washington streets were obscured by mist following a two-inch snowfall, and Pennsylvania recuperated from the heaviest snowfall of the year with more flurries apparently in the offing.

The southland generally had light rains and rising temperatures.

DRYS TO ATTEMPT TO BAR BEER TIDE

Continued from First Page.

An amendment giving federal protection to dry states from liquor shipments and forbidding the return of the saloon.

A number of other repeal resolutions are before the group, including one by Senator Blaine, republican, Wisconsin, an opponent of prohibition, to repeal the eighteenth amendment and guard dry states from their wet neighbors, but permit the transportation of liquor through them.

Although for years one of prohibition's warmest supporters, Chairman Norris has announced that he will oppose the proposal for a ban against the saloon, believing it has no place in the constitution.

Senator Borah, republican, Idaho, another leading advocate of prohibition, would favor such a prohibition if one could be written that he believed workable, but is convinced it cannot be done.

Although there are many senators on the committee who would vote to report an outdoor, but permit the transportation of liquor through them, such as the house considered, in order to get the question before the American people, no member of the group has indicated he will seek this form of action.

SCHEDULE CHANGES.

Effective Thursday, December 15, 1932, changes will occur in the schedule of L. & N. R. trains as follows:

"The Southland," train 33 from Louisville, Cincinnati and the north, will arrive Chattanooga 6:30 p. m. instead of 7:19 p. m.; arrive Marietta 7:43 p. m. instead of 8:07 p. m.; arrive Atlanta 8:25 p. m. instead of 8:50 p. m.

Train 4 daily from Knoxville (via Blue Ridge) will leave Atlanta 7:15 a. m. instead of 7:00 a. m.; Marietta 7:58 a. m. instead of 7:40 a. m.; Train 1 daily from Knoxville (via Blue Ridge) will arrive Marietta 4:25 p. m. instead of 4:47 p. m.; Atlanta 5:10 p. m. instead of 5:40 p. m. (adv.)

College To Continue Despite Court Action

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 11.—(UP)—Classes will continue as usual at University of Miami, which was ordered to the hands of a receiver yesterday.

While court officials here said they believed appointment of a receiver for the university set a legal precedent, Raymond Pawley, business manager of the university, said by a federal judge, worked out plans for operating the university.

COLLEGE ENROLLMENT GAINS DESPITE TIMES

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Dec. 11.—(UP)—College boys are more numerous today than they were in 1927—despite the depression—what is more, they are showing more interest in liberal education than in specialized training.

Raymond Walters, president of the University of Cincinnati, makes the discovery in his annual survey of college enrollment in the United States.

His survey embraces enrollment statistics of 438 approved colleges and universities in the United States. In them, he found 855,993 college boys and girls of which 548,169 are full-time students. The grand total enrollment, he said, was 7 per cent under that of 1931, but he added:

"The numbers this year nevertheless total higher for these same institutions than in 1927, so that the plateau of higher education in this country is substantially maintained."

Dr. Walters' tabulations indicated that more and more students are turning away from specialized training. Liberal arts sections dominate, 3,000 colleges more than ever.

Of the professional courses, his figures for the larger schools showed teaching still preferred, engineering next, then commerce, law and medicine in order.

Of all the schools he surveyed, Dr. Walters found the University of California, summing up the Berkeley and Los Angeles branches, to be the largest in most ways.

California, he found, had 19,252 full-time students; it had 11,137 entered in its liberal arts courses; it had the most men, 5,527, taking such courses; and the most women, 5,900.

New York University, however, topped the list with a grand total enrollment of 27,905 according to figures as of November 1.

But in grand total enrollments the order is:

New York University, 27,905; Columbia, 27,682; C. C. N. Y., 24,698; University of California, 22,867; Minnesota, 16,776; Ohio State, 13,002; Illinois, 12,287; University of Pennsylvania, 12,270; Northwestern, 11,600; Pittsburgh, 11,390; Hunter College, 11,229; Michigan, 11,499; Harvard, 10,598; Wisconsin, 10,597; Chicago, 10,552; Cincinnati, 10,332; Texas, 10,108; Boston University, 9,857; University of Washington, 8,764; Western Reserve, 8,764; Temple, 8,620; Penn State, 7,960; Nebraska, 7,934; Cornell, 7,810; State University of Iowa, 7,716.

GRADY IS HONORED AT SUNDAY SERVICE

Continued from First Page.

Sutton said he was inclined to believe that Grady's moment in Atlanta was the first ever erected to a man who gave all his efforts to preserve and keep the peace.

Grady, he said, is Atlanta's first line of defense against attacks of disease, fire and flood. He dwelt at much length on the attitude of Henry W. Grady to motherhood and pointed out the measure that he had taken to pass through the city in the spirit of Grady.

"In the last two years," Mr. Sutton said, "the service of this institution to the schools of Atlanta has doubled and there has been a noteworthy improvement in the spirit at Grady."

While many civic organizations devote part of their activity to aiding Grady, Mr. Sutton said that every organization in Atlanta should take an especial interest in the institution. The service at Peachtree Christian church, he said, should be an example to other churches in the city to hold services to "inspire into the hearts and minds of the people the value of this institution which preserves motherhood and ushers in life."

In Georgia's collection of gems, Mr. Sutton said, Grady stands out as the diamond.

"In every phase of life he showed ability to merge all into the one ray of light."

The musical program was in charge of Mrs. Victor B. Clark and F. M. Charlton, director of the antiphonal choir.

World Recovery Depends On U. S. Prosperity—Chapin

Editor's note: Many leading economists believe the road to the general recovery of trade lies through the coming world economic conference. In the following article, Secretary of Commerce Chapin presents his reasons for accepting this view and outlines the foreign trade position of the United States.

BY ROY D. CHAPIN, Secretary of Commerce of the United States.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—The United States, since 1915, has been the leading exporting nation of the world.

The fact that it still holds that position in 1932 may cause some surprise to those whose attention, especially during the last two years, has been directed exclusively toward the factors hindering our participation in world trade.

Indeed, one school of thought would seem to incline to the opinion that our foreign sales have dwindled to such a point that we might as well abandon any effort to expand or even maintain what export business we have.

It is unfortunately true that our business with other nations has declined almost precipitately since that recent golden age of international commerce which reached its climax in 1920. But trade in our home market has held up little better. That is no consolation, of course, although it is a fact that has a highly important bearing on the state of our world trade.

Most fortunate nation. Every one of us has seen tragic evidence of the decreased buying power in every section of our country. Yet, despite all our trouble, the buying power of the United States has held up better than it has in any other country. Therefore, as the sales of our manufacturers and farmers have declined here at home, it was only to be expected that they would decline even more sharply in other world markets, which were hit harder by the depression.

To revive foreign trade, it is essential that we succeed in our efforts to bring business in the United States back to a sound and prosperous position. As the demand for goods recovers in the American market, it will bring about automatically an increase in our purchases from abroad. Such purchases will help to restore buying power in other countries and will result in more outlets for our exports.

Thus, America's progress toward reconstruction will have a worldwide beneficial effect.

Our exports during the first nine months of 1932 amounted to $1,188,000,000, the year's total being $11,700,000,000. Compared with the year immediately preceding this period, this figure is not impressive. Nevertheless, it is more than the total of any other country in the world during the same period.

And it represents goods whose production kept thousands of American workmen at their jobs and contributed to lighten the burdens of additional tens of thousands of American farmers.

We cannot dismiss foreign sales of this value as a negligible quantity. A billion dollars' worth of business is still a good deal, even for the United States, and it looms even larger when we consider that this figure is based on greatly depreciated prices. It is decidedly worth our while to make every effort to maintain this trade, and to expand it as rapidly as possible.

World Tariffs Hurt Us. This billion dollars' worth of business was obtained in the face of handicaps such as export taxes never before had to face. Through circumstances, usually beyond their control, the nations of the world have all been forced to take measures that have directly resulted in a curtailment of foreign trade. Import quotas, exchange restrictions and prohibitive tariffs have been among the barriers placed in the way of exporters.

Such action by other nations has been necessitated by critical fiscal and unemployment situations which have afflicted many of them. All exporting countries have suffered from these acts, and as there was but little direct discrimination against the United States, our government has had to face them as necessary evils, without ground for protest except in a few cases.

A solution of the tangle that has been responsible for the damping up of the natural currents of world trade can only be reached through international agreement. It is to be earnestly hoped that the world is on the right path toward such an understanding.

This government, together with other leading nations of the world, has been making every possible effort to insure the success of the coming world economic conference. Preliminary discussions, in which our experts have actively participated, have been under way for some time. They will continue until the conference itself is assembled.

So, if careful advance preparation is worth anything—and in these cases it is—it is a foregone conclusion that the coming international meeting ought to accomplish something of a genuinely constructive nature in behalf of a general restoration of world trade.

Aircraft Export Holds. Meantime, even under the difficulties our exporters have had to face, they have managed to export a limited number of staple products, such as cotton and wheat, which the world still must buy from us under any circumstances. It is interesting to note that here and there, we can find examples of typically American manufactured products whose sales abroad have held up remarkably well during the world depression.

American aircraft, military as well as civil, continue to be shipped abroad, even a European country that only a few years ago seemed to have made greater advances than we had in aeronautics. The United States, in 1932, has exported more than 1,000 aircraft, refrigerators and parts at almost the peak volume of 1920. This also has been true of radio sets and parts. So there is no doubt that the United States is still able to recognize the excellence of quality and fair prices of the products of American inventive genius.

This is further illustrated by the fact that exports of oil burners (another product in which our manufacturers are first in the world) have held up during the first nine months of 1932 at a level only slightly below that of the year immediately preceding.

Instances such as these give us every reason for confidence that as progress toward world recovery continues the demand for American goods will increase throughout the world. It is our duty to use the extraordinary difficulties they have had to face, our manufacturers have not permitted other countries to forget the high quality of our products.

OTHER ROBBERIES TRACED TO BANDIT SLAIN BY OFFICER

Continued from First Page.

Three men who held him up and robbed the company's express car a few weeks ago. When Jones was lined up with other suspects at the station Sunday afternoon, D. Shofield, 272 Port street, both gro- dence, identified the negro as one of two men who held up their stores.

Harley, 24, of Lakewood Heights was treated at Grady hospital early Sunday morning for lacerations and cuts as a result of an encounter with two negro holdup men who were taken from Jones when arrested and identified Sunday by Shofield.

Chief Sturdivant, Chief of Detectives, said Sunday that the robbery at the work of the regular and volunteer officers, praising Hale, Detective Caldwell and Simmons, who shot and killed the bandit, and apologized to Captain A. J. Holcombe in charge of the evening watch, for not getting two men with Table, J. M. Jones, 24, of Lakewood Heights was treated at Grady hospital early Sunday morning for lacerations and cuts as a result of an encounter with two negro holdup men who were taken from Jones when arrested and identified Sunday by Shofield.

Clothing Stolen. Mrs. Beatrice Jones, 667 Rhodes street, N. W., reported that two negroes knocked at her door early Sunday morning and when she answered it both men, armed, dashed in, broke open a chiffonier and took a quantity of women's clothing.

A Rogers grocery store at 1180 Fair street, S. E., police reports Sunday morning, was entered early Sunday morning and robbed of a quantity of candy, cigars and cigarettes.

A service station at 1232 Stewart avenue, S. W., police reports also showed, was entered by twisting the lock and the coins in a telephone pay box stolen.

A watch and a small amount of cash was stolen from the Service Soda Company, 212 Washington street, S. W., early Sunday when, according to police information, thieves made an entrance through the roof.

Burglars got a radio, electric mixer, cigarettes, coffee, ham, china and a quantity of clothing from the Peachtree cafe, 401 Peachtree street, early Sunday, police reports also said.

Robert Roland, one of three negroes charged by Dave Barnhart, another negro, with having held him up and robbed him of $8 was arrested Sunday night on Decatur street near Moore after Barnhart had told police he was winner in a "crap" game and that the others tried to make him return his winnings. Roland was locked up on suspicion.

After being treated at Grady hospital Sunday night for cuts about the neck which he said he received when one or more men held him up Saturday night and robbed him of $12, C. M. Hamilton, 320 Hill street, was dismissed. He said he did not know whether the bandits were white or colored.

RHODES ASPIRANTS FACE BOARD TODAY

Continued from First Page.

rimon Cunningham, of Duke University. South Carolina—Harold Hutson, of Heath Springs, and Ernest Lucas, of Charleston, W. Va.

Georgia—Paul F. Brown Jr. and Hugh M. Dorsey Jr., both of Atlanta. Florida—Edward W. Lane and William A. McKee, both of Jacksonville. Tennessee—Gerald Capers Jr., of Memphis, and Wood Carper, of Charleston, W. Va.

Virginia—E. A. Gentry, of Chattanooga, Tenn., and John Page Williams, of Richmond, both University of Virginia graduates. In addition to being a leading scholar, was an outstanding boxer, Davidson College has two candidates, McBride, of North Carolina, and Brown, of Atlanta. Dorsey, of Atlanta, is a student at Emory University.

Edward Lane, of Florida, is a student at Princeton, and McKee, of the same state, is a law student at the University of Florida. Gerald Capers Jr., of Memphis, was graduated from Northwestern University at Memphis last year and is a law student now. Capers is a West Virginian, was graduated from the University of the South at Sewanee, Tenn., last year.

GEORGE A. POTTER DIES AT AGE OF 90

Civil War Veteran Was Widely Known in Cotton Mill Business Here.

George A. Potter, 90, widely known figure in the cotton mill field and one of the oldest Masons in the state, died Sunday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at his home at Glen Echo, on the Marietta highway. He had been in failing health for more than a year, and had been retired from business 14 years.

For many years associated with the Southern Cotton Oil Company, Mr. Potter was a superintendent of one of the company's mills and worked in the office after his health failed until he retired.

He was a veteran of the War Between the States and was the last surviving member of his company.

Born in Newport, R. I., November 2, 1842, Mr. Potter was reared in Taylor county, Georgia, where his father was a prominent cotton mill owner. He was associated with his father in business for many years but 35 years ago came to Atlanta to become connected with the Southern Cotton Oil Company. He was married to the former Miss Julia Dixon, of Taylor county, who died several years ago.

Joining the Taylor county lodge of P. & A. M. as a young man, Mr. Potter had continued active in that lodge after coming to Atlanta, though he had attended lodge meetings here. He was a member of the Park Street Methodist church.

Surviving are a son, Gardner Allen Potter, assistant manager of the southern division of the Ohio Match Company here; five daughters, Miss H. E. Potter, Miss H. A. Potter, Mrs. A. M. Alexander, of Atlanta; Mrs. J. G. Worley, of Smyrna, and Mrs. S. M. Wingham, of Miami, Fla.; 16 grandchildren, including Eugene H. and James E. Dennington, of Atlanta, and five great-grandchildren. Funeral arrangements will be announced by Sam B. Greenberg & Co.

COTTON LEADERS DEMAND SOLUTION OF DEBT PROBLEM

Continued from First Page.

A substantial lowering of the tariff, and an adjustment of war debts which will not only take into account the ability of the debtor to pay, but the effect that such payments will have on our foreign markets for cotton and other surplus commodities.

Cusley suggested the problem might be solved by a 20-year moratorium, with an abatement of interest and with the provision that any debtor might initiate negotiations for modification at the end of any five-year period. He recalled that when the United States owed money to France at the end of the Revolution the king of France "voluntarily forgave us the interest on the debt we owed him for five years."

"When I recall this episode," he continued, "I feel a little ashamed of the attitude of some of my countrymen who say to France and our other debtors: 'Pay us and pay us now.'"

The debts need not be, "and I think should not be," he said, "cancelled. 'The need of the world now,' he declared, "is for immediate adjustment of obligations and immediate payment of burdens that it may buy and sell produce and consume in normal fashion."

Our Assortment of LUGGAGE is unsurpassed in quality

W. Z. Turner Luggage Co. 219 Peachtree St.

Again NEXT SUNDAY

RUTH LE ROI

Will present the outstanding gifts of the Christmas season for every member of the family and the home.

Watch for this unusual feature in next SUNDAY'S CONSTITUTION

Bridge Tournament Contestants To Finish Qualifying Test Tonight

BY WHITNER CARY.

The 50 contract bridge players who started the qualifying tournament Saturday in the Master's tournament, with the ultimate goal a trip to St. Petersburg, Fla., and an opportunity to play in the individual championship of the United States, tonight will gather at the Cavendish Club to complete the final 20 boards of the qualifying test.

At the conclusion of tonight's play the 25 players having the highest scores in the two sections will be declared the entry to compete in the championship tournament. The latter will be held on Friday night, Saturday afternoon, Saturday night, and the following Monday night.

As seen from the standing, play in both sections is very close and with 20 more boards to play the qualifying list is still a matter of much speculation. Even those far down the list have a chance, by brilliant play, to catch the leaders or at least get within the first 12.

All the players realize that a trip to St. Petersburg in early January is well worth struggling for and to that end are striving with their utmost bridge ability to be among the favored 25 when tonight's scores are posted.

The management of the tournament earnestly requests that all players be on hand tonight at the Cavendish Club at 7:45 o'clock so that play can start promptly at 8 o'clock. Naturally all the players are going to play with great care on this final night and an early start is necessary in order that play be over at a reasonable hour.

Following is the official standing at the close of Saturday evening's play on 30 boards. The star beside a player's name indicates that that player has had his, or her, bye board for the second round.

Section 1. Mrs. Carl Vrethman, 80; Mrs. J. T. Daniel, 86 1-2; Mrs. Charles Hall Jr., 84; *Henry Tompkins, 83 1-2; Joe David, 83; Mrs. Gladys J. Peabody, 82 1-2; *Bill Dicker, 80 1-2; William Meador, 80; Henry Grady Sr., 79 1-2; S. Norburger, 76 1-2; J. C. Robinson, 74 1-2; Tom Daniel, 72; *Sam Madison, 71 1-2; A. Meredith, 71; *Edwin Smith, 70 1-2; Mrs. D. T. Martin, 70 1-2; Mrs. E. M. Brown, 70 1-2; *Larry Canfield, 67 1-2; Mrs. A. H. Turner, 64 1-2; Erskine Jones, 64; J. V. Keith Jr., 63; Arthur W. Powell, 61 1-2; Mrs. St. Elmo Massengale, 60 1-2; Dr. J. C. Williams, 54 1-2; and H. S. McCurry, 48 1-2.

Section 2. Miss Peggy Porter, 81; *Mrs. Olive Sparks, 80 1-2; Whitner Cary, 80 1-2; Robert L. Porter Jr., 79 1-2; John Marshall, 79 1-2; Mrs. Paul Reid, 78 1-2; Henry Grady Jr., 76 1-2; Hilary Gardner, 76 1-2; S. R. Fishburn, 76; Mrs. James Garner, 76; Mr. O. R. Keeler, 75; D. T. Martin, 74 1-2; *E. B. Zachary, 70 1-2; Mrs. William Adams, 69 1-2; Dr. J. C. Williams, 68; Henry Chanin, 68; W. H. Edwards, 66 1-2; Miss Ada Tanner, 66 1-2; Dr. Charles Hall Jr., 65 1-2; Mrs. Annie Foster, 65 1-2; *Mrs. Claude Williamson, 65; M. A. Calloway, 63; *Mrs. Elwyn Clarke, 61; *Mrs. J. C. Robinson, 50, 47.

Accompanying the funeral party were P. N. Massengale, 78, a veteran miner and father of the victims, the widow of each of the brothers, and the eight children of five of the sons. The sixth son, Henry, had no children. Funeral services for many of the other victims were held today at their homes.

The brothers, Henry, Garrett, Calvin, Esau, Tom and Campbell Massengale, were among the 23 men killed in the explosion at the Zero mine explosion near here.

Accompanying the funeral party were P. N. Massengale, 78, a veteran miner and father of the victims, the widow of each of the brothers, and the eight children of five of the sons. The sixth son, Henry, had no children. Funeral services for many of the other victims were held today at their homes.

Staten Island Paper Damaged by Bomb

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—(UP)—A bomb was thrown down the coal chute into the rear basement of the Staten Island Advance, daily newspaper, early today. Pipes were broken, a part of the basement ceiling cracked, windows shattered and other minor damage done.

Police attributed the bombing, which is the second in the last two years, to racketeers angered by the newspaper's policy toward the Staten Island underworld. The first bombing occurred in January, 1931. Early this year, during a trial of persons accused of a bombing on the island, the composing room of the Advance was broken into and a trial containing the story of the trial stolen.

In an editorial to appear tomorrow the Advance characterized the bomb plot as "stupid," and says that the newspaper would not submit to tactics of intimidation.

"The need of the world now," he declared, "is for immediate adjustment of obligations and immediate payment of burdens that it may buy and sell produce and consume in normal fashion."

Our Assortment of LUGGAGE is unsurpassed in quality

W. Z. Turner Luggage Co. 219 Peachtree St.

Again NEXT SUNDAY

RUTH LE ROI

Will present the outstanding gifts of the Christmas season for every member of the family and the home.

Watch for this unusual feature in next SUNDAY'S CONSTITUTION

RUTH LE ROI

Will present the outstanding gifts of the Christmas season for every member of the family and the home.

Watch for this unusual feature in next SUNDAY'S CONSTITUTION

RUTH LE ROI

Will present the outstanding gifts of the Christmas season for every member of the family and the home.

Watch for this unusual feature in next SUNDAY'S CONSTITUTION

RUTH LE ROI

Will present the outstanding gifts of the Christmas season for every member of the family and the home.

Watch for this unusual feature in next SUNDAY'S CONSTITUTION

RUTH LE ROI

Will present the outstanding gifts of the Christmas season for every member of the family and the home.

Watch for this unusual feature in next SUNDAY'S CONSTITUTION

RUTH LE ROI

Will present the outstanding gifts of the Christmas season for every member of the family and the home.

Watch for this unusual feature in next SUNDAY'S CONSTITUTION

RUTH LE ROI

SOUTH'S ACCIDENTS TAKE EIGHT LIVES

Autos, Cold Wave, Fire Listed as Causes of Fatalities.

By the Associated Press.

Despite the hazards attendant to a bold assault of winter, especially in highways washed with rain or covered with ice and snow, accidents in the south this week-end showed a marked decline as compared with previous weeks. Eight persons were killed.

An unusual fatal accident, that of a sled crash, was reported. One person died of exposure, another was burned to death, a fireman died of a heart attack superinduced by excitement, and automobiles figured in four deaths.

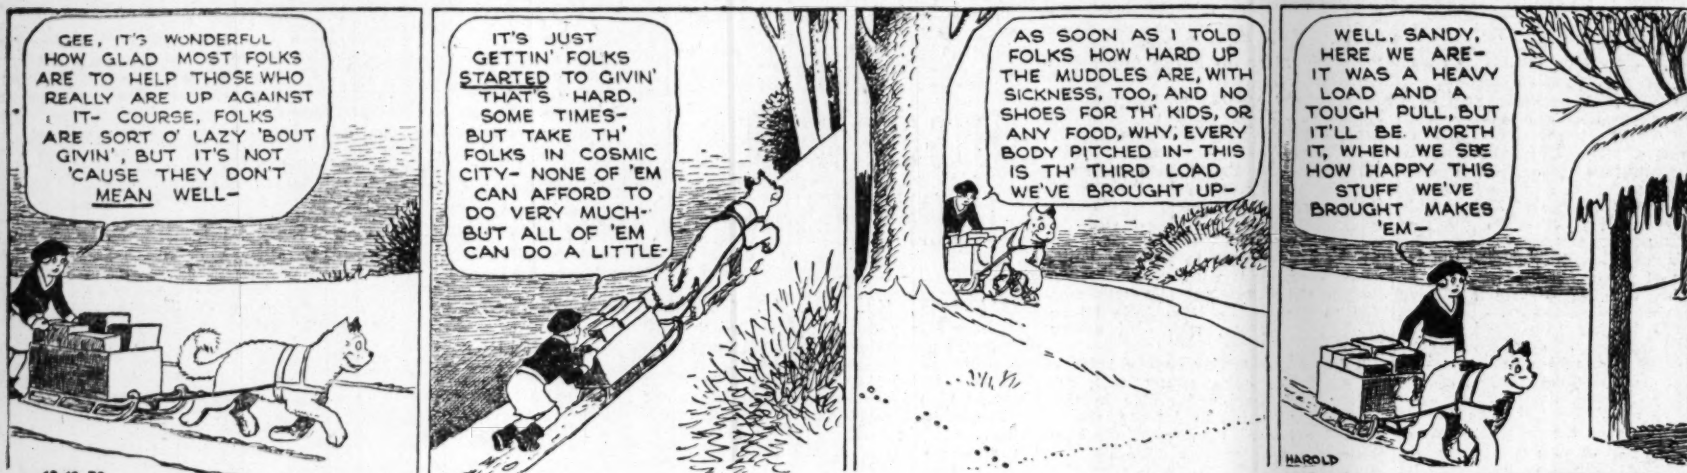

The deaths by states follow: Arkansas—Two deaths were attributed to the cold wave, as ice and sleet covered a greater part of the state. Jean Aymore, of Cotter, was hurt fatally when a sled she was coasting got beyond control and crashed. W. E. Rogers, of Tupelo, Miss., was found on a highway, near Osceola, Ark., after exposure. As his truck answered an alarm, Fire Chief Charles N. Keith, at Helena, collapsed from a heart attack and died shortly afterward.

North Carolina—Mrs. Lucy Edna Stone, 72, was burned to death at Pilot Mountain, Miss. Augusta Phillips, 19, lost her life as a train and automobile collided at Washington, and Mrs. Bobbie Harris, 34, was killed in an automobile wreck at Albemarle.

THE GUMPS—WHAT A MAN

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE—HELPING THE HELPLESS

MOON MULLINS—CHARGE IT TO OVERHEAD, LORD PLUSHBOTTOM

SMITTY—DARK TO LIGHT

GASOLINE ALLEY—THE SPOT WHERE—

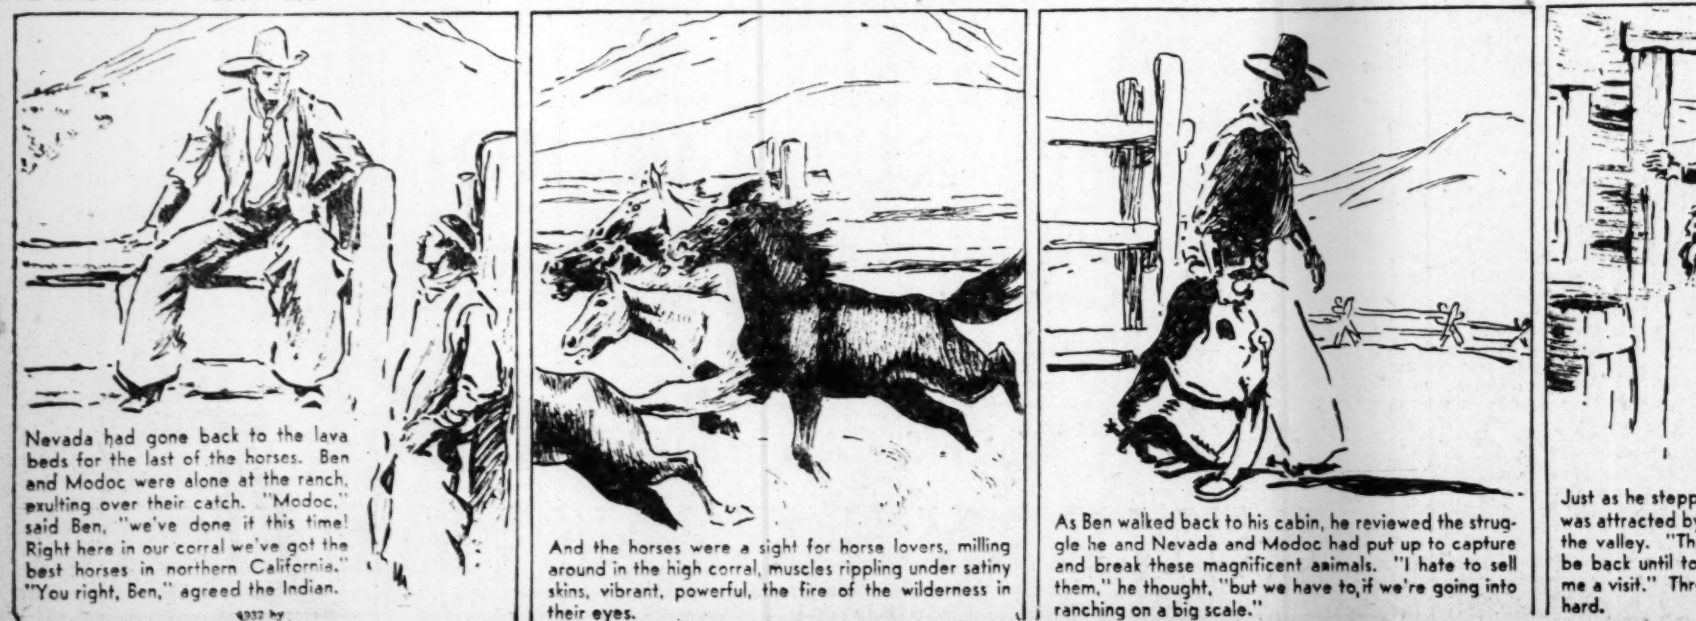

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER—GETTING INTO THE CHRISTMAS SPIRIT OF IT

FORLORN RIVER

Ben's Visitors.

By Zane Grey

PARIS LOVE

By Nina Wilcox Putnam

INSTALLMENT XXX.

"Monsieur le concierge," said the boy,

"wishes me to tell you that the Europe car which is like yours, is in the garage on the next street."

"You mean you're not," said Armand.

"You are just a little late, my young man. However, here are a few sous for you. Go buy yourself a bridal bouquet and stars for the church;

you'll get there by the time you are old enough to marry."

"But Monsieur," said the child, "the church is just opposite."

"I realize that," replied Armand, happily. "The boy turned and fled.

Fortunately, the mischief-maker, whoever he was, had left the motor undisturbed, and a most critical inspection having revealed nothing else wrong, it was only a matter of waiting for the tires, and noticing that the postoffice was nearby Alacia walked over to it and sent Piron a wire.

"Hot on trial but no luck as yet stop. Please inform mother I am all right stop. Has Colonel Bradley been hurt in accident? Isn't love wonderful wire answer to Palace hotel

Lyons Alacia."

Then, very pleased with her own efficiency, she turned to the garage, arriving just as Armand was backing the car into the street. Five minutes later the town was behind them, and they were heading into the soft wind which was blowing up from the Cote d'Azur.

But the delay in starting had been fatal. Alacia, taking a turn at the wheel, drove with a speed which made

Armand compliment her on her skill and courage, but luck seemed to be against them all the way. A Rapid had left the railroad station of Avail-

on ahead of them and reached each and every grade crossing just in time to find the Europa waiting behind a chain across the road. Then at Ch-lon the bridge was up, and again at Macon, where they waited fully 20 minutes while a barge was washed on a ledge by the spring-swollen waters of the Seine was pulled away by a tug, amidst a great honking from delayed motor traffic. Once they thought they saw Santini just ahead and in a part of speed came within a hundred yards of the car only to find that it was a Europa torpedo with an Italian license, carrying a placid family of three all neatly clad in white linen hats and dusters.

Eventually it was quite by accident that they made sure their quarry had continued south. At a little village

just before Lyons a bright new gasoline station stood by the road, and Alacia, noting the dashboard indicator, drew up beside it.

"Quelle jolie voiture!" said the man who waited on them. "Va gaz!"

"You bet she goes fast!" Alacia agreed proudly. "You won't see many like her."

"Mais oui!" protested the man, "on the contrary there was one exactly the same in here today. Santini, it was, a great racing driver. I've seen him drive many times. A veritable bird, that one! He was on his way to Monte Carlo to assist at the big race. You know it, perhaps."

"Yes, yes," Armand put in impatiently. "How long ago was he here?"

"Why, certainly not more than a half an hour!" the man assured him.

Always a bit out of the driver's seat.

"Armand, you take the wheel," she suggested. "But don't hurry. What's the use?"

"Why the sudden change of heart?"

he asked, puzzled.

"Don't you see?" she answered.

"He's going to drive the Prix de Monaco. For some reason or other, he's going through with it."

"Well, he was anxious enough to leave us well behind this morning, all right," Armand protested. "And, race

he no race, I think we'd better have a look through that car of his before he arrives in Monaco!"

But in Lyons it became evident that further pursuit was almost impossible, for the traffic of the great industrial city was incredibly congested. They moved inch by inch till his confusion and got lost twice in the crowded maze of streets.

Finally, after a dozen inquiries, they found the Palace hotel, a pretentious structure near the railroad station. The entrance hall was alive with gilded cases containing a bewidering display of brilliant silks, and the place had a smart, commercial air which promised the prompt service of what, by now, was a badly needed noon-day meal. At table Armand got out the road map and studied it with a puzzled frown.

"If only one were clairvoyant!" he said, "and could guess which route he has taken. See, the road branches

at Lyons, and there are two routes to the Cote d'Azur; one by

Grenoble, through the Alps, which is the shorter, the other across the plains

to Avignon and along the coast."

"Which is better?"

"They are equally good at this time of the year," he said. "It's a toss-

up."

"Then let's toss up!" said Alacia,

taking a small coin from her purse.

"It's as good a way of deciding as any, since all we can do is to guess.

Heads for the mountains, eh?"

The coin turned up tails.

By the time luncheon was over, the telegram for which Alacia had been hoping arrived. Piron had wired characteristically.

"But certainly it is stop. Have informed your mind that you will need evening clothes at Hotel de Paris

Monte Carlo and I will not neglect

Armand's dress studs stop. Colonel

Bradley slightly injured in accident

and at your mother's house at her insistence stop. New prints show Ca-

bre not our man but Lejarre has vanished stop. Why don't you get action or are you already honeymooning?"

Felicitations Piron.

"Some telegram!" said Armand,

exclaimed Alacia. "I only wish he'd stay put right there! And I hope his injury is just serious enough to be interesting."

"If only one were clairvoyant!" he said, "and could guess which route he has taken. See, the road branches

at Lyons, and there are two routes to the Cote d'Azur; one by

Grenoble, through the Alps, which is the shorter, the other across the plains

to Avignon and along the coast."

"Which is better?"

"They are equally good at this time of the year," he said. "It's a toss-

up."

"Then let's toss up!" said Alacia,

taking a small coin from her purse.

"It's as good a way of deciding as

any, since all we can do is to guess.

Heads for the mountains, eh?"

The coin turned up tails.

By the time luncheon was over, the telegram for which Alacia had been hoping arrived. Piron had wired characteristically.

"But certainly it is stop. Have informed your mind that you will need

evening clothes at Hotel de Paris

Monte Carlo and I will not neglect

Armand's dress studs stop. Colonel

Bradley slightly injured in accident

and at your mother's house at her

insistence stop. New prints show Ca-

bre not our man but Lejarre has vanished stop. Why don't you get action

or are you already honeymooning?"

Felicitations Piron.

"Some telegram!" said Armand,

exclaimed Alacia. "I only wish he'd stay put right there! And I hope his injury is just serious enough to be interesting."

"If only one were clairvoyant!" he said, "and could guess which route he has taken. See, the road branches

at Lyons, and there are two routes to the Cote d'Azur; one by

Grenoble, through the Alps, which is the shorter, the other across the plains

to Avignon and along the coast."

"Which is better?"

"They are equally good at this time of the year," he said. "It's a toss-

up."

"Then let's toss up!" said Alacia,

taking a small coin from her purse.

"It's as good a way of deciding as

any, since all we can do is to guess.

Heads for the mountains, eh?"

The coin turned up tails.

By the time luncheon was over, the telegram for which Alacia had been hoping arrived. Piron had wired characteristically.

"But certainly it is stop. Have informed your mind that you will need

evening clothes at Hotel de Paris

Monte Carlo and I will not neglect

Armand's dress studs stop. Colonel

Bradley slightly injured in accident

and at your mother's house at her

insistence stop. New prints show Ca-

bre not our man but Lejarre has vanished stop. Why don't you get action

or are you already honeymooning?"

Felicitations Piron.

"Some telegram!" said Armand,

exclaimed Alacia. "I only wish he'd stay put right there! And I hope his injury is just serious enough to be interesting."

"If only one were clairvoyant!" he said, "and could guess which route he has taken. See, the road branches

at Lyons, and there are two routes to the Cote d'Azur; one by

Grenoble, through the Alps, which is the shorter, the other across the plains

to Avignon and along the coast."

"Which is better?"

"They are equally good at this time of the year," he said. "It's a toss-

up."

"Then let's toss up!" said Alacia,

taking a small coin from her purse.

"It's as good a way of deciding as

any, since all we can do is to guess.

Heads for the mountains, eh?"

The coin turned up tails.

By the time luncheon was over, the telegram for which Alacia had been hoping arrived. Piron had wired characteristically.

"But certainly it is stop. Have informed your mind that you will need

evening clothes at Hotel de Paris

Monte Carlo and I will not neglect

Armand's dress studs stop. Colonel

Bradley slightly injured in accident

and at your mother's house at her

insistence stop. New prints show Ca-

bre not our man but Lejarre has vanished stop. Why don't you get action

or are you already honeymooning?"

Felicitations Piron.

"Some telegram!" said Armand,

exclaimed Alacia. "I only wish he'd stay put right there! And I hope his injury is just serious enough to be interesting."

"If only one were clairvoyant!" he said, "and could guess which route he has taken. See, the road branches

at Lyons, and there are two routes to the Cote d'Azur; one by

Grenoble, through the Alps, which is the shorter, the other across the plains

to Avignon and along the coast."

"Which is better?"

"They are equally good at this time of the year," he said. "It's a toss-

up."

"Then let's toss up!" said Alacia,

taking a small

Y. W. C. A. Rainbow Club Meets For Supper and Program Tonight

Young Women's Christian Association Rainbow Club members will enjoy a varied program this evening, beginning with supper at 6:30 o'clock; followed by a program of songs, recitations, and a dance held in the gym at 8:30 o'clock.

Many of the Rainbow girls are either without jobs or working at reduced salaries, so varied efforts are put forward to see that no girl will be deprived of "Y" recreational advantages because of lack of fees. The dance sponsored by the industrial department this evening will supplement the club treasury, as well as provide entertainment for "Y" girls and their friends. A round dance will be the order of the evening. A special number will be the tap dance by Miss Margaret Olsen. Tickets are 25 cents each person and may be secured from any club members or from the Y. W. C. A., 37 Auburn avenue.

Miss Joyce Adams, president of the Rainbow club, calls a meeting of the council of the industrial department, Tuesday evening, at 6 o'clock. Matters of importance, such as budget-balancing, spring programs, club recreation and recruiting will be discussed. An hour study will be devoted to Y. W. C. A. policies, with special attention given to how members are elected to the board of directors and qualifications desirable in prospective board members. Those attending the council meeting will be Misses Adams, Bill Nolan, Mae Rogers, Mary E. E. Jones, Margaret Olsen, Laura Langley, Jimmie Kemp, Katherine Lee, Darlene Moon, Nora McGarity, Beulah Cooper and May Rose Morris.

Girl Reserves are planning Christmas service and celebration. This afternoon, Commercial High girls will entertain at a party honoring the Reserves, who on Friday afternoon, were initiated at a special service. Miss Grace Menzen was in charge of the program, which extended a welcome to over 15 new members, and Miss Willie Ridley and Miss Dorothy McDonald arranged stunts and contests for the party.

Miss Anne Fridmore, Miss Dorothy Potts and Miss Mabel Talmadge will accompany a group of Girl's High students to the Emory museum Tuesday afternoon, where they will enjoy poring over the interesting collection of manuscripts, rare geological discoveries and portraits.

"Good-Jobs day" will be celebrated Wednesday by the Girl Reserves of North Fulton High. Mrs. J. Bonar White will give a talk on "Personal Hygiene," and Miss Hattie Robinson will give a demonstration on the "Art of Make-up."

"The Spirit of Christmas" will be the theme of the program for Saturday afternoon, when they will enjoy poring over the interesting collection of manuscripts, rare geological discoveries and portraits.

Friday afternoon, girls from the North Avenue Presbyterian school will sponsor a special Christmas program for the Chamber Girl Reserves. Readings, songs and games will be enjoyed and candy and fruit will be distributed. Mrs. E. H. Andrews, club advisor, will assist in the entertaining.

Girl Reserves are planning Christmas service and celebration. This afternoon, Commercial High girls will entertain at a party honoring the Reserves, who on Friday afternoon, were initiated at a special service. Miss Grace Menzen was in charge of the program, which extended a welcome to over 15 new members, and Miss Willie Ridley and Miss Dorothy McDonald arranged stunts and contests for the party.

Miss Anne Fridmore, Miss Dorothy Potts and Miss Mabel Talmadge will accompany a group of Girl's High students to the Emory museum Tuesday afternoon, where they will enjoy poring over the interesting collection of manuscripts, rare geological discoveries and portraits.

"Good-Jobs day" will be celebrated Wednesday by the Girl Reserves of North Fulton High. Mrs. J. Bonar White will give a talk on "Personal Hygiene," and Miss Hattie Robinson will give a demonstration on the "Art of Make-up."

"The Spirit of Christmas" will be the theme of the program for Saturday afternoon, when they will enjoy poring over the interesting collection of manuscripts, rare geological discoveries and portraits.

Friday afternoon, girls from the North Avenue Presbyterian school will sponsor a special Christmas program for the Chamber Girl Reserves. Readings, songs and games will be enjoyed and candy and fruit will be distributed. Mrs. E. H. Andrews, club advisor, will assist in the entertaining.

Girl Reserves are planning Christmas service and celebration. This afternoon, Commercial High girls will entertain at a party honoring the Reserves, who on Friday afternoon, were initiated at a special service. Miss Grace Menzen was in charge of the program, which extended a welcome to over 15 new members, and Miss Willie Ridley and Miss Dorothy McDonald arranged stunts and contests for the party.

Miss Anne Fridmore, Miss Dorothy Potts and Miss Mabel Talmadge will accompany a group of Girl's High students to the Emory museum Tuesday afternoon, where they will enjoy poring over the interesting collection of manuscripts, rare geological discoveries and portraits.

"Good-Jobs day" will be celebrated Wednesday by the Girl Reserves of North Fulton High. Mrs. J. Bonar White will give a talk on "Personal Hygiene," and Miss Hattie Robinson will give a demonstration on the "Art of Make-up."

"The Spirit of Christmas" will be the theme of the program for Saturday afternoon, when they will enjoy poring over the interesting collection of manuscripts, rare geological discoveries and portraits.

Friday afternoon, girls from the North Avenue Presbyterian school will sponsor a special Christmas program for the Chamber Girl Reserves. Readings, songs and games will be enjoyed and candy and fruit will be distributed. Mrs. E. H. Andrews, club advisor, will assist in the entertaining.

Girl Reserves are planning Christmas service and celebration. This afternoon, Commercial High girls will entertain at a party honoring the Reserves, who on Friday afternoon, were initiated at a special service. Miss Grace Menzen was in charge of the program, which extended a welcome to over 15 new members, and Miss Willie Ridley and Miss Dorothy McDonald arranged stunts and contests for the party.

Miss Anne Fridmore, Miss Dorothy Potts and Miss Mabel Talmadge will accompany a group of Girl's High students to the Emory museum Tuesday afternoon, where they will enjoy poring over the interesting collection of manuscripts, rare geological discoveries and portraits.

"Good-Jobs day" will be celebrated Wednesday by the Girl Reserves of North Fulton High. Mrs. J. Bonar White will give a talk on "Personal Hygiene," and Miss Hattie Robinson will give a demonstration on the "Art of Make-up."

"The Spirit of Christmas" will be the theme of the program for Saturday afternoon, when they will enjoy poring over the interesting collection of manuscripts, rare geological discoveries and portraits.

SOCIETY EVENTS

MONDAY, DECEMBER 12.

Mrs. W. B. Spann will be hostess at a bridge-tee at her home on Oakdale road, complementing Miss Sue Burnett, the notable daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Burnett.

Mrs. J. O. Wynn entertains at dinner followed by a theater party, honoring Miss Sue Burnett.

Mrs. Howard Groover will entertain at a children's party at her home, 105 Ryan avenue, East Point, in honor of the ninth birthday of her young son, Howard Groover Jr.

Shearith Israel Sisterhood will sponsor benefit bridge party at Ricks' tea room at 3 o'clock.

Atlanta Woman's Club holds a birthday program at 3:30 o'clock at the club, honoring the memory of Joel Chandler Harris.

Mrs. McGregor Honors Miss Gladys Dickert.

Mrs. Charles T. McGregor entertains at bridge, followed by a bridal shower, Saturday afternoon at her home on Greenwood avenue, as a complimentary gesture to Miss Gladys Dickert, lovely December bride-elect.

Mrs. McGregor's guests included, in addition to the honor guest, Misses Frances Johnson, Elizabeth Johnson, Marian Speiden, Martha Carmichael, Mesdames R. C. Whitehead, Charles Huckle, J. C. Fife, Sam Perry, G. E. Rathel, Raymond Jones, T. H. Thompson, E. L. Hardy and J. S. Dickert.

Dental Hygienists To Give Banquet.

Georgia Dental Hygienists' Association will hold its fifth annual membership banquet Thursday, December 15, at 6 p. m. at the Tavern tea room on Peachtree street. The group will be entertained by Miss Bernice Shinkler, who will give several tap dance numbers and other dance numbers will be presented by local talented performers.

The association extends invitations to all registered hygienists as well as dental assistants and dentists. Reservations may be had by telephoning the secretary, Mrs. M. E. Thompson, Walnut 6313.

Glennwood P. T. A.

Glennwood P. T. A. meets Wednesday afternoon, December 14, in the school auditorium. Dr. C. K. Stauffer, pastor of the First Christian church, will give a talk on "The Life of the Spirit and the Life of Today." There will also be several musical selections.

Miss Crane Honored.

Miss Hattie Gardner entertained Saturday afternoon at a bridge-shower at her home on Athens avenue, honoring Miss Gladys Crane, bride-elect of December. Miss Gardner was assisted in entertaining by her mother, Mrs. J. M. Gardner, and her sister, Miss Louise Gardner.

Those invited were Misses Crane, Emma Jones, Marion Martin, Leola Floyd, Willie Chambers, Pauline Bolis, Mesdames T. K. Crane, W. A. Thompson, Earl Lowden, John Lewis, Eva Pius, William Lanier, Charles Wilson, N. A. Ansley, W. A. Boone, W. E. Wilson, Ludwig F. Gaisert, Harold Cheney, Paul Briant, Albert Bone, Olin Rogers and Courtney Kay.

Style by Annette

Neither birth nor breeding, nor education, nor so-called "womanly" make friends with men of her choice unless these advantages that have accrued to her from good blood and a well trained mind have rendered her winsome and attractive and easy of approach. Noblesse oblige, say the French, and a snoot "better than thou" attitude on the part of any woman regarding her parents and her prestige, is always repellent to men. If we cannot make friends with the butcher, the baker the candle stick maker we cannot make friends with the aristocrats. It's what we put out, not what we have inherited or acquired, that interests the people we meet.

CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

hand on the basis of his bid.

The Opening lead was the club King, and West then shifted to the diamond 4. A heart lead at this point would have assured the defeat of the contract. East played the diamond 4, and South won the ace and immediately led a trump. West won and attempted to cash the ace of clubs, but this was ruffed by Mr. Parratt, and the remaining trump drawn. A round of diamonds followed, and South then cashed the heart Ace, apparently establishing two high hearts in the East hand. Now the remaining spades were led, and East had great difficulty in finding discards. The heart Knave in Dummy forced him to retain the heart King, so he was forced to give up a diamond, thus permitting the fulfillment of the contract.

TOMORROW'S HAND.

The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed tomorrow.

South—Dealer.

Both sides vulnerable.

♠ K 10 8 5 4 2
♥ J 5
♦ 7 5
♣ 9 4

♠ A 9
♥ 10 8 6 3
♦ 4 2
♣ A K 5

♠ Q 7 6 3
♥ A 7 2
♦ A Q J 2
♣ 8

The Bidding:

(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South West North East
1 ♠ 2 ♠ 3 ♠ (1) 4 ♠
4 ♠ Pass Pass 5 ♠
5 ♠ (2) Pass Pass 6 ♠
Pass Pass Pass Dbl.

North's better bid here is four spades, a Pre-emptive Raise, as the hand is entirely void of strength in any other suit, but it is doubtful if this bid would have changed the course of the auction.

The five club contract can be defeated 1 trick, but South anticipates finding more in the North

Newcomers to Atlanta

Mrs. Herbert Jennings and her attractive daughter, Miss Ruth Marion Jennings, who, with Mr. Jennings and members of this interesting family, have moved from Memphis, Tenn., to Atlanta to make their home at 1765 Peachtree road. Photograph by Misses A. C. and L. W. Mead.

The association extends invitations to all registered hygienists as well as dental assistants and dentists. Reservations may be had by telephoning the secretary, Mrs. M. E. Thompson, Walnut 6313.

Glennwood P. T. A.

Glennwood P. T. A. meets Wednesday afternoon, December 14, in the school auditorium. Dr. C. K. Stauffer, pastor of the First Christian church, will give a talk on "The Life of the Spirit and the Life of Today." There will also be several musical selections.

Miss Crane Honored.

Miss Hattie Gardner entertained Saturday afternoon at a bridge-shower at her home on Athens avenue, honoring Miss Gladys Crane, bride-elect of December. Miss Gardner was assisted in entertaining by her mother, Mrs. J. M. Gardner, and her sister, Miss Louise Gardner.

Those invited were Misses Crane, Emma Jones, Marion Martin, Leola Floyd, Willie Chambers, Pauline Bolis, Mesdames T. K. Crane, W. A. Thompson, Earl Lowden, John Lewis, Eva Pius, William Lanier, Charles Wilson, N. A. Ansley, W. A. Boone, W. E. Wilson, Ludwig F. Gaisert, Harold Cheney, Paul Briant, Albert Bone, Olin Rogers and Courtney Kay.

Style by Annette

Neither birth nor breeding, nor education, nor so-called "womanly" make friends with men of her choice unless these advantages that have accrued to her from good blood and a well trained mind have rendered her winsome and attractive and easy of approach. Noblesse oblige, say the French, and a snoot "better than thou" attitude on the part of any woman regarding her parents and her prestige, is always repellent to men. If we cannot make friends with the butcher, the baker the candle stick maker we cannot make friends with the aristocrats. It's what we put out, not what we have inherited or acquired, that interests the people we meet.

CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

hand on the basis of his bid.

The Opening lead was the club King, and West then shifted to the diamond 4. A heart lead at this point would have assured the defeat of the contract. East played the diamond 4, and South won the ace and immediately led a trump. West won and attempted to cash the ace of clubs, but this was ruffed by Mr. Parratt, and the remaining trump drawn. A round of diamonds followed, and South then cashed the heart Ace, apparently establishing two high hearts in the East hand. Now the remaining spades were led, and East had great difficulty in finding discards. The heart Knave in Dummy forced him to retain the heart King, so he was forced to give up a diamond, thus permitting the fulfillment of the contract.

TOMORROW'S HAND.

The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed tomorrow.

South—Dealer.

Both sides vulnerable.

♠ K 10 8 5 4 2
♥ J 5
♦ 7 5
♣ 9 4

♠ A 9
♥ 10 8 6 3
♦ 4 2
♣ A K 5

♠ Q 7 6 3
♥ A 7 2
♦ A Q J 2
♣ 8

The Bidding:

(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South West North East
1 ♠ 2 ♠ 3 ♠ (1) 4 ♠
4 ♠ Pass Pass 5 ♠
5 ♠ (2) Pass Pass 6 ♠
Pass Pass Pass Dbl.

North's better bid here is four spades, a Pre-emptive Raise, as the hand is entirely void of strength in any other suit, but it is doubtful if this bid would have changed the course of the auction.

The five club contract can be defeated 1 trick, but South anticipates finding more in the North

WOMEN'S MEETINGS

MONDAY, DECEMBER 12.

Mrs. George Hinman lectures on "Children in Art" at the Avondale grammar school this evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Cultural group members of the Sisterhood of the A. A. synagogue meet at 3 o'clock in the main auditorium of the synagogue, corner Washington street and Woodward avenue.

Study class of the parental education group of Bass Junior High P. T. A. meets at the home of Mrs. Louis Aronstein, 854 Lullwater road, N. E., this evening at 7:15 o'clock.

Maddox Junior High P. T. A. meets in the school auditorium at 2:30 o'clock.

The circles of the Women's Auxiliaries of Westminster Presbyterian church will meet at the church at 2:30 o'clock.

The deacons and elders of Westminster Presbyterian church meet at 7:30 o'clock at the church this evening.

Executive Committee of the Women's Council of the Peachtree Christian church meets at 2:30 o'clock at the church.

Board of the Andrew and Frances Stewart Good will center meets at 10:30 o'clock.

Kirkwood Baptist W. M. S. will hold an all-day meeting. The program will be given at 11 o'clock; luncheon at 12:30; business and election of officers at 1:30 o'clock.

Circles of Capitol Avenue Baptist W. M. S. meet at 3 o'clock at the church.

Y. W. A. of Capitol Avenue Baptist church meets this evening at 6 o'clock at the church.

St. Catherine's Guild of St. Luke's church meets at 3 o'clock at the home of Mrs. L. N. Conrad, 2628 Habersham road.

St. Agnes Circle of St. Luke's Women's Auxiliary meets at 3 o'clock at the home of Mrs. W. A. Niall, 326 Moreland avenue, N. E.

Women's Auxiliary and Woman's Guild of the Church of Our Saviour meets at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. N. Moore, 1022 Kentucky avenue.

Capitol City chapter, No. 111, O. E. S. meets at 7:30 o'clock this evening at 423 1/2 Marietta street.

North Atlanta chapter, No. 36, O. E. S. installs officers at 8 o'clock this evening in the Masonic temple, 1002 1/2 Hemphill avenue.

Progressive Grove No. 361, Supreme Forest Woodmen Circle, meets this evening in the hall of the Henry Grady hotel at 7:30 o'clock. Junior chapter No. 38 meets at 7 o'clock this evening.

Fulton chapter No. 181, O. E. S., meets this evening.

Bhakti court, L. O. S. of N. A., meets at the Henry Grady hotel at 7:30 o'clock.

Pioneer Current Events class meets at 11 o'clock this morning with Mrs. Richard Battle, at 376 North avenue.

Birthday Party.

Rev. and Mrs. Herman L. Turner entertained Friday afternoon at their home on Terrace drive at a party honoring their son, Paul Gray Turner, who celebrated his eleventh birthday. Christmas decorations prevailed throughout the home and the cutting of a birthday cake was an enjoyable feature. The guests included 35 friends of the honor guest.

Oakhurst Circle.

Circle No. 8 of the Oakhurst Baptist W. M. U. met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. L. U. Poe at 240 Lansdown avenue. Mrs. J. E. Pickle, the leader, presided. The program consisted of the reading of the "Birth of Christ."

Those present were Mrs. R. J. Brown, Mrs. S. F. Reed, Mrs. C. D. Hinchey, Mrs. R. C. Connolly, Mrs. D. F. Lambeth, Mrs. A. B. Wolfe, Mrs. Frances Wing, Mrs. A. L. Poe, Mrs. E. Pickle and Mrs. Bruce.

Mrs. Beadles' Party.

Mrs. Theron Beadles entertained her bridge club in a luncheon Wednesday at the home of her aunt, Mrs. W. J. Stoddard, on Piedmont road. After luncheon bridge was played. With Mrs. Harry Pritchett receiving high score, and Mrs. A. J. Richards cut consolation.

The guests included Mrs. A. I. Richards, Mrs. Harry Pritchett and Mrs. W. L. Pruitt. Members present were Mrs. R. L. Edwards, Mrs. F. W. Mott, Mrs. Grady Pruitt, Mrs. William Brant and Mrs. Barney Little.

Mrs. Beadles was assisted in entertaining by her aunt, Mrs. Stoddard.

Mrs. Hinman's Lecture

Mrs. George Hinman, chairman of art of the fifth district federation, will give one of her illustrated lectures on "Children in Art" at the Avondale grammar school Monday, December 12. There will be no admission charge, and Avondale Garden Club, sponsoring the lecture, invites the public to attend.

Personal Intelligence

Colonel and Mrs. Percy L. Jones and their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Jones, of Erie, Pa., formerly of Atlanta, are visiting Mrs. H. M. Hall, of Cedartown, and will attend the Hall-Hind wedding Saturday evening. They will remain through the holidays.

Mrs. M. Rose, 950 Ponce de Leon, chairman of committee on funds for Hospital 48, has been called to Tennessee on account of the death of her brother.

Mrs. Tracy Mathewson, who has been ill with influenza at her home in Boulevard Park, is improving.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Thompson are at the Hotel DeSoto in Savannah.

Mrs. A. V. Calhoun is visiting Mrs. William J. Noyes in New York.

Tomorrow, Nancy Page will present another of her beautiful quilt patterns.

Miss Virginia Hall Is Honored At Party Series in Cedartown

CEDARTOWN, Ga., Dec. 11.—Many interesting parties have been planned for the coming week in honor of Miss Virginia Ives Hall, who is to become the bride of John Van Lindley, of Greensboro, N. C., Saturday evening, December 17.

Miss Hall and members of her wedding party will be honored at a luncheon given by Mrs. P. O. Calhoun next Tuesday. Mrs. H. M. Hall, the bride-elect's mother, will be hostess at a trolley tea Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Kathrine Bunn will be hostess at a luncheon Thursday. The guests will include Miss Hall, her bridesmaids and a few intimate friends.

Theresa Adair will hostess at a tea for Miss Hall, at the home of the former on Wiskissawick avenue, Friday afternoon.

The wedding of Miss Hall and Mr. Lindley will be held at the First Methodist church at 10:30 o'clock Saturday evening. Immediately following the ceremony, Mrs. H. M. Hall, the bride-elect's mother, will entertain the bridal party and a number of guests and a few intimate friends at a reception at her home on Herbert street.

Miss Lucille Coleman Mrs. Stevenson Is Honor Guest. Calls Meeting.

Mrs. Wellington Stevenson, chairman of the Georgia Legislative Council of Women's Organizations, calls a meeting of the presidents and legislative chairmen of state organizations for Tuesday, December 13, at 11 o'clock at Rhodes Memorial hall at 1516 Peachtree street, in Atlanta, to consider the proposed amendment to the 1933 legislative session.

The amendment to the state constitution requiring the general assembly to convene for a short session in January, carried on November 8, and the governor and statehouse officials will be inaugurated at the January session of the legislature. Bills may be introduced also and it is necessary that state organizations keep local clubs, leagues and chapters informed as to what is being proposed in order that the individual members may discuss intelligently proposed legislation with local legislators.

Miss Hamilton McWhorter, legislative chairman for the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. W. A. Ozmer, of the League of Women Voters, and others have indicated a desire to attend the meeting. Mrs. Ruth Blair, of the department of archives and history, has invited the council to visit the various rooms in the Memorial building during the noon. A luncheon can be had nearby at 1 o'clock and reservations may be made by calling Dearborn 0830 on Monday, December 12.

Avondale Club.

Avondale Junior Music Club, Miss Frances Burgess, counselor, met in the auditorium of Avondale school last Friday afternoon, with the president, Miss Catherine Farrar, presiding. The singing of Christmas carols, with Miss Sarah Ivey at the piano, was enjoyed, and Misses Mary Elizabeth Walker, Charlotte Lloyd, Virginia Ford and Hattie O'Connell furnished a program of piano ensemble and solos.

Miss Burgess made a short Christmas address, and the Sunshine committee reported a generous offering of toys for Christmas distribution. Several members visited the Grimes-Christie Club last week, when Miss Helen Knox Spence, of the Georgia Federation of Music Clubs.

For Mrs. Van Landingham.

Mrs. William S. Van Landingham, a recent bride, was honor guest at a bridge-tee given by Mrs. Roy E. Callaway on Saturday afternoon at the Frances Virginia tea room. Invited to meet her were Misses Dorothy Ford, Katie Hazel Houston, Liza Carpenter, Mary Andrews, Evelyn Garrett, Susan Gardner, Ann Richards, Kathryn Beuten, Lois Latty, Ruth Lewis, Mildred Moon, Edna Huchinson and Mrs. Cecil Barksdale and R. G. Bowman.

Miss Smith Postpones Party for Debutantes.

Mrs. Alex Smith Jr. has postponed the tea at which she was to entertain this afternoon at her home on Tusculo road in honor of Misses Caroline Selden, Mary Meador Goldsmith and Marion Adams. The party will take place in January, and the date will be announced later.

Lillian Mae Patterns.

Chorus work was begun on Christmas carols as a part of the club's activities. Members will furnish the music for a pageant to be given by the First Methodist church of East Point on Christmas day.

Hostesses were Misses Joyce Smith and Marianna Harmon. The club will cooperate with any organization desiring to present programs.

Shorter Chord Club Presents Program.

ROME, Ga., Dec. 10.—Chord Club will present its annual program of Christmas music Sunday, December 18, at 8 o'clock at Shorter College, Arthur S. Talmadge, head of the department of music, is director of the program.

The W. Y. C. A. cabinet invited the Sunday school of Rome Baptist church and the children from the Owen Moore home to a Christmas tree and party Saturday evening. The program consisted of readings by Misses Mary Jeanette Connor, of Tusculo, and Rose Essers, of Rome; Cecelia Harber, of Commerce; Ann Jones, of Ringgold; Ala. Marian Conover, of Valdosta; Virginia Knight, of Waycross; Mary Jeffords, of Sylvester; Emily Feltz, of Lagrange; Mildred Warren Felker, of Monticello.

The last part of the program was made up of four sketches in which appeared Misses Susan Hardy, of Rome; Sarah Davis, of Atlanta; Frances Cornell, of Albany; Nancy Terrell, of Monroe, La.; Jane Keith, of Washington, D. C.; and West Point, Ann Wimbish, of Atlanta; Barbara Davis, of Manchester; Cecelia Harber, of Commerce; Ann Jones, of Ringgold; Ala. Marian Conover, of Valdosta; Virginia Knight, of Waycross; Mary Jeffords, of Sylvester; Emily Feltz, of Lagrange; Mildred Warren Felker, of Monticello.

Library Club.

Atlanta Library Club's December meet will take the form of a Christmas party on Saturday evening, December 17, at her home studio, 830 Gordon street, West End.

An outstanding feature of the program will be the musical playlet, "Candle Light," which presents nine little girls. This number will be followed by selections by other students. The singing of Christmas carols will be enjoyed. Music seven.

Junior Program.

Miss Georgia Phillips, teacher of piano, is planning a musical program and a general holiday celebration for her junior members on Saturday, December 17, at her home studio, 830 Gordon street, West End.

An outstanding feature of the program will be the musical playlet, "Candle Light," which presents nine little girls. This number will be followed by selections by other students. The singing of Christmas carols will be enjoyed. Music seven.

WOMEN MENTHAGILL POWDER THE PERFECT HYGIENIC POWDER FOR A SOLUTION AT ALL DRUG STORES

THE JUMPER'S THE THING. Pattern 2387.

As sweet and adorable as the girl who wears it . . . the darlings jumper favors simple seaming, while the blouse has the most lovely details . . . a demure close-to-the-neck collar and full graceful puffed sleeves.

With sheer tulle for the jumper we suggest a cotton or silk guppie. Of course, other blouses or sweaters make refreshing changes.

Pattern 2387 may be ordered only in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20. Size 16 requires 2 yards 54-inch fabric and 1 1/2 yards 36-inch contrasting. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included with this pattern.

THE PORTLIGHT

By Kenneth Rice

The Strongest Line.
As long as gun cotton, dynamite and nitroglycerine are barred there is nothing much one can do about blasting out that Southern California line.

Those who saw Notre Dame crack the Army were confident the South Bend forwards were football's strongest wall, but even this great line was outmanned by Smith, Brown, Rosenberg, Palmer and Sparling, all close to the all-America grade.

When a backfield with the weight and speed of the Hamblett offense and the line of the Trojans' main attraction, all close to the all-America grade.

Southern California was not expected to have the ball-carrying ability that Ninkovich, Lukats, Koken and others have shown all year. The passing game of Warburton and Griffith has been the Trojans' main attraction. And this was the combination that wrecked the Ramblers.

However, when you have a line that can't be moved you have the answer.

In the course of a golf match last August Howard Jones made this remark:

"I don't know how my backfield will make out, but I haven't anything to worry about in my line from end to end. I can't think it will be outplayed."

And here is the terrific backfield that's made the Trojans' main attraction. The Panthers' only chance is to ride the balmy California air.

Sport's Leading Lady.
Among the more famous callers at the headquarters of these dispatches was an attractive young woman who looked as if she could step into championship play on 10 minutes' notice and get by without extra effort.

The name is Mrs. Helen Willis Moody, who stopped off in New York on her way to a Christmas in California after a nine-month tour of Europe.

On this tour her tennis racket sang a winning song from the courts of Norway and Sweden on through England, Germany and France.

There is no athlete who keeps in better physical condition than the tennis champion who has dominated the women's side of the game for many years. Instead of putting on weight she has lost a few pounds on this trip, which is proof enough of the care she takes in watching over her physical side, whether it be Oslo, London, Berlin or San Francisco.

Only 27 years old now, Mrs. Moody won her first national title in 1923. Her winning years include 1923, 1924, 1925, 1927, 1928, 1929 and 1931. Her absence from the tournament list prevented a clean sweep in 1930.

In addition to these United States titles, Mrs. Moody also has dominated the women's tennis domain of Europe in the last five or six years, for only on rare occasions has there been anyone good enough to give her anything like an even match.

Stagg Admits Applying For Job
CHICAGO, Dec. 11.—(UP)—Amos Alonzo Stagg, who is retiring as football coach at the University of Chicago, admitted today that he had applied for a position as coach at the College of Pacific, at Stockton, Calif.

"I received a telegram from officials of the College of Pacific several days ago asking me if I would be interested in being coach and athletic director there," Stagg said. "The telegram listed the attractive salary of the school and the coaching opportunities."

"I sent an immediate reply that I was very much interested and wanted to be considered for the place."

Foreign Legion Is Tame Compared With Hockey
That Is, Tough, Hard-Hitting Hombres Who Ride Ice for Big-Time Teams.

By Henry McLemore,
United Press Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—(UP)—Legend has it that the sun-baked babies of the Foreign Legion are the last word in toughness; that compared with the men who stand waist for France in the outposts of the world, the rest of us are mollycoddlers.

Maybe so, but if we were asked to cast a vote in a contest to determine the world's toughest hombres, we'd mark our tally in favor of those hard-hitting daredevils who ride the ice in big-time professional hockey.

We've known for a long time that the men of hockey were a race apart, but not until we picked up a program at Madison Square Garden the other night did we fully appreciate just how the players can take it—and like it. The hockey editor, needing a page or two devoted to a few of the injuries suffered by a few of the players, and the modest little write-up was a saga of courage, an epic of fortitude.

Ching Johnson, we guess, is Exhibit A among the toughest. Off the ice he is the most modest and unassuming of fellows, but once the whistle blows he becomes the wild man of the frozen field. Ching's been knocked out so many times he resembles a crumpled piece of paper. He has been patched up enough times to keep a knitting mill busy for a week has been.

One season Dit Clapper, of Boston, checked Johnson square in the chest and Ching suffered a compound fracture of the jaw. Wires were used to hold his shattered bones together and a special harness created by his new manager, Ching, was used to support his face, when Ching insisted on continuing play.

And Belgie Bostrum, of the Chicago Blackhawks, was in a mix-up with the Rangers last year. Belgie dropped to the ice, with a tremendous slash just above his right ankle. For seven weeks he lay in the hospital, waiting for a hundred stitches, which he received. His comrades cheered him in his trouble by making him a hero.

Doctors said Bostrum would never play hockey again.

Lionel Conacher, Canada's most famous all-around athlete, is a respected member of the Tough Guy's Association. Near the end of the 1931 season Lionel drew a nasty gash in the first period of a game with the Americans. He finished out the period with blood oozing through his heavy pads.

When he returned to the dressing room the doctor offered him an anesthetic.

Dave Trotter, of the Montreal Maroons, came within an ace of death a few seasons back when a skate blade gashed his neck, missing the jugular vein by a whisper. Dave's still riding high, wide and handsome.

Eddie Shore, Boston's "bad boy" once had all his front teeth knocked out in a game but refused substitution.

These are just a few examples of how the men of hockey can take it. It's tell you more but have a cold in the head and feel like we're going to die.

Fried Tender Loins with Rasher of Bacon

11 A. M. to 2 P. M.

Try Our Wonderful 25c Supper BLUE ROAR PALMER BLDG.

On the Radio Waves Today

Analay Hotel WGST 890 Kc. Biltmore Hotel WSB 740 Kc.

7:00 A. M.—Classical Musicale.
7:30—Strolling Down Peachtree.
8:00—Little Jack Little, CBS.
8:15—Gypsy Music Makers, CBS.
8:30—Tony Wong "Are You Listening?" CBS.
8:45—Christian Council of Atlanta.
9:00—The Singing Vagabond, CBS.
9:15—Melody Parade, CBS.
9:30—Edna Bush, CBS.
9:45—Vocal Art Trio, CBS.
10:00—Morning Mood, CBS.
10:15—News.
10:30—Radio Special.
10:45—Rudolf Haydn's orchestra, CBS.
11:00—Concert Miniatures, CBS.
11:15—George Hall's orchestra, CBS.
11:30—P. M.—Atlantic City Musicale, CBS.
11:45—Merchandise, CBS.
12:00—Sylvia Sapira, The Well-Tempered (Clari-Chord) CBS.
12:15—American School of the Air, CBS.
12:30—Elizabeth Barthel, CBS.
12:45—Helen Wright, CBS.
1:00—Sam Prager, pianist, CBS.
1:15—Kron Bros, CBS.
1:30—New.
1:45—Columbia Artist Recital, CBS.
1:55—National Tuberculosis Association program, CBS.
2:00—Hart Parke.
2:15—Westbrook Conservatory Players.
2:30—Lola Allen, Wallace.
2:45—Graham Galloway, CBS.
3:00—Irene Beasley, CBS.
3:15—Atlanta Congress Today, CBS.
3:30—Rels and Dunn, CBS.
3:45—The Buick.
3:55—Georgia Tech Band, CBS.
4:10—Behind the Headlines.
4:25—Dancey presents The Village Nut-smith.
4:40—Jolan Jones and orchestra, CBS.
4:55—Goodrich Silverstone with Chick Wilcox.
5:00—News.
5:15—Ann Leaf at the organ, CBS.
5:30—The Four Chimes, CBS.
5:45—Studio Variety.
6:00—The Americanos, CBS.
6:15—Mystery in Paris, CBS.
6:30—Chatterfield program, CBS.
6:45—Studio.
6:50—Columbia Revue, CBS.
7:00—News.
7:15—Howard Barlow and the Columbia Symphony orchestra.
7:30—Edna Bush, CBS.
7:45—Duchini's orchestra, CBS.
8:00—Dee Selvin's orchestra, CBS.

8:55 A. M.—Another Day.
9:00—News.
9:15—Radio Interlude.
9:30—Cheerful, NBC.
9:45—Popping Pop, NBC.
10:00—Vic and Sada, NBC.
10:15—Nothing But the Truth, NBC.
10:30—John Fogarty, NBC.
10:45—Clara, Lou and Sam, NBC.
10:55—Savvy Band, NBC.
11:00—News.
11:15—Chevrolet program, NBC.
11:30—Radio Shopper.
11:45—Sonata Recital, NBC.
12:00—Johnny Marvin, NBC.
12:15—Ady Bugs, NBC.
12:30—Farm and Home Hour, NBC.
12:45—The Georgia School of Georgia.
1:00—Symphony, NBC.
1:15—Godefrey Ludlow, NBC.
1:30—Helen Wright, NBC.
1:45—Henrietta Schumann, NBC.
1:55—Helen Wright, NBC.
2:00—News.
2:15—Radio Guild, NBC.
2:30—Stromma Concert, NBC.
2:45—Dreadnought Caravan, NBC.
2:55—Bill Taylor.
3:00—The Secret Three.
3:15—News.
3:30—Santa Claus program.
3:45—Lola Allen, Wallace.
3:55—Graham Galloway, NBC.
4:10—The All-Star Revue, NBC.
4:25—Helen Wright, NBC.
4:40—Sincere Winner Minstrels, NBC.
4:55—The Buick.
5:00—Carleton Contingent program, NBC.
5:15—The Buick.
5:30—Margaret Rivali, NBC.
5:45—The Buick.
6:00—George Barker orchestra, NBC.
6:15—Waldorf-Astoria orchestra, NBC.

Shrine Mosque WJTL 1370 Kc.

6:45 A. M.—Morning devotion.
7:00—Georgia Theater organ hour.
7:15—WJTL-Paramount popularity contest.
7:30—The Radio Auctioneer.
7:45—NBC concert orchestra.
8:00—Margaret Rivali, Chinese concert.
8:15—NBC concert orchestra.
8:30—Society.
8:45—English, 211.
8:55—History and Interpretation of the Bible.
9:00—Edna Bush, CBS.
9:15—WJTL-Paramount popularity contest.
9:30—Joe Carter and his band.
9:45—Economic problems.
10:00—The Buick.
10:15—History and Appreciation of Music.
10:30—Singing Sisters.
10:45—Helen Wright and orchestra.
10:55—Keith Songwriters' revue.
11:00—Merchandise on Parade.
11:15—WJTL-Paramount popularity contest.
11:30—Edna Bush, CBS.
11:45—Florence, amateur nite.
12:00—E. Volpi, recital.
12:15—Helen Wright, CBS.
12:30—Ralph Carroll.
12:45—Slumber hour.
12:55—Steeple Town Express.
1:00—Sign off.

Chicago WGN 720 Kc.

7:00—Whispering Jack Smith, CBS.
7:15—Singing Sam, CBS.
7:30—Katie Smith, CBS.
7:45—Helen Wright, CBS.
8:00—Helen Wright, CBS.
8:15—Helen Wright, CBS.
8:30—Helen Wright, CBS.
8:45—Helen Wright, CBS.
9:00—Helen Wright, CBS.
9:15—Helen Wright, CBS.
9:30—Helen Wright, CBS.
9:45—Helen Wright, CBS.
10:00—Helen Wright, CBS.
10:15—Helen Wright, CBS.
10:30—Helen Wright, CBS.
10:45—Helen Wright, CBS.
11:00—Helen Wright, CBS.
11:15—Helen Wright, CBS.
11:30—Helen Wright, CBS.
11:45—Helen Wright, CBS.
12:00—Helen Wright, CBS.

Cincinnati, WLV 700 Kc.

6:45—Lowell Thomas, NBC.
7:00—Helen Wright, CBS.
7:15—Helen Wright, CBS.
7:30—Helen Wright, CBS.
7:45—Helen Wright, CBS.
8:00—Helen Wright, CBS.
8:15—Helen Wright, CBS.
8:30—Helen Wright, CBS.
8:45—Helen Wright, CBS.
9:00—Helen Wright, CBS.
9:15—Helen Wright, CBS.
9:30—Helen Wright, CBS.
9:45—Helen Wright, CBS.
10:00—Helen Wright, CBS.
10:15—Helen Wright, CBS.
10:30—Helen Wright, CBS.
10:45—Helen Wright, CBS.
11:00—Helen Wright, CBS.
11:15—Helen Wright, CBS.
11:30—Helen Wright, CBS.
11:45—Helen Wright, CBS.
12:00—Helen Wright, CBS.

On the Air Today

Sylvia Sapira, young concert pianist and teacher, will offer preludes and fugues Nos. 9, 10 and 11 from Bach's monumental work, "The Well-Tempered Clavier," during the broadcast over WGST and the Columbia network today from 1:15 to 3:20 p. m. The first of the preludes and fugues in E Major, presents a picture akin to a lovely landscape by Gainsborough. The second, numbered the "Prelude and Fugue in E minor," is in sharp contrast with the simplicity of its predecessor. The third selection, the F major Prelude and Fugue, returns to simpler construction.

The bloody career of Harald, the first Norwegian ruler to attempt unification of the country under one government, will be dramatized in the history class of the American School of the Air over the WGST-Columbia network from 1:30 to 2 p. m. Harald, who lived from 850 to 933, conquered all his rivals and set himself up as king of all Norway.

The Boswell Sisters will answer the question, "How Can I Hit-It When I Feel So Low?" in their new harmony with Nat Shilkret's orchestra in the broadcast of "Music That Satisfies" tonight at 9 o'clock over the WGST-Columbia selection. The favorite trio also will go into a song huddle concerning "Street of Dreams" and, by special arrangement, will add their version of "Minnie the Moocher's Wedding Day." Nat will conduct his novelty orchestra in two trick songs, "You Little Fool" and "So," and, fittingly enough, "Here It Is Monday."

Mrs. Rogers H. Bacon, socially prominent New York social worker, will speak on "Robert Louis Stevenson during the program under the auspices of the National Tuberculosis Association and broadcast over WGST and the Columbia network, today from 3:45 to 4 p. m. Mrs. Bacon's talk will mark the second of a series dealing with famous men of history who have suffered from tuberculosis.

Vaugh de Leath will be presented in another quarter-hour of popular songs and rhythm over the WGST-Columbia network today at 5:30 p. m., featuring his new version of "Cherry and the Playboys." She'll also sing "You're Just About Right for Me," "I'll Never Have to Dream Again," "Don't Say Goodnight to Me," and "The Rich Orchestra arrangements will include "Just Because You're Young" and "Mo More Love."

Freelance pianist Fred S. Low will play a recital of his new compositions, "The National Tuberculosis Association, and broadcast over WGST and the Columbia network, today from 3:45 to 4 p. m. Mrs. Bacon's talk will mark the second of a series dealing with famous men of history who have suffered from tuberculosis.

Football as well as wrestling fans of Atlanta are expected to be in large numbers Tuesday night to observe Herman Hickman, last year's all-American tackle with the University of Tennessee, in his first professional match with Abe Kashey, Armenian champion, on Henry Weber's card at the city auditorium.

Those who ought to know—including, naturally enough, the young man's mentor, Rudy Dusek, Nebraska veteran—claim that Hickman is well on the way toward becoming a great wrestler as he was a football player. With less than a year behind him, the ex-Fo has already established a reputation as one of the toughest men in the game, and his improvement from month to month has been steady.

It is not to be gathered from this, however, that Hickman will have any easy time winning Tuesday, if he wins at all. Kashey has performed here on several occasions, and proved himself well equipped with speed, science, courage, stamina and qualities which go to make up a good wrestler and a dangerous opponent. The Armenian was distinctly impressive in his bouts with George Treadwell and O'Shocker here, and there is no reason to expect he will prove otherwise against Hickman.

The judo tournament is being wisely directed by Dusek in his campaign for mat glory, however. No soft spots are being picked for Hickman. He has wrestled the best of them, from Champion Jimmy Londos on down, and has learned something in every match. The bout with such a man as Kashey will give him the opportunity to see just what progress the youngster is making.

Interest in the one-hour semi-weekly Tuesday, bringing together Paul Harper, the Texas Adonis, and John Plummer, Canadian champion, is also keen. Harper has not appeared here for some time, but has always been a prime favorite. His return will be welcomed, especially against an opponent of Plummer's standing. The latter will be making his local debut, but comes highly recommended.

Tickets at 20 cents top, plus city and federal taxes, are on sale at the Piedmont Hotel, and the Miner & Carter Drug Company.

Michigan Awarded Memorial Trophy
CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Dec. 11.—(AP)—Although Southern California's Trojans defeated Notre Dame today to finish their regular season undefeated and won the national football championship, Michigan tonight was declared winner of the Knute K. Rockne memorial trophy, symbol of the national football championship, under the Dickinson rating system.

Dr. G. Bachmann heads Emory Hospital Staff

Dr. G. Bachmann, widely known Atlanta physician, has been elected president of the Emory University Hospital Staff Association to succeed Dr. R. A. Bartholomew, who had served the body for several years. The meeting was held Friday at the hospital.

Other officers named were Dr. J. J. Clark, vice president, and Dr. J. R. Martin, secretary, and Dr. J. R. Martin, treasurer. More than 200 Atlanta doctors are members of the association. The officers will take office in January.

2 Die in Crash.
MARSEILLES, France, Dec. 11.—(AP)—A mail plane belonging to the Toulouse-South American line was destroyed today with two occupants dead and two miles from Saint-Marie in Delamare department.

'In a Persian Garden' Presented With Noteworthy Style, Finish

Miss Lula Clark King, beloved Atlanta musician and voice teacher, presented "In a Persian Garden," by Liza Lehmann, at the Atlanta Woman's Club auditorium Sunday afternoon, one of the regular Sunday concerts of the Fine Arts department of the Woman's Club. Mrs. James R. Latta, chairman, Mrs. Merrill M. Hutchinson was co-chairman for the day with Miss King, and gave an enlightening explanation of the "Ruhai" which the program of "In a Persian Garden" are taken. She also gave a highly interpretative reading of the words.

William E. Arnold, well known Atlanta lawyer and musician, gave a message of greeting to the audience.

A vocal quartet composed of four of Atlanta's outstanding singers rendered this lovely song-cycle: Miss Frances Woodberry, soprano; Miss Lillian Smith, contralto; John Parter, tenor, and Coleman Kimbro, baritone.

These four singers sang in ensemble in the quartets and individually in the solos with noteworthy style and finish, with vocal tone production that was outstandingly lovely, with artistic finesse and sympathy, carrying the thread of the composition in a manner that held the interest of an audience of considerable number despite the inclemency of the weather.

Highlights of the work that stood out as glimmering musical jewels were the quartet, "Come, Fill the Cup, and Life Begins," "effervescing with joy, delivered with sensitive vocal ensemble; the duet between soprano and tenor, "A Book of Verses," which the quartet imbued with charming poetic sentiment; Mr. Kimbro's richly colored "Myself When Young Did Eagerly Frequent," Miss Woodberry's recitative and solo, "I Sent My Soul Through the Invisible," sung with appealing beauty of tone; Miss Smith's solo, "The Worldly Hope," which the quartet rendered with a quality of drama finely portrayed, and the climactic and thrilling tenor solo, "Ah, Moon of My Delight," so divinely rendered by Mr. Parter.

Mrs. Victor Clark furnished a competent and satisfying background with artistic piano accompaniments.

The Red Shakers, an abbreviated version of the "Desert Song," with Mervine Claire and Alexander Grey, a Paramount newswreel and other short subjects complete a well-balanced program.

Brother, 9, Sister, 7, Enter Bank, Steal 2 Sacks of Money, Confess BLOOMSBURG, Pa., Dec. 11.—(AP)—A nine-year-old boy and his seven-year-old sister today broke into a Bloomsburg bank, police said, and took two sacks containing small sums of money.

The children were found later by an older sister, who notified the father and then turned them over to the police.

They were released tonight in custody of the father for appearance before a justice of the peace tomorrow.

The boy and girl, John Jr. and Lillian Harrington, child of Police Walter Harrington, told the Bloomsburg Bank-Columbia Trust Company, in the heart of town, through a small window, about six inches wide, opening into the bank, that they had stolen two sacks of money that a bank employee had obtained at a Sunday school today and placed on a desk.

The children then climbed out the window, police said, and they found money hidden about town after a sister, Margaret, 14, had discovered they were missing from the Harrington home just outside Bloomsburg.

The boy offered the older sister $2, she said, to let her enter the bank, told her about the "robbery." The police found $11.45 in the boy's pockets and discovered one of the sacks of money hidden in a small nook along the front steps of the bank.

Bank authorities were uncertain about the amount of money the sacks contained. The bank employee who placed them on the desk is a Sunday school class treasurer and the money represented the day's collection.

The boy and girl were released in the custody of their father after they had admitted robbing the bank and confessed to the theft of the money.

HOME DEMONSTRATION THREE PERSONS HURT IN CRASH OF AUTO, CAB

The annual report of Miss Lucy Wood, Fulton county home demonstration agent, and her assistant, Miss Ruby Nance, has been filed with Walter Stewart, member of the county board of commissioners. The report is an account of the work carried on in 25 of 31 communities of the county.

Mr. Stewart pointed out that through the work of Miss Wood and her assistant, thousands of school children and adults in rural communities are reached yearly and taught how to obtain the most healthy and happy existence in a rural community.

The work is carried on through three mediums, said Mr. Stewart, the Girls' 4-H Clubs, Women's Home Demonstration Clubs and a county country homes campaign.

Country homes campaign demonstrations of pruning and shrubbery planting were given before all clubs and landscaping has been started for the winter.

The interior of the home was discussed in many demonstration meetings and a large number of clothing displays of clothing made by club members were presented.

Food and nutrition came in for much attention from the agents and better school lunches were stressed. The clubs were given two-day short courses in canning.

The report, according to Mr. Stewart, shows that the work has branched out into the counties of Milton, Campbell and that an even larger scope is planned for the coming year.

More Rain Forecast After Foggy Sunday

Shifting winds Sunday morning and again Sunday afternoon not only threw downtown Atlanta into semi-darkness but halted any prospect for a fair weather today. The official forecast is for rain with a temperature range from 42 to 52.

Church-goers Sunday morning were first puzzled by the semi-darkness. When the weather man said, however, that southerly winds shifted to north-west and fog merged. A similar occurrence followed the minimum mercury reading was 42 and the maximum 51.

The report, according to Mr. Stewart, shows that the work has branched out into the counties of Milton, Campbell and that an even larger scope is planned for the coming year.

ECONOMIC STRIFE AMONG NATIONS RAPIDLY BY SAVANT

RIVERSIDE, Cal., Dec. 11.—(AP)—Dr. Charles E. Martin, director, told the tenth session of the Institute of World Affairs, which opened here tonight, that "the state of economic war virtually exists" among the nations.

The "science of peace," the University of California political science professor said, "requires that men and nations shall have a philosophy of peace. Most people and countries have the philosophy of war, but do not expect all forms of force or compulsion to disappear from our international life. The international society must be built on the basis of self-denial made and observed by the nations."

Dr. Martin said "in the economic life of the world, life is bound today by a nationalism more terrible and more selfish than any political nationalism can possibly be."

"Trade is a process of peace and it is also a mutual undertaking," he said. "Conflicting economic policies, however, are in such a condition that a state of economic war virtually exists."

Dr. G. Bachmann heads Emory Hospital Staff

Dr. G. Bachmann, widely known Atlanta physician, has been elected president of the Emory University Hospital Staff Association to succeed Dr. R. A. Bartholomew, who had served the body for several years. The meeting was held Friday at the hospital.

Other officers named were Dr. J. J. Clark, vice president, and Dr. J. R. Martin, secretary, and Dr. J. R. Martin, treasurer. More than 200 Atlanta doctors are members of the association. The officers will take office in January.

3 Arrested, Rum Seized In Shadow of Statehouse

County and city officers Sunday night seized a case of liquor and made an arrest in the shadow of the Statehouse.

Across the street from the state capital, 100 feet of the city hall, about 300 yards from the courthouse, and

Between two churches, at 211 Washington street, just across from the Statehouse, where a Harper was leaving, inside, they arrested James P. Waldrup, 28, of 211 Washington street, and the janitor, Frank Owen, 54, Harper, whose car was confiscated, was held under bond of $1,000; Waldrup under bond of $500 and the janitor under bond of $100.

The spotlight of attention in the automobile industry is being directed at the De Soto because of the company's spectacular rise in position among the leaders in the automobile business this year. With the exception of only one car, Plymouth, also sold by De Soto dealers, De Soto made a proportionately better showing than any other for this reason De Soto's 1933 sales plans are being eyed with special interest.

More than 5,000 are expected to attend the sectional meetings that are to follow between now and December 19. In order to speed up the meeting program and get the De Soto message to the sales organization from coast to coast within a short space of time, 100 groups of De Soto executives will conduct meetings simultaneously in as many cities.

Reviewing the Shows

Paramount Picture Is Starkly Realistic

Something new in the way of entertainment is offered this week at the Paramount in First National's "Life Begins," starring Loretta Young and Eric Linden.

"Life Begins" is at once daring and touching.

The story depicts the trials of motherhood and the agony of a father waiting to know if everything is all right. The locale is a big American hospital. The story reveals stark realism and a glimpse at the source of all human life and drama.

Miss Young and Mr. Linden portray roles that are extremely difficult, but both do the splendid work one has come to expect from these two stars. And Alaine MacMahon, who is fast coming to the front in the film world, again demonstrates her ability as a character actress. She is highly entertaining in this film.

Al Evans offers a "Christmas Stocking Fun Novelty" which is one of the bright spots on the program.

The Red Shakers, an abbreviated version of the "Desert Song," with Mervine Claire and Alexander Grey, a Paramount newswreel and other short subjects complete a well-balanced program.

Lee Tracy Is Amusing In 'The Night Mayor'

Lee Tracy, the reliable troupe fellow who has made for himself a real place on the screen, is with us at the Rialto this week in "The Night Mayor," and his staff for the feature is a smooth tongue and his self-assured manner puts his lines over with a snap.

The picture is evidently based on the recent slams and grand slams made at New York's snappy Jimmy Walker, for Tracy's staff for the feature is a smooth tongue and his self-assured manner puts his lines over with a snap.

The picture is evidently based on the recent slams and grand slams made at New York's snappy Jimmy Walker, for Tracy's staff for the feature is a smooth tongue and his self-assured manner puts his lines over with a snap.

The picture is evidently based on the recent slams and grand slams made at New York's snappy Jimmy Walker, for Tracy's staff for the feature is a smooth tongue and his self-assured manner puts his lines over with a snap.

The picture is evidently based on the recent slams and grand slams made at New York's snappy Jimmy Walker, for Tracy's staff for the feature is a smooth tongue and his self-assured manner puts his lines over with a snap.

The picture is evidently based on the recent slams and grand slams made at New York's snappy Jimmy Walker, for Tracy's staff for the feature is a smooth tongue and his self-assured manner puts his lines over with a snap.

The picture is evidently based on the recent slams and grand slams made at New York's snappy Jimmy Walker, for Tracy's staff for the feature is a smooth tongue and his self-assured manner puts his lines over with a snap.

The picture is evidently based on the recent slams and grand slams made at New York's snappy Jimmy Walker, for Tracy's staff for the feature is a smooth tongue and his self-assured manner puts his lines over with a snap.

The picture is evidently based on the recent slams and grand slams made at New York's snappy Jimmy Walker, for

ROUND TABLE OF BUSINESS

A General Weekly Review of Commerce and Industry Affecting the Greater Atlanta Trade Territory

I. C. C. Suspends Proposed Aggregation of Express Charges Until July 10

GRANT'S REQUEST OF SOUTHEASTERN EXPRESS COMPANY

Proposed Rule Discriminatory, Unworkable, Says Williams of South-eastern; I. C. C. To Go Into Matter.

An order just issued by the interstate commerce commission of considerable interest to railway shippers and receivers throughout this section, as well as the entire country, suspends from December 10, last, until July 10, 1933, the operation of certain schedules as published in supplements—docket No. 3838—Nos. 15 and 16, to the official express classification, Railway Express Agency's I. C. C. No. 150.

The suspended schedules, according to the interstate commerce commission order, propose to establish an aggregating rule providing that where one or more consignees at the same origin forward packages, with charges billed collect, to a single consignee at one destination, and these delivered on the same day, the charge will be collected thereon on the basis of the aggregate weight despite the fact that they were originally tendered and handled through to destination as separate shipments.

The Southeastern Express Company—the only independent competitive railway express company in the United States, and serving the entire southeast, protested against the revised rule becoming effective and pleaded for its suspension.

Hearing January 5. C. B. Williams, traffic manager of the Southeastern Express Company stated Sunday that the commission in making its announcement of suspending the rule until July 10, will in the meantime enter upon an investigation to obtain all the facts in the case and determine whether the rule shall be permanently suspended. A hearing will be held at Washington, D. C. on January 5.

"Our purpose in asking this suspension was to have the whole matter investigated thoroughly by the commission before it was allowed to become effective, as we believe there were many features about the proposed rule that would be found to be discriminatory and unworkable; also, that we wanted an opportunity to propose a substitute rule that would give all the users of express service the benefit of any reduced charges and not confine same to only a portion of the shipping public," Mr. Williams said.

No Selfish Motive. Mr. Williams declared that the action of the Southeastern Express was not a selfish motive, but that his organization desired to have the entire matter gone into thoroughly before it became effective and to prevent any rate that would leave the matter entirely in control of the express company as to whether any saving would accrue to patrons.

"Substantially the same arrangement that the Railway Express Agency proposed to put into effect was recommended by the interstate commerce commission in 1912," Mr. Williams said.

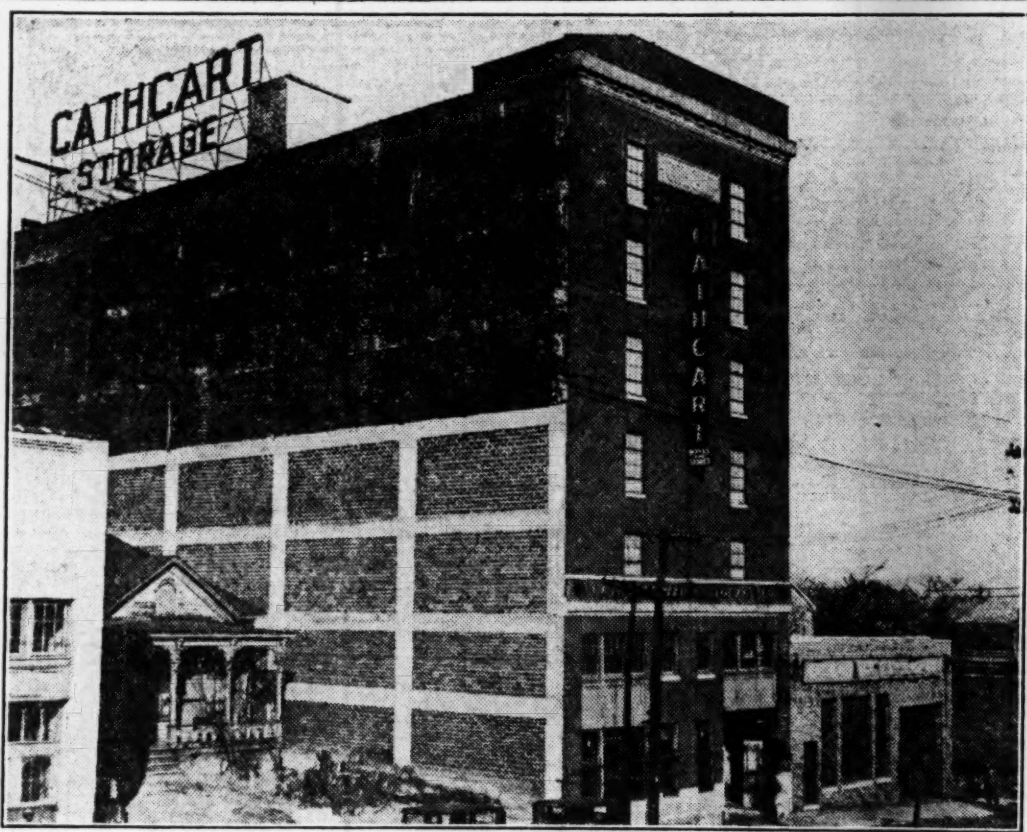

He declared that the proposed rule would not apply on local traffic handled by the Southeastern Express, or on traffic handled jointly by the Railway Express Agency and the Southeastern Express.

Would Destroy Competition. Mr. Williams also declared that upon study of the proposal "we immediately discovered many things about it which we believed to be contrary to the rules and regulations of the interstate commerce commission; also that it would seriously affect, if not almost entirely destroy, all of the benefits of competition in express service in the south that has resulted by reason of this company's operations since 1921.

"This rule, among other things, is designed for the purpose of enabling the originating express company to control the movement of competitive express traffic through to destination, and we do not think this is in the interest of the users of express service in the southeast.

"The Southeastern Express Company, since its organization, has taken the lead in the matter of providing reduced rates for express service in the territory it serves. We have under consideration a revision in express rates which, we think, will be far more beneficial to the public and could be applied in a much more satisfactory manner than the proposal submitted to the interstate commerce commission."

Storage De Luxe at Cathcart Allied Storage Co.

Herewith is shown the seven-story fireproof and dustproof storage plant of the Cathcart Allied Storage Company, located at 134 Houston street, N. E., which for years operated under the name of Cathcart Van & Storage Company. This firm is operated under the direction of W. Lawt, Ingis, president, who acquired an interest in the property in 1926, when the good will and property of the original founders passed to him and his associates. The concern is an agent for the Allied Van Lines, Inc., the largest nation-wide long distance moving organization.

AUTO, BUILDING AND HOLIDAY TRADE GAINS

BY FRANK H. McCONNELL.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Business showed some signs of latent vitality in the statistics of the past week, although most of the heavier industries slid somewhat further into the ruck of inactivity, and commodity prices drifted slightly lower.

Building contract awards showed for the first week of November an unexpectedly good increase, the F. W. Dodge report, which covers 37 states east of the Rockies, listing a total for six business days of $30,208,800. This was a daily average of $5,034,800, or $1,000,000 higher than in the third week of November.

Week-end reports from the Michigan and Ohio motor manufacturing areas of Detroit, Lansing and Toledo stated that 11,000 men were being recalled to the automobile and accessory plants for work preliminary to the year-end automobile shows. For the week ended December 3, the Analyst estimated automobile production at 11,155 units against 10,795 the week before.

Carloadings Increase. In railroad quarters, attention was diverted from the seasonal decline in freight loadings to a consideration of possible recommendations which might grow out of the vigorous study of various transportation problems by the Coolidge transportation committee.

Carloadings for the week ended December 3 stood at 547,461, a gain of 53,579 over the Thanksgiving week's total and 28,300 above the week before that. The figure for December 3 was 13.9 per cent under the 1931 level against a decrease of 11.6 per cent the week before.

The McGill Commodity Price Index dipped to 48.8 against 49.3 the week before, or only 4 per cent above the extreme low point of last summer. Of 14 groups, 10 declined, 3 held steady and only 1 advanced.

Holiday Trade Picks Up. Good holiday trade was reported by "Dun's" and "Bradstreet's" Weekly. "Dun's" said that unit sales of retailers were running ahead of last year and "a few industries, particularly those in the food and clothing categories, had stepped up operating schedules, but general industrial activity is at a slower pace than has been noted in many weeks."

"Bradstreet's" report, which also told of livelier trade, stated that "the heavy industries look a bit brighter than they have for some weeks."

W. Lawt, Ingis, president of the Cathcart Van and Storage Company, located at 134 Houston street, N. E., announces that their organization has revised its charter and that hereafter the trade name of the firm will be known as the Cathcart Allied Storage Company.

No change in the personnel of the institution will be made, Mr. Ingis acquired interest in the property of the original firm, which was founded about 25 years ago, in 1926. As the result of efficient and progressive management the company has become one of the largest and most modern storage plants in the southern states. Today the organization can justly be styled as "Storage De Luxe" at most satisfactory prices.

Mr. Ingis has surrounded himself with trained and thoroughly experienced men. He is associated with J. E. Alexander, secretary of the organization, and who has been connected with the firm for the past eleven years; R. E. Cowan, formerly of Nashville and recognized as one of the leading storage authorities in this section of the country.

Long-Distance Moving. The revision of the company's charter identifies it as an agent of the great Allied Van Lines, Inc., the largest nation-wide long-distance moving organization in the United States, with agents in all principal cities of the nation, which is owned and operated by the leading storage warehouse companies of the United States.

This organization offers a service of guaranteed responsibility, efficiency and reasonable rates in the transportation of household and office goods, operating more than 900 modern vans of 500 to 1,600 cubic feet capacity, fully equipped with every modern device for protection of contents, as well as complete packing service by men who make a business of packing household goods. This firm embraces more than 400 modern warehouses to guard household goods at point of origin or destination. Every load is fully insured. Drivers are men of long experience in handling household goods.

The Cathcart Allied Storage Company is a member of the National Furniture Warehousemen's Association and also of the Southern Warehousemen's Association, of which Mr. Ingis is secretary.

Last Word in Storage. A tour of the company's seven-story fireproof and dustproof plant of concrete and tile on Houston street presents the "last word" in storage.

"We are trustees or custodians of our customers' household goods—from silverware to the most precious pieces of furniture, etc.," Mr. Ingis said. One of the outstanding features of the firm's policy is that of the absolute safety and security of their customers' goods.

"Bradstreet's" report, which also told of livelier trade, stated that "the heavy industries look a bit brighter than they have for some weeks."

tomers' goods, whether they be stored in open space or locked in private and individual vaults. No one is permitted to take out, look at or inspect household goods in their care except by the customer in whose name the goods are listed, unless upon written or personal permission.

Another important—and the only one in this section—feature of the company's plant is the enclosed driveway from the street front to the rear of the building, which covers a total floor space of 36,000 square feet, where contents of the vans are placed on a huge elevator and carried direct to their proper storage position. No highly finished piece of furniture, etc., is permitted to touch another. That is, only one of numerous modern and efficient services observed by employees in handling of household effects. The company operates a passenger elevator to all floors, this being the only passenger elevator operated by a storage plant in the south, according to Mr. Ingis.

Protected From Insects. From the time one enters the plant an atmosphere of security, service and courtesy prevails. This modernized plant includes neat offices, silver vault, restrooms for both men and ladies, shower baths for both white and colored, salesmen's quarters, phones, auction room, trunkroom, private valet, rugroom, garment room, O. S. furniture room, open storage, etc.

Utmost care is taken in storing of household goods—from the least valuable to the highly polished and most fragile furniture, whether it be china, pianos, or whatnot. Before any household furniture and rugs are stored all are wrapped and fumigated with naphthalene to protect them from all destructive agents.

The company has the only plywood fumigation vaults where furniture, rugs, etc., are locked—airtight—where all moths and other destructive pests can be eradicated for a reasonable extra charge. It is the only such vault in the southern states that is recommended by the government, according to Mr. Ingis.

The company also mothproofs furniture, rugs, drapes, etc., with a deadly poison to insects that is guaranteed by a reputable insurance company which issues a policy guaranteeing this mothproof service. Neither has any effect upon the finish or covering of the furniture whatsoever and will not injure the most delicate fabric.

Cotton Exchange Holidays. Board of managers of the New York Cotton Exchange has declared Saturday, December 24, and Saturday, December 31, exchange holidays, in addition to the holidays to be observed December 26 and January 2.

COTTON MARKET GIVEN SUPPORT

Better Demand for Goods and Low Prices Encourage More Buying.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 11.—(AP)—The government report, including the final estimate of the crop, was the dominating influence during the week in the cotton contract market. An increase in the estimate of about 300,000 bales had been looked for and the long interest in the market was pretty thoroughly liquidated in advance of such an estimate.

The bureau figured the crop at 12,727,000 bales of 500 pounds weight. This estimate was fully half a million bales larger than traders looked for and more than a million and a quarter bales larger than the first official forecast of the season.

The effect of this large estimate on prices was surprising. After a momentary decline of about 15 points the market rallied and continued on the upgrade for the rest of the week with the final results showing a net advance for the period of about 20 points, or a dollar a bale.

Prices Attract Buyers. While the large crop estimate necessitated some upward revision of supply statistics, the impression nevertheless prevailed that prices were low enough to prove attractive. At any rate, the demand for buying has developed since the bureau estimate was issued.

There continued to be a good demand for spots during the week, both domestic spinners and exporters being good buyers. The former were evidently encouraged by some improvement in the demand for cotton goods in the domestic textile mills, but the latter were probably attracted mainly by the low price range holding out the opportunity for supplying future needs with cheap cotton.

Exports Show Decrease. Exports were fairly liberal but the chances for the week fell considerably short of the corresponding week last year. From now on exports will have to compare with rather full figures last season, owing to the big demand from the orient. It is, therefore, believed that the remaining excess in exports this season will eventually be eliminated.

The following shows the high, low and closing sales in the futures market during the past week compared with a year ago:

	High	Low	Close	Last
Dec.	5.80	5.48	5.76	5.96
Jan.	5.84	5.55	5.75	6.02
Mar.	5.96	5.47	5.85	6.20
May	6.04	5.56	5.96	6.38
July	6.14	5.71	6.06	6.56

October Shoe Output Shows Big Increase

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Boot and shoe production during October totaled 32,978,733 pairs, compared with 23,884,742 pairs in September and 25,580,808 pairs in October last year, according to figures made public by the department of commerce, based on the output of 1,096 factories.

The company has the only plywood fumigation vaults where furniture, rugs, etc., are locked—airtight—where all moths and other destructive pests can be eradicated for a reasonable extra charge. It is the only such vault in the southern states that is recommended by the government, according to Mr. Ingis.

The company also mothproofs furniture, rugs, drapes, etc., with a deadly poison to insects that is guaranteed by a reputable insurance company which issues a policy guaranteeing this mothproof service. Neither has any effect upon the finish or covering of the furniture whatsoever and will not injure the most delicate fabric.

Cotton Exchange Holidays. Board of managers of the New York Cotton Exchange has declared Saturday, December 24, and Saturday, December 31, exchange holidays, in addition to the holidays to be observed December 26 and January 2.

Visit Your Neighborhood WocoPep SERVICE STATION and Learn About the Friendly Neighborhood Service Plan Which Lowers the Cost of Operating Your Automobile.

PRINTING OF CHARACTER "At the Right Price"

Latest High-Speed Equipment Exclusively. WILLIAMS PRINTING CO., Inc. 78 Marietta St., Rhodes Bldg. WAlnut 6592-3

good roofs By Certified Products Corp. EXPERTLY APPLIED—GUARANTEED—EASY TERMS Call Our Roofing Dept. for Estimates KING HARDWARE CO. Roofing Dept., 2nd Floor WA. 3000 53 PEACHTREE ST.

Civic Club Meetings: Rotary Club—Capital City Club, 12:30 Tuesday Civitan Club—Atlanta Athletic Club, 12:30 Tuesday Kiwanis Club—Ansley Hotel, 12:30 Tuesday Lions Club—Henry Grady, 12:30 Tuesday Exchange Club—Henry Grady, 12:30 Tuesday Atlanta Ad Club—Rich's Tea Room, 12:30 Thursday Jr. Chamber of Commerce—C. of C., 12:00 Thursday Atlanta Masonic Club—Winecoff, 12:30 Wednesday

Dealers Elated by Seiberling Tires

Popular north side service station of the Morningside Tire and Battery Service at 1546 Piedmont avenue, N. E., where the complete new line of Seiberling tires are on display. It is under the personal management of Frank Hardy, proprietor, whose long experience in the tire and battery business qualifies him to offer expert advice to his customers. Mr. Hardy is enthusiastic about the new model Seiberling tires as being outstanding values at the new lowered prices. The new Seiberling line is distributed in Fulton and adjacent counties by the Brooks-Shatterly Company with service stations at Spring and Walton streets and 1643 Jonesboro road, where complete stocks of 1933 Seiberlings, together with U. S. L. batteries, are carried.

H. H. Brooks, president of the Brooks-Shatterly Company, distributors for the new model Seiberling tires in Fulton and adjacent counties, reports unusual enthusiasm by their associate Atlanta dealers for the new Seiberlings.

"It is our aim to appoint a dealer for every section of the city," said Mr. Brooks. "Those already selected are really the best of the city. The new model Seiberlings, being experienced tire men they know the relative merits of every tire now on the market, as well as their weaknesses. They see in the 1933 Seiberling an opportunity to offer their customers a line of tires engineered for driving conditions of high speeds, quick starts and stops. They also see in the new lowered prices an opportunity to enhance their good will and win friends seeking real economy in safe tire service."

The Brooks-Shatterly Company maintain modern tire and battery service stations at Spring and Walton streets and 1643 Jonesboro road, where the new Seiberling tires and U. S. L. batteries are featured. Associated with them as Seiberling tire dealers are: Carlton White and C. W. Helms Service Station, 1538 Jonesboro road, S. E.; Luckie Street Service Station, Luckie Street and 21st Street; Sample Service Station, junction Gordon and Mosley drive; Baker's Service Station, corner Boulevard and Woodward street; 88 1-2 points Friday on the sale of a single bond, the first time this issue had appeared in the trading since September, last year.

Foreign dollar loans were a trifle mixed, although improvement was recorded by a number of this group. Secondary loans of all categories were highly irregular, most of them moving in the same range as stocks. The market was quite thin at times although, with the exception of Monday, the trading volume was the best in a number of sessions. As an example of the thinness, Mobile & Ohio 5s, Montgomery division, dropped 8 1-2 points Friday on the sale of a single bond, the first time this issue had appeared in the trading since September, last year.

Foreign dollar loans were a trifle mixed, although improvement was recorded by a number of this group. Secondary loans of all categories were highly irregular, most of them moving in the same range as stocks. The market was quite thin at times although, with the exception of Monday, the trading volume was the best in a number of sessions. As an example of the thinness, Mobile & Ohio 5s, Montgomery division, dropped 8 1-2 points Friday on the sale of a single bond, the first time this issue had appeared in the trading since September, last year.

Foreign dollar loans were a trifle mixed, although improvement was recorded by a number of this group. Secondary loans of all categories were highly irregular, most of them moving in the same range as stocks. The market was quite thin at times although, with the exception of Monday, the trading volume was the best in a number of sessions. As an example of the thinness, Mobile & Ohio 5s, Montgomery division, dropped 8 1-2 points Friday on the sale of a single bond, the first time this issue had appeared in the trading since September, last year.

Foreign dollar loans were a trifle mixed, although improvement was recorded by a number of this group. Secondary loans of all categories were highly irregular, most of them moving in the same range as stocks. The market was quite thin at times although, with the exception of Monday, the trading volume was the best in a number of sessions. As an example of the thinness, Mobile & Ohio 5s, Montgomery division, dropped 8 1-2 points Friday on the sale of a single bond, the first time this issue had appeared in the trading since September, last year.

Foreign dollar loans were a trifle mixed, although improvement was recorded by a number of this group. Secondary loans of all categories were highly irregular, most of them moving in the same range as stocks. The market was quite thin at times although, with the exception of Monday, the trading volume was the best in a number of sessions. As an example of the thinness, Mobile & Ohio 5s, Montgomery division, dropped 8 1-2 points Friday on the sale of a single bond, the first time this issue had appeared in the trading since September, last year.

Foreign dollar loans were a trifle mixed, although improvement was recorded by a number of this group. Secondary loans of all categories were highly irregular, most of them moving in the same range as stocks. The market was quite thin at times although, with the exception of Monday, the trading volume was the best in a number of sessions. As an example of the thinness, Mobile & Ohio 5s, Montgomery division, dropped 8 1-2 points Friday on the sale of a single bond, the first time this issue had appeared in the trading since September, last year.

Foreign dollar loans were a trifle mixed, although improvement was recorded by a number of this group. Secondary loans of all categories were highly irregular, most of them moving in the same range as stocks. The market was quite thin at times although, with the exception of Monday, the trading volume was the best in a number of sessions. As an example of the thinness, Mobile & Ohio 5s, Montgomery division, dropped 8 1-2 points Friday on the sale of a single bond, the first time this issue had appeared in the trading since September, last year.

Foreign dollar loans were a trifle mixed, although improvement was recorded by a number of this group. Secondary loans of all categories were highly irregular, most of them moving in the same range as stocks. The market was quite thin at times although, with the exception of Monday, the trading volume was the best in a number of sessions. As an example of the thinness, Mobile & Ohio 5s, Montgomery division, dropped 8 1-2 points Friday on the sale of a single bond, the first time this issue had appeared in the trading since September, last year.

Foreign dollar loans were a trifle mixed, although improvement was recorded by a number of this group. Secondary loans of all categories were highly irregular, most of them moving in the same range as stocks. The market was quite thin at times although, with the exception of Monday, the trading volume was the best in a number of sessions. As an example of the thinness, Mobile & Ohio 5s, Montgomery division, dropped 8 1-2 points Friday on the sale of a single bond, the first time this issue had appeared in the trading since September, last year.

Foreign dollar loans were a trifle mixed, although improvement was recorded by a number of this group. Secondary loans of all categories were highly irregular, most of them moving in the same range as stocks. The market was quite thin at times although, with the exception of Monday, the trading volume was the best in a number of sessions. As an example of the thinness, Mobile & Ohio 5s, Montgomery division, dropped 8 1-2 points Friday on the sale of a single bond, the first time this issue had appeared in the trading since September, last year.

Foreign dollar loans were a trifle mixed, although improvement was recorded by a number of this group. Secondary loans of all categories were highly irregular, most of them moving in the same range as stocks. The market was quite thin at times although, with the exception of Monday, the trading volume was the best in a number of sessions. As an example of the thinness, Mobile & Ohio 5s, Montgomery division, dropped 8 1-2 points Friday on the sale of a single bond, the first time this issue had appeared in the trading since September, last year.

Foreign dollar loans were a trifle mixed, although improvement was recorded by a number of this group. Secondary loans of all categories were highly irregular, most of them moving in the same range as stocks. The market was quite thin at times although, with the exception of Monday, the trading volume was the best in a number of sessions. As an example of the thinness, Mobile & Ohio 5s, Montgomery division, dropped 8 1-2 points Friday on the sale of a single bond, the first time this issue had appeared in the trading since September, last year.

Foreign dollar loans were a trifle mixed, although improvement was recorded by a number of this group. Secondary loans of all categories were highly irregular, most of them moving in the same range as stocks. The market was quite thin at times although, with the exception of Monday, the trading volume was the best in a number of sessions. As an example of the thinness, Mobile & Ohio 5s, Montgomery division, dropped 8 1-2 points Friday on the sale of a single bond, the first time this issue had appeared in the trading since September, last year.

Foreign dollar loans were a trifle mixed, although improvement was recorded by a number of this group. Secondary loans of all categories were highly irregular, most of them moving in the same range as stocks. The market was quite thin at times although, with the exception of Monday, the trading volume was the best in a number of sessions. As an example of the thinness, Mobile & Ohio 5s, Montgomery division, dropped 8 1-2 points Friday on the sale of a single bond, the first time this issue had appeared in the trading since September, last year.

Foreign dollar loans were a trifle mixed, although improvement was recorded by a number of this group. Secondary loans of all categories were highly irregular, most of them moving in the same range as stocks. The market was quite thin at times although, with the exception of Monday, the trading volume was the best in a number of sessions. As an example of the thinness, Mobile & Ohio 5s, Montgomery division, dropped 8 1-2 points Friday on the sale of a single bond, the first time this issue had appeared in the trading since September, last year.

Foreign dollar loans were a trifle mixed, although improvement was recorded by a number of this group. Secondary loans of all categories were highly irregular, most of them moving in the same range as stocks. The market was quite thin at times although, with the exception of Monday, the trading volume was the best in a number of sessions. As an example of the thinness, Mobile & Ohio 5s, Montgomery division, dropped 8 1-2 points Friday on the sale of a single bond, the first time this issue had appeared in the trading since September, last year.

FEDERAL BONDS SHOW STRENGTH

Low Money Rates, Better Investment Inquiry Cheer Bullish Climate.

BY VICTOR EUBANK, Associated Press Financial Writer. NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Low money rates and better investment inquiry kept the home fires burning in the bond market during the past week.

While the averages showed little or no progress, United States government securities and best grade utility obligations gave a sterling performance with a number of these issues advancing fractionally to new high prices for the year.

The federal list was especially spurred by the treasury's December financing terms which involved an offering of one-year certificates on an interest basis of 3-4 of 1 per cent, the lowest known rate in history for this class of paper. Treasury 3s and 3-1-2s were heavily traded.

Monthly figures of the New York Stock Exchange showed that during November bonds took a rather severe trouncing, losing $1,412,743,930 in market value.

Secondary loans of all categories were highly irregular, most of them moving in the same range as stocks. The market was quite thin at times although, with the exception of Monday, the trading volume was the best in a number of sessions. As an example of the thinness, Mobile & Ohio 5s, Montgomery division, dropped 8 1-2 points Friday on the sale of a single bond, the first time this issue had appeared in the trading since September, last year.

Foreign dollar loans were a trifle mixed, although improvement was recorded by a number of this group. Secondary loans of all categories were highly irregular, most of them moving in the same range as stocks. The market was quite thin at times although, with the exception of Monday, the trading volume was the best in a number of sessions. As an example of the thinness, Mobile & Ohio 5s, Montgomery division, dropped 8 1-2 points Friday on the sale of a single bond, the first time this issue had appeared in the trading since September, last year.

Foreign dollar loans were a trifle mixed, although improvement was recorded by a number of this group. Secondary loans of all categories were highly irregular, most of them moving in the same range as stocks. The market was quite thin at times although, with the exception of Monday, the trading volume was the best in a number of sessions. As an example of the thinness, Mobile & Ohio 5s, Montgomery division, dropped 8 1-2 points Friday on the sale of a single bond, the first time this issue had appeared in the trading since September, last year.

Foreign dollar loans were a trifle mixed, although improvement was recorded by a number of this group. Secondary loans of all categories were highly irregular, most of them moving in the same range as stocks. The market was quite thin at times although, with the exception of Monday, the trading volume was the best in a number of sessions. As an example of the thinness, Mobile & Ohio 5s, Montgomery division, dropped 8 1-2 points Friday on the sale of a single bond, the first time this issue had appeared in the trading since September, last year.

Foreign dollar loans were a trifle mixed, although improvement was recorded by a number of this group. Secondary loans of all categories were highly irregular, most of them moving in the same range as stocks. The market was quite thin at times although, with the exception of Monday, the trading volume was the best in a number of sessions. As an example of the thinness, Mobile & Ohio 5s, Montgomery division, dropped 8 1-2 points Friday on the sale of a single bond, the first time this issue had appeared in the trading since September, last year.

Foreign dollar loans were a trifle mixed, although improvement was recorded by a number of this group. Secondary loans of all categories were highly irregular, most of them moving in the same range as stocks. The market was quite thin at times although, with the exception of Monday, the trading volume was the best in a number of sessions. As an example of the thinness, Mobile & Ohio 5s, Montgomery division, dropped 8 1-2 points Friday on the sale of a single bond, the first time this issue had appeared in the trading since September, last year.

Foreign dollar loans were a trifle mixed, although improvement was recorded by a number of this group. Secondary loans of all categories were highly irregular, most of them moving in the same range as stocks. The market was quite thin at times although, with the exception of Monday, the trading volume was the best in a number of sessions. As an example of the thinness, Mobile & Ohio 5s, Montgomery division, dropped 8 1-2 points Friday on the sale of a single bond, the first time this issue had appeared in the trading since September, last year.

Foreign dollar loans were a trifle mixed, although improvement was recorded by a number of this group. Secondary loans of all categories were highly irregular, most of them moving in the same range as stocks. The market was quite thin at times although, with the exception of Monday, the trading volume was the best in a number of sessions. As an example of the thinness, Mobile & Ohio 5s, Montgomery division, dropped 8 1-2 points Friday on the sale of a single bond, the first time this issue had appeared in the trading since September, last year.

Foreign dollar loans were a trifle mixed, although improvement was recorded by a number of this group. Secondary loans of all categories were highly irregular, most of them moving in the same range as stocks. The market was quite thin at times although, with the exception of Monday, the trading volume was the best in a number of sessions. As an example of the thinness, Mobile & Ohio 5s, Montgomery division, dropped 8 1-2 points Friday on the sale of a single bond, the first time this issue had appeared in the trading since September, last year.

Foreign dollar loans were a trifle mixed, although improvement was recorded by a number of this group. Secondary loans of all categories were highly irregular, most of them moving in the same range as stocks. The market was quite thin at times although, with the exception of Monday, the trading volume was the best in a number of sessions. As an example of the thinness, Mobile & Ohio 5s, Montgomery division, dropped 8 1-2 points Friday on the sale of a single bond, the first time this issue had appeared in the trading since September, last year.

Foreign dollar loans were a trifle mixed, although improvement was recorded by a number of this group. Secondary loans of all categories were highly irregular, most of them moving in the same range as stocks. The market was quite thin at times although, with the exception of Monday, the trading volume was the best in a number of sessions. As an example of the thinness, Mobile & Ohio 5s, Montgomery division, dropped 8 1-2 points Friday on the sale of a single bond, the first time this issue had appeared in the trading since September, last year.

Foreign dollar loans were a trifle mixed, although improvement was recorded by a number of this group. Secondary loans of all categories were highly irregular, most of them moving in the same range as stocks. The market was quite thin at times although, with the exception of Monday, the trading volume was the best in a number of sessions. As an example of the thinness, Mobile & Ohio 5s, Montgomery division, dropped 8 1-2 points Friday on the sale of a single bond, the first time this issue had appeared in the trading since September, last year.

Foreign dollar loans were a trifle mixed, although improvement was recorded by a number of this group. Secondary loans of all categories were highly irregular, most of them moving in the same range as stocks. The market was quite thin at times although, with the exception of Monday, the trading volume was the best in a number of sessions. As an example of the thinness, Mobile & Ohio 5s, Montgomery division, dropped 8 1-2 points Friday on the sale of a single bond, the first time this issue had appeared in the trading since September, last year.

Foreign dollar loans were a trifle mixed, although improvement was recorded by a number of this group. Secondary loans of all categories were highly irregular, most of them moving in the same range as stocks. The market was quite thin at times although, with the exception of Monday, the trading volume was the best in a number of sessions. As an example of the thinness, Mobile & Ohio 5s, Montgomery division, dropped 8 1-2 points Friday on the sale of a single bond, the first time this issue had appeared in the trading since September, last year.

Foreign dollar loans were a trifle mixed, although improvement was recorded by a number of this group. Secondary loans of all categories were highly irregular, most of them moving in the same range as stocks. The market was quite thin at times although, with the exception of Monday, the trading volume was the best in a number of sessions. As an example of the thinness, Mobile & Ohio 5s, Montgomery division, dropped 8 1-2 points Friday on the sale of a single bond, the first time this issue had appeared in the trading since September, last year.

Foreign dollar loans were a trifle mixed, although improvement was recorded by a number of this group. Secondary loans of all categories were highly irregular, most of them moving in the same range as stocks. The market was quite thin at times although, with the exception of Monday, the trading volume was the best in a number of sessions. As an example of the thinness, Mobile & Ohio 5s, Montgomery division, dropped 8 1-2 points Friday on the sale of a single bond, the

KIN OF ETHAN ALLEN SUCCEUMS IN OHIO

Long Illness Fatal to Former Minister to Korea.

TOLEDO, Ohio, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Dr. Horace Newton Allen, 74, a nephew of Ethan Allen of Revolutionary fame, died at his home today. He formerly was minister to Korea and for many years served as a medical missionary for the Presbyterian church in the far east.

He had been ill for more than two years and in April, as a result of diabetes, suffered the amputation of a leg.

By saving the life of Prince Min Yong, he when the Chinese drove the Japanese from Korea in 1894, Dr. Allen, who only a year before had received his medical degree from Miami Medical College, was given a hospital and equipment by the government and made court physician.

When Korea was opened by treaty, he went to Seoul as physician to the American legation and received appointment as medical officer there of the British, Japanese and Chinese legations as well.

Through his close relation as unofficial adviser to the Korean government, Dr. Allen in 1888 took the first legation from Korea to Washington. From 1897 to 1901, he was minister resident and consul general of the United States in Korea by appointment by President McKinley.

He served as minister from 1901 to 1906 and after his retirement in that year came to Toledo, where he lived until his death.

Besides his wife, the former Frances Ann Messenger, whom he married in 1881, the year he was graduated from Ohio Wesleyan University, Dr. Allen is survived by two sons, Horace E. Allen, an engineer who was born in Shanghai, and Mason, who was born in Seoul, Cal., who was born in Seoul.

Dr. Allen was a member of Phi Beta Kappa, honorary scholastic fraternity, and the Authors Club of London.

ALBERT C. LORING.
MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Albert C. Loring, 74, president of the Pillsbury Flour Mills Company and a director of the Great Northern railroad, died at his home today from bronchial pneumonia.

Known to many as the "dean of American millers," Mr. Loring had played a major part in the development of Minneapolis business for more than half a century. He was a former president of the Millers' National Association.

The climax of Mr. Loring's career with the company was on June 27, 1923, when Pillsbury properties, sold to British investors in 1901, were returned to American ownership and control.

DR. WILLIAM S. THAYER.
BALTIMORE, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Dr. William S. Thayer, internationally known authority on internal medicine, died last night at the home of his wife, Mrs. Thayer, after a long illness.

Dr. Thayer was born in 1858, was taken ill with a heart attack and died an hour later.

Funeral services will be held here Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of his wife, Mrs. Thayer, 1000 Cambridge, Massachusetts.

Dr. Thayer was born at Milton, Mass., June 23, 1864, and was educated at private schools and Cambridge High school before receiving his bachelor of arts degree in 1885.

In 1889 he received his medical degree from Harvard medical school.

Dr. Thayer was a pioneer in the American studies of malaria and classified the three types of the disease found in this country. He was the author of numerous books and monographs.

W. W. STRINGFELLOW.
COLUMBUS, Ohio, Dec. 11.—(AP)—William W. Stringfellow, 75, former president of the First National bank of this city and widely known philanthropist, died at his home here today.

Mr. Stringfellow developed an estate at Blowing Rock, N. C., following his retirement from business several years ago.

His second wife, by whom he is survived, was Miss Nan Cannon, of Concord, N. C. He founded the Stringfellow Memorial church at Blowing Rock.

Funeral services will be held here tomorrow with burial in Montgomery, Alabama.

D. O. McFARLAND.
WINTER PARK, Fla., Dec. 11.—(AP)—D. O. McFarland, 60, Eagle Lake poultry man, died suddenly at his home here today. He was a native of Mansfield, Ohio, and later lived in New York city.

Mr. McFarland was prominent in Episcopal church lay work.

ADAM ANTHONY KRYNSKI.
WARSAW, Poland, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Adam Anthony Krynski, 59, Polish scientist, writer, biologist and professor at the University of Warsaw, died here at the age of 59. He was married several days ago when he slipped and fell while alighting from a trolley car.

CHU CHAO-HSIN.
CANTON, China, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Chu Chao-hsin, 77, former general of foreign affairs in the Canton government and formerly chargé d'affaires of the Chinese legation in London, died suddenly today following a dinner at naval headquarters.

Physicians said that snake poisoning was the cause of death.

The dinner was in honor of Admiral Sir Howard Kelly, command-in-chief of the British naval forces in the far east.

Mr. Chu was once the Chinese ambassador to Italy and also consul-general in San Francisco. He at one time was a student in Columbia University.

He held several important posts in the Chinese government.

In 1923 Mr. Chu appeared before the League of Nations and pleaded for restrictions on the traffic in opium. The following year he repeated this plea lamenting China's failure to re-

Cross Sections of Life In Gate City of South

Baby health centers will be held at the following places this week, according to Dr. V. P. Kennedy, city health officer: Monday, Stewart avenue nursery; Tuesday, Luckie and Peoples Street schools; Wednesday, Fair Street school; Thursday, Andrew Stewart nursery; and Friday, Kirkwood school. The clinics begin at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

Mrs. John M. Harrison, secretary, announced that the monthly meeting of the Felicians will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the Columbian Club, 1200 Peachtree street, N. E. Discussion of plans for a Christmas party will take place.

Morris Abrams, 14-year-old "boy orator," of Fitzgerald, will speak at a meeting of the employees of the A. B. & C. railroad at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the Henry Grady hotel, it was announced. P. T. Craig is president of the association.

Ex-soldier Santa Claus will canvass the city, beginning today, to raise funds and clothing to furnish a Christmas dinner and Christmas tree for unemployed ex-service men and their families, according to Captain William F. Henderson, of the Atlanta Bonifant Expeditionary Forces.

Each bona fide Santa will be equipped with proper identification papers.

John H. Hudson, assistant solicitor, will address a meeting of the Atlanta Baptist ministers' conference at 10 o'clock this morning at the First Baptist church, according to Dr. W. H. Faust, chairman of the program committee. His subject will be "The Volstead Act and the Georgia Bone-Dry Law."

Emmaline Bellflower, 4-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Bellflower, who is suffering from a mastoid trouble at Grady hospital, was reported as slightly better Sunday, though her condition is still serious. Her mother, Mrs. Bellflower, has been postponed until further improvement is noted, it was said.

Judge E. Marvin Underwood will receive Allen, a lawyer, of San Diego, Cal., who was born in Seoul.

Dr. Allen was a member of Phi Beta Kappa, honorary scholastic fraternity, and the Authors Club of London.

ALBERT C. LORING.
MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Albert C. Loring, 74, president of the Pillsbury Flour Mills Company and a director of the Great Northern railroad, died at his home today from bronchial pneumonia.

Known to many as the "dean of American millers," Mr. Loring had played a major part in the development of Minneapolis business for more than half a century. He was a former president of the Millers' National Association.

The climax of Mr. Loring's career with the company was on June 27, 1923, when Pillsbury properties, sold to British investors in 1901, were returned to American ownership and control.

DR. WILLIAM S. THAYER.
BALTIMORE, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Dr. William S. Thayer, internationally known authority on internal medicine, died last night at the home of his wife, Mrs. Thayer, after a long illness.

Dr. Thayer was born in 1858, was taken ill with a heart attack and died an hour later.

Funeral services will be held here Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of his wife, Mrs. Thayer, 1000 Cambridge, Massachusetts.

Dr. Thayer was born at Milton, Mass., June 23, 1864, and was educated at private schools and Cambridge High school before receiving his bachelor of arts degree in 1885.

In 1889 he received his medical degree from Harvard medical school.

Dr. Thayer was a pioneer in the American studies of malaria and classified the three types of the disease found in this country. He was the author of numerous books and monographs.

W. W. STRINGFELLOW.
COLUMBUS, Ohio, Dec. 11.—(AP)—William W. Stringfellow, 75, former president of the First National bank of this city and widely known philanthropist, died at his home here today.

Mr. Stringfellow developed an estate at Blowing Rock, N. C., following his retirement from business several years ago.

His second wife, by whom he is survived, was Miss Nan Cannon, of Concord, N. C. He founded the Stringfellow Memorial church at Blowing Rock.

Funeral services will be held here tomorrow with burial in Montgomery, Alabama.

D. O. McFARLAND.
WINTER PARK, Fla., Dec. 11.—(AP)—D. O. McFarland, 60, Eagle Lake poultry man, died suddenly at his home here today. He was a native of Mansfield, Ohio, and later lived in New York city.

Mr. McFarland was prominent in Episcopal church lay work.

ADAM ANTHONY KRYNSKI.
WARSAW, Poland, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Adam Anthony Krynski, 59, Polish scientist, writer, biologist and professor at the University of Warsaw, died here at the age of 59. He was married several days ago when he slipped and fell while alighting from a trolley car.

CHU CHAO-HSIN.
CANTON, China, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Chu Chao-hsin, 77, former general of foreign affairs in the Canton government and formerly chargé d'affaires of the Chinese legation in London, died suddenly today following a dinner at naval headquarters.

Physicians said that snake poisoning was the cause of death.

The dinner was in honor of Admiral Sir Howard Kelly, command-in-chief of the British naval forces in the far east.

Mr. Chu was once the Chinese ambassador to Italy and also consul-general in San Francisco. He at one time was a student in Columbia University.

He held several important posts in the Chinese government.

In 1923 Mr. Chu appeared before the League of Nations and pleaded for restrictions on the traffic in opium. The following year he repeated this plea lamenting China's failure to re-

MRS. LOUISE R. GREEN PASSES AT AGE OF 56

Woman Artist Succumbs
Sunday Night After Brief Illness.

Mrs. Louise Rogers Green, 56, of 1337 Durand drive, N. E., died Sunday night at 6 o'clock at the Emory University hospital, following an illness of several days.

Mrs. Green was widely known in Atlanta and Decatur as an artist and had done a great deal of work in china painting. She was a member of the Decatur Presbyterian church, in which she was active.

The body will be taken to Savannah, where she formerly resided, for funeral services and interment Tuesday.

Surviving are a son, W. Paul Green, of Atlanta; two sisters, Mrs. William Haygood, of Decatur, and Mrs. J. B. Davis, of San Leandro, Cal., and one brother, Britton O. Rogers, of Savannah. H. M. Patterson & Son will announce the funeral arrangements.

Surviving also are two grandchildren, Miss Louise Green and Paul Green II, of Atlanta, and several nieces and nephews.

Walter A. Sims, newly elected state senator, will deliver an address on "The Relation of Labor to Taxes and Government" over WGST at 9:15 o'clock tonight, it was announced.

The talk, which will last 45 minutes, is one of the series of addresses on "You and Your Government," sponsored by the Atlanta Taxpayers' League.

Judge Virlyn B. Moore, who Sunday morning addressed the Bible class of Judge H. Warner Hill at St. Mark Methodist church, brought a motion picture, "The Life of Christ," to a church which with its head stuck through the end of a sack and was presented to Ernest Bell, well-known Atlanta attorney. Mr. Bell said he had passed the judge's home in Bolton recently and had admired his chickens. Judge Moore reciprocated by giving him a fine pullet.

strict such trade. At other times he spoke before the league assembly in behalf of the abolition of extra-territorial rights in China. China's claim to a seat in the League of Nations and of other matters pertaining to China.

On October 26, 1928, he was named Chinese minister to Japan.

DR. JOSEPH BLUM.
NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Dr. Joseph Blum, who practiced medicine for 30 years in Baltimore before coming to New York 20 years ago, died today at his home after a week's illness of heart disease.

MRS. AGNES S. F. BURNETT.
NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Mrs. Agnes S. F. Burnett, widow of Henry Lawrence Burnett, died yesterday at her home in Brooklyn, N. Y., in her seventies. During the lifetime of her husband, a former United States attorney, she was a familiar figure in the social life of New York and Newport.

REV. EDWARD J. HOULIHAN.
BALTIMORE, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Rev. Edward J. Houlihan, for 15 years stationed at St. Peter Claver Catholic church, died today at his home after a week's illness of pneumonia.

REV. W. S. HOLMES.
LEXINGTON, N. C., Dec. 11.—(AP)—The Rev. Wilcox Stuart Holmes, 66, rector of Grace Episcopal church here for 11 years, died here today after a long illness of heart disease.

Mr. Holmes was born in Ocala, Fla., the son of Dr. Henry M. Holmes and Sidney Pasteur Holmes, and was educated at the University of the South, Sewanee, Tenn. He served pastorates at Grenada, Miss.; Laurens, S. C.; Orangeburg, S. C.; and Marion, S. C., before coming here.

TIFFIN GILMORE.
COLUMBUS, Ohio, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Tiffin Gilmore, 64, deputy marshal of the Ohio supreme court, and one of the best known figures in Ohio politics, died today. He had served in many other national and state offices, including the United States House of Representatives.

His views and advice on politics often were sought and followed.

HENRY A. LEUSING.
CINCINNATI, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Henry A. Leusing, 75, who claimed a world weight lifting record in 1880 when he hoisted a 1,200 lb. weight, died today of a heart attack in St. Francis De Sales church, where he was an usher. He had been a merchant policeman here for 48 years.

HUGH C. WILLOUGHBY.
LEXINGTON, Ky., Dec. 11.—(AP)—Hugh C. Willoughby, 53, prominent of Mansfield, Ohio, and later lived in New York city.

Mr. Willoughby was prominent in Episcopal church lay work.

ADAM ANTHONY KRYNSKI.
WARSAW, Poland, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Adam Anthony Krynski, 59, Polish scientist, writer, biologist and professor at the University of Warsaw, died here at the age of 59. He was married several days ago when he slipped and fell while alighting from a trolley car.

CHU CHAO-HSIN.
CANTON, China, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Chu Chao-hsin, 77, former general of foreign affairs in the Canton government and formerly chargé d'affaires of the Chinese legation in London, died suddenly today following a dinner at naval headquarters.

Physicians said that snake poisoning was the cause of death.

The dinner was in honor of Admiral Sir Howard Kelly, command-in-chief of the British naval forces in the far east.

Mr. Chu was once the Chinese ambassador to Italy and also consul-general in San Francisco. He at one time was a student in Columbia University.

He held several important posts in the Chinese government.

In 1923 Mr. Chu appeared before the League of Nations and pleaded for restrictions on the traffic in opium. The following year he repeated this plea lamenting China's failure to re-

Colonel Robins Declares Mind
Is Recovering From Overwork

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Colonel Raymond Robins, economist and author, who was found in the North Carolina mountains November 18 after a 10-week disappearance, said in a statement today that he had "come through a terrible experience" but that he is "being fully restored" at his home in Brookville, Florida.

The statement was issued here by Dr. Fred B. Smith, chairman of the World Alliance for International Friendship and long an associate of Colonel Robins, who visited him at Brookville.

Dr. Smith also gave out a statement over his own name concerning Colonel Robins in which he said that "any hint of there being an overwork or deception concerning his disappearance, or his discovery, is entirely unworthy and unwarranted."

The statement Dr. Smith said Colonel Robins prepared during his visit was as follows:

"I have come through a terrible experience. Here in my home, surrounded by my family and the friends and associates I have loved since I was a boy, I am being fully restored. Those who are wise in matters of this sort assure me that the darkness that overtook me in the midst of my day's work was a provision of nature to save me from a serious collapse."

"Those who meet me in the future therefore will be able to judge of my mental clarity. Those who have known my life in the past will not believe that I have been a quitter."

"For the generous and tender help of my friends and associates."

Colony Robins Declares Mind Is Recovering From Overwork

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Colonel Raymond Robins, economist and author, who was found in the North Carolina mountains November 18 after a 10-week disappearance, said in a statement today that he had "come through a terrible experience" but that he is "being fully restored" at his home in Brookville, Florida.

The statement was issued here by Dr. Fred B. Smith, chairman of the World Alliance for International Friendship and long an associate of Colonel Robins, who visited him at Brookville.

Dr. Smith also gave out a statement over his own name concerning Colonel Robins in which he said that "any hint of there being an overwork or deception concerning his disappearance, or his discovery, is entirely unworthy and unwarranted."

The statement Dr. Smith said Colonel Robins prepared during his visit was as follows:

"I have come through a terrible experience. Here in my home, surrounded by my family and the friends and associates I have loved since I was a boy, I am being fully restored. Those who are wise in matters of this sort assure me that the darkness that overtook me in the midst of my day's work was a provision of nature to save me from a serious collapse."

"Those who meet me in the future therefore will be able to judge of my mental clarity. Those who have known my life in the past will not believe that I have been a quitter."

"For the generous and tender help of my friends and associates."

SUNSPOTS PREDICT CLIMATE CHANGES, SCIENTISTS FIND
AT FIRST BAPTIST

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—(AP)—A time when scientists will be able to glance up at the sunspots and predict climate changes for the benefit of farmers and commercial interests is the forecast at the annual exhibition of the Carnegie Institution of Washington.

An indication of this possibility was seen in evidence that sunspots have been closely correlated with cycles of weather for millions of years, in waxing and waning cycles of between 11 and 12 years in length, exhibited by Dr. A. E. Douglass, of the Carnegie Institution.

Climate cycles, reflected in the thickness of tree growth rings and annual deposits of clay and mud by streams, correspond closely with sunspot cycles far into the past, they showed. Further study of the cycles may make predictions of climate changes possible, Dr. Douglass said, though not day-to-day weather forecasts.

He explained that the drought of 1930 apparently bore out a developing theory that sunspots are closely connected with the weather. Compulsion of growth cycles of trees from California, Sweden and Germany with sunspot cycles shows that rainfall increases when sunspots are at both their maximum and minimum. Presumably, there is less rain between these periods, and the 1930 drought occurred during a sunspot minimum.

The sun's heat falling on earth has varied only within narrow limits for nearly a billion years, ever since life began on earth, Dr. Douglass said. The sun's heat, though not day-to-day, is a factor in the weather.

He said the sun's heat has been stable for so long that it is a factor in the weather. The sun's heat, though not day-to-day, is a factor in the weather.

He said the sun's heat has been stable for so long that it is a factor in the weather. The sun's heat, though not day-to-day, is a factor in the weather.

He said the sun's heat has been stable for so long that it is a factor in the weather. The sun's heat, though not day-to-day, is a factor in the weather.

He said the sun's heat has been stable for so long that it is a factor in the weather. The sun's heat, though not day-to-day, is a factor in the weather.

He said the sun's heat has been stable for so long that it is a factor in the weather. The sun's heat, though not day-to-day, is a factor in the weather.

He said the sun's heat has been stable for so long that it is a factor in the weather. The sun's heat, though not day-to-day, is a factor in the weather.

He said the sun's heat has been stable for so long that it is a factor in the weather. The sun's heat, though not day-to-day, is a factor in the weather.

He said the sun's heat has been stable for so long that it is a factor in the weather. The sun's heat, though not day-to-day, is a factor in the weather.

He said the sun's heat has been stable for so long that it is a factor in the weather. The sun's heat, though not day-to-day, is a factor in the weather.

He said the sun's heat has been stable for so long that it is a factor in the weather. The sun's heat, though not day-to-day, is a factor in the weather.

He said the sun's heat has been stable for so long that it is a factor in the weather. The sun's heat, though not day-to-day, is a factor in the weather.

He said the sun's heat has been stable for so long that it is a factor in the weather. The sun's heat, though not day-to-day, is a factor in the weather.

He said the sun's heat has been stable for so long that it is a factor in the weather. The sun's heat, though not day-to-day, is a factor in the weather.

He said the sun's heat has been stable for so long that it is a factor in the weather. The sun's heat, though not day-to-day, is a factor in the weather.

He said the sun's heat has been stable for so long that it is a factor in the weather. The sun's heat, though not day-to-day, is a factor in the weather.

He said the sun's heat has been stable for so long that it is a factor in the weather. The sun's heat, though not day-to-day, is a factor in the weather.

He said the sun's heat has been stable for so long that it is a factor in the weather. The sun's heat, though not day-to-day, is a factor in the weather.

He said the sun's heat has been stable for so long that it is a factor in the weather. The sun's heat, though not day-to-day, is a factor in the weather.

He said the sun's heat has been stable for so long that it is a factor in the weather. The sun's heat, though not day-to-day, is a factor in the weather.

He said the sun's heat has been stable for so long that it is a factor in the weather. The sun's heat, though not day-to-day, is a factor in the weather.

He said the sun's heat has been stable for so long that it is a factor in the weather. The sun's heat, though not day-to-day, is a factor in the weather.

He said the sun's heat has been stable for so long that it is a factor in the weather. The sun's heat, though not day-to-day, is a factor in the weather.

He said the sun's heat has been stable for so long that it is a factor in the weather. The sun's heat, though not day-to-day, is a factor in the weather.

He said the sun's heat has been stable for so long that it is a factor in the weather. The sun's heat, though not day-to-day, is a factor in the weather.

He said the sun's heat has been stable for so long that it is a factor in the weather. The sun's heat, though not day-to-day, is a factor in the weather.

He said the sun's heat has been stable for so long that it is a factor in the weather. The sun's heat, though not day-to-day, is a factor in the weather.

BRIEF ILLNESS FATAL TO OLIN S. MCCOY, 53

Former Well-Known Cordele
Businessman Moved Here
Two Years Ago.

Olin S. McCoy, 53, former well-known businessman of Cordele, died Sunday at his residence at 1367 Fairview road following an illness of three weeks. He had been in failing health for a year.

A native of Cordele, Mr. McCoy was the owner of the Cordele Steam Laundry there for more than 30 years. He sold the business two years ago and came to Atlanta. Surviving him are his wife, Mrs. McCoy, Mrs. W. W. Smith, a son, Olin T. McCoy, of Atlanta; three sisters, Mrs. J. W. Francis, of Cordele, and Miss Julie Francis, of Cordele, and two brothers, J. M. McCoy, of Dublin, and M. D. McCoy, of Macon.

The body will be taken at 6:35 o'clock this morning to Cordele, where a funeral service will be held at the Methodist church at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. Burial will be in the Cordele cemetery. H. M. Patterson & Son are in charge.

Funeral Notices.
McGraw.—Died, Mrs. Minnesota McGraw, 79 Warren street, N. E., December 11, 1932. She is survived by her daughter, Miss Lilla McGraw, 635 W. Peachtree street, N. W., and Mr. J. E. McGraw, 1000 Peachtree street, N. W. Funeral arrangements will be announced later by H. M. Patterson & Son.

POTTER.—Died, Mr. George Allen Potter, Sunday afternoon at his residence on Marietta road. He is survived by one son, James Garret Allen Potter, five daughters, Mrs. A. M. Alexander, Mrs. J. G. Worley, Mrs. S. M. Williamson, Miss Hattie Potter, Mrs. J. W. Smith, and Miss Lilla Potter. Funeral arrangements will be announced later by Sam Greenberg & Co.

GREEN.—Died, Mrs. Louise Rogers Green, 1337 Durand drive, Dec. 11, 1932. She is survived by her son, W. Paul Green, 1337 Durand drive, N. E.; two sisters, Mrs. William Haygood, of Decatur, and Mrs. J. B. Davis, of San Leandro, Cal.; and one brother, Britton O. Rogers, of Savannah. H. M. Patterson & Son will announce the funeral arrangements.

McCoy.—Died, Mr. Olin S. McCoy, of 1367 Fairview road, Dec. 11, 1932. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. McCoy, 1367 Fairview road, N. E.; a son, Olin T. McCoy, of Atlanta; three sisters, Mrs. J. W. Francis, of Cordele, and Miss Julie Francis, of Cordele, and two brothers, J. M. McCoy, of Dublin, and M. D. McCoy, of Macon. The remains will be taken Monday evening to Savannah, Ga., for services and interment in Laurel Grove cemetery. H. M. Patterson & Son.

McGraw.—Died, Mrs. Minnesota McGraw, 79 Warren street, N. E., Dec. 11, 1932. She is survived by her daughter, Miss Lilla McGraw, 635 W. Peachtree street, N. W., and Mr. J. E. McGraw, 1000 Peachtree street, N. W. Funeral arrangements will be announced later by H. M. Patterson & Son.

POTTER.—Died, Mr. George Allen Potter, Sunday afternoon at his residence on Marietta road. He is survived by one son, James Garret Allen Potter, five daughters, Mrs. A